Lilliana Anderson As with a lot of my books, I came up with it all during conversations with my husband. He really is an integral part of my plotting process. In this more As with a lot of my books, I came up with it all during conversations with my husband.

Where did you get that photo? Have you been advertising my chest everywhere? Okay! well, hi everyone out there. I was there to try and cheer her up, to help her catch up on uni work " anything she needed. I wanted to be around her, I wanted to show her that she was still the same person to me. The attack changed her though, she spent a lot of time being angry, and she directed a lot of it toward her mother. Mrs Mahoney was just trying to be positive. This however, prompted Katrina to think about my behaviour since the accident. I reached over and grabbed the remote, hitting the pause button before I turned my attention towards her. I said I wanted things to be normal. How am I not acting normal? I want to hang out with you. I wanted this conversation over. Go out, have fun, pick up girls. I want normal David " you partying and being a ginormous flirt is normal. I hit pause again. The moment I realised how in love with Katrina I was, was the moment I stopped sleeping around. I would rather spend the rest of my life watching movies with her, than spend a night at a bar, picking up some drunk girl to screw. When I went home that night I spoke to my mum about it, she was the only person in the world who knew how I felt about Katrina. Plenty of people do that you know. Of course, the girl I went home to was my mother. We had started reading a new series together, so I spent a lot of time transported to a realm filled with dragons, elves and other magical creatures. I entered into a bit of a routine, going to visit Trina early in the evening and then heading off to the uni bar later. She seemed to be a lot happier training, and was glad that I was going out again. Half way through our second year of uni, I started to think it would be a good idea to get an entry level job in a law firm to help secure a junior solicitors role when my degree was done. I told Trina of my plan and she decided it would be a good thing for her too. I was lucky, and I got the first job I went for as a filing clerk. I started work straight away and even went out a couple of times with some of the other juniors around my age. When Trina got her first interview, I took her in and showed her where she needed to go. Neither of us had spent much time in the business part of the city before, so it had taken me a while to figure out my way around the streets. I wanted to share my world with her. I still had some work to do and I was in there, finishing up, before heading over to the conference room for drinks. Ella, the receptionist, was a 19 year old girl with a body to die for, she was really nice and I got along with her really well. Obviously though, she took my attentions the wrong way and came to find me. For a while we were talking and then she started to move closer. I realised what was happening and tried to steer the conversation toward more neutral topics. But, when I bent down to put a file on a low shelf, she took the opportunity to kiss me, which of course is when we got busted. The majority of us were aged between eighteen and twenty-five, and that led to quite a lot of gossip spreading around the office. It was like being in high school again, but this time I just laughed it off. They could think what they wanted. They saw her kissing me, so that was all the confirmation they needed. Also on the upside I noticed her perving on a guy from her work, so I knew that her interest in men was returning. Things were looking more positive for me. We went out with a bunch of people from her work to this bar in Darling Harbour called Pontoon. It was there that everything turned to total shit. She started hooking up with this Irish guy on the dance floor, but when he went to kiss her, she took off outside. I fought through the crowd to get to her and when I finally made it outside she was fucking making out with this huge muscled guy from her work. I was like " fuck my life! A few moments later a couple of the others made it out too, and the Irish guy called out to her, shocking her and the guy, Elliot, and causing her to flee. When I caught up to her, she was a wreck. When I got home that night, I was in a foul mood. My mum had been waiting up and was obviously hoping that things had gone well with Katrina and I. So when I told her about what happened, she was really upset for me. I fucking hope so. It seemed as though someone had dobbed them in " secretly, I was elated. So, we started going out, and it was just me and her. We would drink and dance and have a great time. But there was still a slight stand offish-ness whenever I got too close to her. Although, perhaps I was just scared myself and stalling. About a month later, we went out with her friends from work to Pontoon again. I met her at her work and we had a few drinks there to start off with, before walking there together as a group. Only this time, I could tell she was leading him on. I was really pissed off with her, so when she took off outside with him, I started to accept the attentions of another girl she worked with called Beth. We went for a walk and started talking. Beth had this major crush on Elliot, who was actually her boss. She told me that I should watch out for Katrina around him, he had a thing about bedding all the pretty new girls. I think the fact that we were both the people on the outside of what was happening with Elliot and Katrina, it caused us to have some sort of bond. Misery loves company, so they say, and nothing fights off misery like sex. Katrina had moved on. After that night, I started dating Beth, and started fighting with Trina. How could she not feel the same? I went to see Trina and tell her that Elliot had come to see me, and that I was willing to try and fix things between us. I tried to tell her then how I felt, but it all came out wrong. I continued seeing Beth, it was the first time I had actually dated someone and it was alright. We worked because she was angry at Elliot, and I was angry at Katrina. Together, we found comfort for a few weeks. When Trina and Elliot broke up, I did my best to stay away. Although, my resolve was completely shattered the moment I ran into her when I was meeting Beth for lunch. It was the opposite though â€” I cared too much. I cared way more than she knew. I thought we understood each other? I love how she gets everyone and I end up with nobody. She stomped off out the doors without a backward glance. Besides feeling bad for dumping her, I was glad it was over. Neither of us were really that into each other. I decided that night that I was going to go and see Katrina and tell her once and for all how I felt about her, and blow the consequences. All I could think was What the fuck? Of course, Christopher had to get in my face, and I had no reason to be nice to him anymore, so I called him a few choice names and once again, he punched me. She was visibly upset about what had happened and while we were sitting in the emergency room waiting to get some scans done, I told her how I felt. After eleven years of friendship, I told her that I loved her. Miraculously, she loved me too. Finally, I had my girl, and this time â€” it was forever. Where did that song come from? Oh, I added it. I thought it suited you and Katrina. Did you like it? I hope she likes it too! Thanks so much for being on my blog today David, and thank you so much for letting me into your world with Too Close. Thanks for having me.

We publicly state that we have factors when it comes to scanning, indexing and ranking. Generally, the number of algorithms is a casual number. For instance, one algorithm can be used to display a letter on the search results page. Therefore, we believe that counting the exact number of algorithms that Google uses is not something that is really useful [for optimizers]. Since Google Penguin was modified into real-time update and started ignoring spam links instead of imposing sanctions on websites, this has led to a decrease of the value of auditing external links. According to Gary Illyes, auditing of links is not necessary for all websites at the present moment. These companies have different opinions on the reason why they reject links. In case your links are ignored by the "Penguin", there is nothing to worry about. I have it for 4 years already and I do not have a file named Disavow. I do not even know who is referring to me. Thus, in the case when before a website owner was engaged in buying links or using other prohibited methods of link building, then conducting an audit of the reference profile and rejecting unnatural links is necessary in order to avoid future manual sanctions. It is important to remember that rejecting links can lead to a decrease in resource positions in the global search results, since many webmasters often reject links that actually help the website, rather than doing any harm to it. Therefore, referential audits are needed if there were any violations in the history of the resource. They are not necessary for many website owners and it is better to spend this time on improving the website itself, says Slagg. The reason is that the crawler already scans the content that fast, so the benefits that the browser receives web pages loading time is decreased are not that important. We are still investigating what we can do about it. We can cache data and make requests in a different way than a regular browser. But with more websites implementing push notification feature, Googlebot developers are on the point of adding support for HTTP in future. Therefore, if you have a change, it is recommended to move to this protocol. The question to Mueller was the following: Do you check each and every report manually? No, we do not check all spam reports manually. Most of the other reports that come to us is just information that we collect and can use to improve our algorithms in the future. At the same time, he noted that small reports about violations of one page scale are less prioritized for Google. But when this information can be applied to a number of pages, these reports become more valuable and are prior to be checked. As for the report processing time, it takes some considerable time. As Mueller explained, taking measures may take "some time", but not a day or two. It should be recalled that in , Google received about 35 thousand messages about spam from users every month. You need to verify ownership of the company page in My Business to access the tool. The data and photos placed on it will be used to create the website. The website appearance can be configured, and its contents supplemented. In addition, it will be optimized for cross-platform devices. Having created a website you can publish it immediately or do that later. A window that offers you to create a website appears after the confirmation of the company page. This function is also available in the "Website" menu. For more information about this feature see the Help Center. With the help of a new tool they will be able to create them. Soon it will be available to track and archive files inside any folder the user specifies. This can also be the contents of the entire hard disk or the Documents folder. It is assumed that users will have the opportunity to open and edit files located in the cloud. It is still not clear whether they will be able to synchronize information between multiple PCs using Disk as an intermediary. Since the auto update to Backup and Sync is not planned, the company recommends installing a new application immediately after being released. The new feature is primarily targeted at corporate Google Drive users. This time, the changes are even smaller than in the previous version of the document, which was published in May The latest innovations will mainly be interested to SEO specialists who work with non-English pages. For instance, the pseudoscientific and fake content details have been clarified, comments displaying pornographic ads on websites that do not contain adult content have been removed, new examples of pages with the lowest quality have been introduced, as well as a completely new section on the display of results in English for non-English-speaking locales. There are changes that are purely of a natural style: The section on using the Foreign Language label for pages in a foreign language like Ukrainian and Russian is replaced with an example of Catalan and Spanish. A complete guide for assessors Google is a pages book. It should be recalled that the Google assessors guide has already been updated in March and May this year. The main changes aimed at combating dubious content in search results took place this March. The largest May updates affected the assessment of the quality of news websites, in particular the use of the "Upsetting-Offensive" label that was introduced in March. This was told by the search representative, John Mueller during the last video meeting with webmasters. One of the participants asked Mueller at the meeting: The only problematic situation that may occur is when all these pages point to the main page as canonical. But if the website contains a large number of pages with the same content URLs with different parameters, etc. In the near future, the ranking will take into account the speed of mobile pages and not desktop. As you know, at the moment Google measures only the loading speed of the desktop pages. These data are used both in desktop ranking and mobile. However, mobile speed is more important for Google. Therefore, it was decided to make changes to the search algorithm. This approach is already under consideration. Illyes also stressed upon the fact that Google will actively inform webmasters about any changes before launching the mobile-first index. So not to make a surprise for specialists. Earlier it was reported that Google has not been planning to take into account the downloading speed for mobile pages in the ranking. For example, the second "video" published by BuzzFeed has received more than 1. Other examples also include short videos that last only a few seconds. The Facebook representative in the AdAge commentary says that the social network does not prioritize the video before other types of publications in the news line. But if the user usually interacts with the video, he will often see posts of this format in his tape:

Chapter 3 : Lilliana Anderson | LibraryThing

A Beautiful Struggle is a well written novel about a young woman's struggle to falling in love after an abusive relationship and allowing herself to love again. The characters were well written and emotional. and the sex scenes were amazingly hot.

Ok this book was super cheesy!!! At first I really wanted Katrina to be with David! Blah blah he went out with Beth pretty much to spite her and ignored her when she needed him because he was in love with her? The inta-love between Katrine and Elliot was really corny, but they definitely had a super hot connection and I really liked Elliot as a character, he was funny, and genuine, and seemed very sweet i. Going to talk to David because he wanted Katrina to have her best friend back, introducing Katrina to all his friends at the clubs, and I liked the super short scene where he confronted Beth in his office I was rooting for him!! So I definitely felt a little angry that Lilliana Anderson tried to ruin his character at the end! After the ending, I am certainly not compelled to read any more books in this series. Katrina, or Trina, just got out of a long and nasty relationship. The connection between them is almost instant. Their both attracted to each other, but with the company policy in the way, they have to keep their relationship a secret. Which sucks, but the consequences would be one or both of them losing their job. How dense can you get? I just want to know The rest of this review will contain spoilers. I know everyone was disappointed when Elliot got out of the picture, but to be honest, Elliot made me feel uncomfortable. All they ever did was have sex after the first week. They also never went out on dates. He made dinner for her at his house They had takeout at his house And then he took her to a bar which they had sex there, before, and after. Also, you could tell right from the beginning that David was perfect for Trina. Who needs Elliot the sex craved brat, when you could have David the romantic? I loved it but I also hated trying to get my mind past the crappy dialogue. And I believe they still are, but they were portrayed as children behaving as adults. Katrina is living with her parents for crying out loud! And David, who is also a major character, is also living with his parents, and they feel like they have to report to them every day! Another sore point for me was the fact that Katrina seemed highly upset about work gossip with her co workers talking about her work relationship ,who were also acting as if they were in grade school with their catty remarks. But I do have to concede that they may do things differently down under then they do here in the states. One major hurtle overcome. Overall, A Beautiful Struggle is a good one to pass the time with on a rainy Sunday. It is always interesting me to see cultural differences, that I may not always be able to experience personally. Always loved David, even though I thought he was an idiot. No dude puts that much effort into a girl who is not his sister without giving himself away. I was pro Elliot but there was the friendship missing - physical rocks your world but tends to fade when not standing on the foundation of something solid. It is like putting a roof on a house where the walls are not finished and able to support it. Besides if someone can into your head and turn it on it makes the physical 20 times better.
