A Hug to Make You Smile is the book to give when you want to tell a friend how much you appreciate her, when you'd like to encourage your sister to keep pressing on, when the time is perfect to thank a co-worker for a job well done.

Menu Welcome to Hug-a-Smile Two unique moments in life marked by love are a wedding and the birth of a child. These events are announced with great joy. A wedding or a birth announcement card is sent inviting the world to celebrate along. After they served their initial purpose most cards unfortunately end up forgotten, in a box or drawer. The wedding announcement card becomes an adorable little house; the birth announcement card a cute little shoe. The gallery displays some examples of what you can expect. Have one made of your family holiday card. I am so excited to give it to her next week. I wanted to tell you that you do amazing work and that you are beyond talented! These are the best gifts we have received and your work is remarkable! Thank you for giving us a gift we will cherish forever. Thank you so much! I have the ornament in my hands. It looks really great, thank you. I will be sending our announcement to you shortly â€” I am having the baby next week. Many thanks, as always. I did receive the package. My sister in law, gave me one during the holidays and I loved it so much I wanted to pass it along. So she gave me your contact info. I will definitely have more for you in the future to make.

Share There are many people who want attention from my children. My kids are cute and say adorable things. If you earn their adoration, your heart will soar with joy. But they might not give you any of those things. If I feel safe, I will smile at you, chat with you, and laugh with you. If I care about you or love you, I will hug you and show my children how wonderful you are. And maybe they will open up. And, just as my interactions were my choices, that is up to them. Maybe your longing to interact with my children will drive you to demand, pushing some expectation of respect for elders upon my children. This is when I will step in. But not to help you, no. We will move on to another part of the store, or house, or wherever we happen to be. I know you just want to love them. It is a loss, I know it. Sometimes, even I lose. You just want to love them. I get it, I really do. How could love be harmful or dangerous?? Every time we force or physically manipulate their bodies to do something anything , we are making a statement about bodily autonomy and consent. Before they have a voice, I will be that voice so they know what it sounds like, how to listen to it, and how to proclaim it. I will confirm that their feelings and intuition are valid, before they even know what that means. This is the important work. More important than social niceties telling them that what others want or need takes priority. Yes, I must also raise kind, caring, and socially respectful people. Raising my children to understand consent is an integral part of that. So please, beam your smile upon my children and show them that the world is full of love and they are welcomed into it. But know, that children deserve the same respect and space we adults give each other. Know that they are at the beginning of a long and deep journey to understand and protect their inner voice. And know that only when you help me protect that voice, together, as a village, can we raise a stronger, kinder, and more respectful generation. As a faculty member of the Northern Virginia Montessori Institute, she educates future teachers in the language development of young children. Getting into a relationship, romantic or otherwise, is easy; the task of maintaining one is tough as it requires constant work and dedication from both sides. We try to express our feelings for the other person through words and gestures. Although some people may find it difficult to do so, there are always other means to show affection. Through our hugs and kisses, we make ourselves vulnerable, and in return, ask the other person to do the same. And to sum up these emotions as accurately as we can, through words, we have compiled a list of 30 wonderful quotes about hugging and kissing. Oftentimes, we hug an individual for a few seconds, or give a sweet, inviting kiss that conveys our deepest, most loving sentiments. These are the two emotions that when expressed, can conquer hearts every time. You may not want to hug - which is all the more reason to do so. Seven Steps to Self-Fulfillment "I have learned that there is more power in a good strong hug than in a thousand meaningful words. Where everyone hugs instead of tugs, Where everyone giggles and rolls on the rug, Where everyone kisses, and everyone grins, and everyone cuddles, and everyone wins. Heaven knows they need it. It makes their day, you know? I love that, and I get positive energy from that. It seems that life gets harder on a personal level each and every day. Hug and kiss those you love every day.
