Chapter 1 : Gerina Dunwich, A Witch's Guide to Ghosts & the Supernatural

Go into the secret world of both witch and non-witches for protections of darkly creatures of the mists. Gerina Dunwich has done her homework and brought us an easy to read, fascinating book in Ghosts and the Supernatural.

Mega Coven Power According to Bobby Singer , the power of a witch is not only dependent on the source of their magic, but also on their knowledge and training in witchcraft. For example, although witches who obtain their power from demons Borrowers are generally more powerful than witches who obtain their power from study Students , if a witch does not have much experience in witchcraft, they can be easily subdued. This was proven after Sam Winchester easily frightened and intimidated a coven of Satanic witches , who did not have much training in witchcraft and seemed powerless against him. Whereas, years later, the Winchesters met a Student witch named Spencer Wallis , who, because of having years of training, was well-versed in some of the most powerful spells the Winchesters have ever heard of. Furthermore, while some witches, such as Wiccans, have been known to provide laws for themselves and have strict convictions as to how magic should be used, most witches have been shown to have free will over their power, and have demonstrated extraordinary feats without necessarily having to draw from demons. One prominent example of this being Rowena , who was able to control higher beings, cast many dangerously powerful spells, and even resurrect herself. Spell Casting - The act of changing and controlling events through the use of incantations and more. Witches can use some powers via spells such as: Telekinesis - The act of moving and manipulating objects and persons through mental influence. Hexing and Cursing - Witches have the ability to hex and curse other mortals. Conjunction - The act of creating various objects, such as maggots, blood, needles, razors, or even hearts, through a hex. Pyrokinesis - The power to control and manipulate the element of fire. Electrokinetics - Don Stark , a powerful witch, was able to stun a Leviathan. Longevity - The power to live hundreds, possibly thousands of years while maintaining a youthful, even beautiful appearance. Teleportation limited - The act of disappearing from one location and instantly reappearing in another location through supernatural means. Witches can gain the power to teleport if they are powerful enough. Mind Control - The power to control and manipulate the behavior and thoughts of another living creature. Astral projection - The power to project the astral body from outside of the physical body in order to travel from one location to another. Power Granting - Rowena was able to grant Oskar immortality ; Katja was able to grant Hansel immortality as well. Molecular Combustion - Through a spell , Rowena was able to cause three witches to combust into blood and ash. Invulnerability - Powerful witches have displayed invulnerability to normal forms of harm, with one scoffing at the idea of a bullet being used against her. Scrying - Using crystals, mirrors, or prisms, witches are able to find whoever they want, although the spell is easier to perform if the witch knows the appearance of, or possesses an object belonging to, the person they seek. Resurrection - Rowena resurrected herself with a spell. Portal Creation - Using a ritual from the Demon Tablet , one witch displayed the ability to open a rift to another reality. Tools Athames - A ceremonial dagger with a double-edged blade that is commonly used to direct energy. Black Grimoire - Spellbook full of powerful druidic magic. Book of Shadows - A tome that is used for witchcraft and related dark arts. Book of the Damned - Powerful spellbook that can allow the user to create or undo any damnation in existence amongst other things. Candles - Block of solid wax with embedded wicks used for spells and rituals. Cauldrons - Large metal pots that are commonly used to hold the ingredients for elixirs and potions. Crystals, prisms or mirrors - They are necessary to perform scrying spells. Herbs - Earthly plants that are commonly used as ingredients for brewing and concocting paranormal potions. Stones - Small stones that are occasionally used as ingredients for brewing and concocting paranormal potions. Weaknesses Iron - A hard and strong magnetic metal that is able to repress the supernatural power of a witch. Magic - While most witches have been known to cast protection spells upon themselves, some witches are still susceptible to potions and spells. Witch-killing Bullets - Bullet version of the witch-killing spell invented by Sam Winchester. Kills any witch shot with the bullets, even ones normally invulnerable to bullets. Reversible through a ritual detailed in the Black Grimoire. Mortality - Based off the fact that witches are still human, they share many of the same weaknesses as non-supernatural beings e. However, it is known that especially powerful witches can overcome these weaknesses.
