Word Family Unit (-am Words) Below you'll find a collection of teaching resources for teaching early readers about the -am family of words. Students can practice reading the words ram, jam, ham, Sam, swam, slam, and clam.

The time has come! I took all of our You Can Read printables and adapted them to focus on one word family at a time. I even added lots of new printables. I selected 4 words from each word family to keep it simple for younger kids who are ready for this. I have not created all of the sets I plan to create, but have several done and am working quickly on them! Since I am using one set per week with Ladybug, I have to work fast! I plan to release freebies from each unit on my blog and share some ideas for using the printables. Sometimes you may also find entire sets complete free here within blog posts! How we are Using These! We are not using all of the printables each week, there are lots of choices so that you can choose what will work best for your child. I used almost all of the printables the first week to see what she enjoyed the most. Honestly, she knows CVC words already and can sound out most words, we are just adding in word family fun to get more fun learning in. If I had finished these, I would have started earlier than this with her. These photos also show the order we used the printables, she helped me choose what to do each day. On the front, I put the poster. I use this first to introduce the words to her. Inside I used heavyweight sheet protectors so she can easily flip through the pages and choose. See our post sharing these here! We have even used colored stickers to put on the words before! The words are written in different fonts to give exposure to all sorts of writing. Roll the cube and mark the word you roll. The pictures are wild rolls, you can choose any word to mark when you roll a picture! See more ideas for using roll and graph here! Use play dough to make the words. This is great for fine motor skills, and also a time to really talk about the formation of the letters and sounds they make as you form them together.

I have three kids, all girls. I purchased this product for my 5yr, now in Kindergarten. She tested into the high ability class in our district. With this product I wished to give a more entertaining way to see words and sound them out. We have Reading Eggs and Brainzy, but this product she responds the most to. She loves the activities! And what I love most is, in doing these activities she realizes her abilities and has gained so much confidence with reading. She still becomes frustrated some times, but no longer gives up!!!! I also love the writing portion, with the fast pace of this class penmanship is not a real focus, so we do extra writing at home. Something she now enjoys! Thank you Crafty Classroom. Rated 5 out of 5 Heather â€” October 31, I am a teacher turned stay at home mom and with 3 kids under 5 it is challenging to keep up with household chores, cooking, and school things. I have been using the alphabet curriculum with my 3 year old and this with my oldest who has mastered the letters and sounds. She has really enjoyed it and feels so proud of herself that she can read! This has helped her to be motivated and she asks to do it! I like the graphics and that it is print ready, so easy to set up and get started. It covers many standards that are required by our state. I am soooo pumped about the interactive notebook!!!! I would love to see a math curriculum with the interactive notebook. As a teacher I know the time that was spent putting this together so I am truly grateful! If you have multiple kids, I would recommend getting the bundle that includes the alphabet curriculum. It is easy to set up and will allow you one on one time with each of your kids all while helping them be school ready! Rated 5 out of 5 Melissa V. Rated 5 out of 5 kc verified owner â€” November 24, My son was diagnosed with dyslexia earlier this year. I have been looking for something to help supplement what we already have. I have been able to pinpoint some things that he struggles with and this curriculum definitely helps address some of those challenges. Repetition is extremely important, especially in different ways. It helps my son get extra exposure to things like phonograms and word blends without seeming like overkill. Rated 5 out of 5 Merlyka â€” December 29, I am impressed with the amount that the curriculum covers. I have purchased your products before and this too looks amazing to teach my kids with. Keep up the fab work you do and share with all us moms! My little reader loves the words that rhyme!
