Our Sunday Eucharist is at 9. Drinks and nibbles will be served. You can download a copy of our Annual Report here. This hidden and remote North Norfolk gem nestles in the fields near the site of a lost mediaeval village. Thanks to money raised by National Lottery players, the support through the Heritage Lottery Fund aims to make the roof and porch watertight, combat damp, repair walls and do other essential work to preserve the 11th century gem for future generations. This work is much needed. It has no electricity or water and that is how it will stay. As part of the project, research into the history of the church and the nearby lost village of Waterden will also be carried out. The village disappeared in the late Middle Ages but it is unclear why. New literature will be prepared to inform the public about the Grade II listed building and the village. The project will also ensure that the beautiful church becomes better known and is made more accessible to visitors and worshippers. They will be helped by a small new car park set well away from the church on land leased from the Holkham Estate, an orientation board in the car park, and new road signs. The programme of community involvement with this much-loved place will be stepped up. In addition to raising funds for the maintenance of the church, the Friends hold events to stimulate interest in it and to share its beauty and spirituality. All Saints has a venerable history. It is mentioned in the Domesday Book of and is a jumble of architectural styles from Norman to early English and Tudor. A storm in the early 17th century caused part of the nave to collapse but the church kept going and now holds eight services a year including a popular candlelit Carol Service on Christmas Eve for the local community. The church is remote even by the standards of North Norfolk and its peaceful charm has attracted some well-known people. The playwright Alan Bennett has written about it in his diaries and the cartoonist Osbert Lancaster drew a delightful line drawing of the church. I am delighted that we have received this support for our 1,year-old church thanks to the National Lottery players and I hope it will help to secure its future for another 1, years. Thank you to the National Lottery players who have made it possible. Martin Sewell Archbishop Cranmer Iwerne:

Chapter 4 : Western Ladies Series by Linda Howard

I loved Angel Creek, but I wasn't very fond of Lady of the West. What kept this from being a four or five star read was the fact that in Lady of the West, the main hero hits the heroine and accuses her of trying to pass her first husband's baby as his, when it really was his.
