Chapter 2 : DIARY: "You Are As Beautiful As A Butterfly"

The butterfly's attractiveness derives not only from colors and symmetry: deeper motives contribute to it. We would not think them so beautiful if they did not fly, or if they flew straight and briskly like bees, or if they stung, or above all if they did not enact the perturbing mystery of metamorphosis: the latter assumes in our eyes the.

As A Butterfly Me: I have come on the wings of the wind to meet with you, My heart is aching, longing, desiring. My very being yearns to commune. O, how I have missed you. You are no longer held captive in a cocoon, no longer hidden. It is time to fly with freedom under the protection of My mighty wings as you rise to see My face, as it flows with goodness and glory. Love is awakened, My beloved, swinging wide the doors of opportunity, favour, mercy, glory, and honour. I embrace this day with a great expectation. The expectation to become all I was created to be. The very nature of who You made me is awakening like the rising of the dawn. I have a strong feeling that something massive is about to happen. Your expectations will not be cut short. I am returning hundredfold everything that was stolen while you slept. I will do for you far more abundantly beyond all that you ask or imagine according to your inner power. In My eyes, you are as graceful, colourful, butterflies drinking pollen from the beautiful flowers of My creation. Fluttering, floating without care, causing amazement as you move from place to place with elegance and grace. You are full of beauty and strength. Is it me you that is full of strength? No, I fell into the temptation. I got carried away by the sugar-coated offerings of the enemy, and I let down my guards. Lord, I am not that strong. It is not dependent on your desire or effort, but on My mercy. I have removed shame from the deep places of your heart. The things you thought and used as excuses, allowing them to bind you in a cocoon of sleep, I have removed. No one loves me like this. You are as beautiful as a butterfly. I always loved you. I have been jealous for you, My beloved. The things you do can neither increase nor decrease My love for you. I have taken the crooked staff the enemy used to reach out and wrap around your neck, pulling you back into the places of darkness, and turned it into a sword of the Spirit. As you remain faithful to Me, I deny him any power over you. My grace is sufficient, and My love gives you freedom to lift your graceful, yet powerful, wings, so you can soar above all that was. All those who discounted you will see you in a new light as I expose you into My promises and the redemption of your calling. Those who cursed you will rise and call you blessed, considering it a privilege to know you. Keep my heart ever close to You. As you rise and fly in the current of My mighty wings, you will have sight into My realm of goodness and glory. Your perception into things will be Mine. I have called you to collect pollen and take it from place to place. The deposits you share will make it possible for gardens to bloom in the lives of others. Without pollen, without the deposits of My sweet presence, many would stay in their bound up cocoons way past the necessary time. The right amount of time produces one like you, while excessive time destroys hope. As you dispense the sweet pollen of My nectar into the lives of others, low self-esteem and self-pity will be exposed and removed, and I will remove the reproach of men upon their lives. What I do, no one can contend with. I remove and break away all words and judgments of men and even family. In the process, I bring a work of humbleness to their lives, thereby, freeing them at the same time. In the long run, what I do through you becomes their freedom. Drink continually in your communion with Me that you may come in and go out of My presence with the necessary pollen to produce in like kind. Your presence is where I always want to be! I love you, My beautiful butterfly. Lord, I agree with You that I am as beautiful as a butterfly! I stretch out my wings. I surrender all my heartbreaks, pain, my excuses and my limitations. I lay aside every barrier and I go beyond the horizons. I receive restoration of everything that was stolen from me. Let me feel the movement of Your mighty wind beneath my wings as I fly into my purpose and destiny. What does freedom mean to you? What needs to be cut out from your life, so you can fly?

Chapter 3 : You're As Beautiful As Quotes, Quotations & Sayings

"Beautiful As A Butterfly," 40 page hardcover, colorful, educational, motivational, character building, and hilarious African-American children's book for second to fifth graders and children with some disabilities.

Seeing butterflies out in nature is always lovely. Butterflies have such a magical presence and quality as they gently dance on the air from flower to flower. This, plus their journey through life is so reflective of the spiritual path, that when seen many people wonder: Are they messengers from the realms of spirit? The Metaphor of the Butterfly The cycle of the butterfly in and of itself holds spiritual teaching and insight for us. It then retreats within the pupa or chrysalis where it undergoes a transformation, and finally when it leaves the chrysalis it is reborn as a beautiful winged butterfly. The magnificent life of the butterfly closely mirrors the process of spiritual transformation as we each have the possibility to be reborn through going within. They typically only live for a few weeks or months at the longest, which in and of itself offers more guidance for us. Guidance that life is short. Even for humanity time moves quickly, and so the butterfly with its magnificent and yet short life, reminds us to enjoy the here and now. I also like to think that the transformation of the butterfly, as well as each of our own spiritual transformations continue onward after death. With death we retreat from the physical world, but once again we are reborn into another dimension where we get our wings, and remember our full light and how to fly. If so, the butterfly may be appearing as a power animal for you. As power animals butterflies are magical and cherished. They represent spiritual rebirth, transformation, creativity, endless potential, vibrant joy, change, ascension, and an ability to experience the wonder of life. What could you do to live with more joy and freedom? What could you do that would light up your soul and invoke a sense of joy and wonder? Transformation is a normal part of life, trust in the process, and rest well knowing that the gentle medicine of butterfly is helping to guide you through. Butterflies are a reminder of the Divine presence and magic in all of life, and a call to embrace and tune into it! Quite often angels and fairies use butterflies to remind us of their presence, and to send signals and validations to guide us through life. Butterflies have a way of capturing attention, and so the angels leverage these winged messengers of the physical realm to help get their messages from spirit through. And so! When you see a butterfly, pay attention! Sponsored Links Signs From Deceased Loved Ones One of the most common questions I get about butterflies comes from those who have recently lost loved ones. Yes, butterflies are an incredibly common sign from deceased loved ones! Seeing butterflies shortly after losing a loved is a beautiful sign that the spirit of your loved one lives on. Have you had a butterfly land on you, follow you, or catch your attention in another beyond the ordinary way? These are all signs from beyond the physical! In the case of seeing butterflies in connection to deceased loved ones, sometimes angels will send butterflies to comfort and reassure you that the soul of your loved one lives on. Other times your loved one may put some of their soul essence into a butterfly to actually connect with your physically once again. So there you have it. Really, looking at butterflies from a number of angles, the answer appears. These magical winged messengers really are delivering guidance and love from spirit. So next time you see a butterfly, in addition to marveling at its lightness and ability to float through the sky! Take a moment to quiet your mind, pay attention, and with your intuition, tune in. The butterfly counts not months but moments, and has time enough. Butterflies are self propelled flowers. And now from having ridden out desire They lie closed over in the wind and cling Where wheels have freshly sliced the April mire. He put his net on a bench where a boy sat reading a book. And everyone deserves a little sunshine. I know not with whom the rose was in love, But I know that I loved them all. It goes where it pleases and it pleases wherever it goes. Indeed I know not if you sleep or feed. The butterflies are free. We would not think them so beautiful if they did not fly, or if they flew straight and briskly like bees, or if they stung, or above all if they did not enact the perturbing mystery of metamorphosis: To see these light, foolish, delicate, mobile little souls flitting aboutâ€”that moveth Zarathustra to tears and to song. A Book for All and None, translated from the German by Alexander Tille, The green grass and the happy skies court the fluttering butterflies. A maxim as pernicious as it is ugly. Whoever observes himself arrests his own development. A caterpillar who wanted to know itself well would never become a butterfly. The gaudy butterfly is sure that the flowers owe thanks to him. It got on at 42nd, and off at 59th, where, I assume it was going to Bloomingdales to buy a hat that will turn out to be a mistake - as almost all hats are. But with humans it is the other way around: Have you a dream for going. I envy you, drunk with flowers, Butterflies swirling in your dreams. He seems to say the reason why so much Should come to nothing must be fairly faced. We adults, on the other hand, have outgrown them and have to lower ourselves to stoop down to them. It seems to me that the grass hates us when we confess our love for it. Whoever would partake of all good things must understand how to be small at times. Let me be dressed fine as I will, Flies, worms, and flowers exceed me still. Very few people can endure much leisure. He missed short putts because of the uproar of butterflies in the adjoining meadows. Wodehouse Grown-ups love figures. When you tell them that you have made a new friend, they never ask you any questions about essential matters. They never say to you, "What does his voice sound like? What games does he love best? Does he collect butterflies? How many brothers has he? How much does he weigh? How much money does his father make? How else, indeed, to clap the net over the butterfly of the moment? For the moment passes, it is forgotten; the mood is gone; life itself is gone. That is where the writer scores over his fellows: Last modified Sep 28 Wed

Here 10 most unusual and beautiful butterflies around the world. 10 Blue Morpho Blue morpho butterfly is one of the largest butterflies in the world with wingspan inches.

Butterfly Gardens What is a Butterfly? Butterflies are beautiful, flying insects with large scaly wings. Like all insects, they have six jointed legs, 3 body parts, a pair of antennae, compound eyes, and an exoskeleton. The three body parts are the head, thorax the chest, and abdomen the tail end. The four wings and the six legs of the butterfly are attached to the thorax. The thorax contains the muscles that make the legs and wings move. Butterflies are very good fliers. They have two pairs of large wings covered with colorful, iridescent scales in overlapping rows. Lepidoptera butterflies and moths are the only insects that have scaly wings. Veins support the delicate wings and nourish them with blood. Butterflies can only fly if their body temperature is above 86 degrees. Butterflies sun themselves to warm up in cool weather. As butterflies age, the color of the wings fades and the wings become ragged. The speed varies among butterfly species the poisonous varieties are slower than non-poisonous varieties. The fastest butterflies some skippers can fly at about 30 mile per hour or faster. Slow flying butterflies fly about 5 mph. Egg - A butterfly starts its life as an egg, often laid on a leaf. Larva - The larva caterpillar hatches from an egg and eats leaves or flowers almost constantly. The caterpillar molts loses its old skin many times as it grows. The caterpillar will increase up to several thousand times in size before pupating. Pupa - It turns into a pupa chrysalis; this is a resting stage. Adult - A beautiful, flying adult emerges. This adult will continue the cycle. DIET Caterpillars spend most of their time eating leaves using strong mandibles jaws. A few caterpillars are meat-eaters; the larva of the carnivorous Harvester butterfly eats woolly aphids. Butterflies and moths can only sip liquid food using a tube-like proboscis, which is a long, flexible "tongue. Most butterflies live on nectar from flowers. Some butterflies sip the liquid from rotting fruits and a rare few prefer rotting animal flesh or animal fluids the Harvester butterfly pierces the bodies of woolly aphids with its sharp proboscis and drinks the body fluids. Most butterfly species, however, are found in tropical areas, especially tropical rainforests. Many butterflies migrate in order to avoid adverse environmental conditions like cold weather. Butterfly migration is not well understood. Most migrate relatively short distances like the Painted Lady, the Red Admiral, and the Common Buckeye, but a few like some Monarchs migrate thousands of miles. Lepidos is Greek for "scales" and ptera means "wing". These scaled wings are different from the wings of any other insects. Lepidoptera is a very large group; there are more types of butterflies and moths than there are of any other type of insects except beetles. It is estimated that there are about, different species of butterflies and moths there may be many more. There are about 28, butterfly species worldwide, the rest are moths. The earliest butterfly fossils are from the early Cretaceous period, about million years ago. Their development is closely linked to the evolution of flowering plants angiosperms since both adult butterflies and caterpillars feed on flowering plants, and the adults are important pollinators of many flowering plants. Flowering plants also evolved during the Cretaceous period.
