

Chapter 1 : Daniel's Dinosaurs: A True Story of Discovery - Charles Helm - Google Books

Daniel lives and breathes dinosaurs, and sees them everywhere - at the supermarket, directing traffic, his teacher. That is, until the day his mother takes him to the aquarium, where he looks at the sharks .for a very long time!

But even Solomon, with all of the glory and greatness God granted him, was prone to sinning greatly in some areas of his life - his weakness for women chief among them, because he allowed his many foreign wives and concubines to erect worship shrines for their false gods right there in the land of Israel, and near Jerusalem itself. But Daniel was just about the total package in terms of human ability, worth, loyalty to God, and holiness. He was acknowledged even by his enemies and the kings of foreign lands as a man of exceedingly special managerial skills, talents, intellect, wisdom, and holiness. He sank from being young royalty in Israel in the beginning of his life to being almost the lowest and most abject thing you could be - a castrated slave. But from there, by the abilities and aid that God gave him, and the very good spirit he possessed, he rose to become a man of the highest distinction and importance among both the Babylonians, and decades later, among the Medes and Persians who conquered the Babylonians. And God certainly did do just that. Nearly the whole nation of Israel was either killed or taken to Babylon as captives. And Daniel was used as a chief instrument by God several times in getting this point across. He was assessed, as were three of his friends, as being Israelites of noteworthy potential. But though Daniel is one of the most interesting books of the Bible, I suggest to everyone that they read it from the Catholic Bible at least once. And they are pretty interesting sections. After all, where else can you read about a famous Bible prophet killing a possible dinosaur, for instance? King Astyages was gathered to his fathers, and then Cyrus of Persia received his kingdom. Daniel conversed with this king, and was honoured above all his friends. The Babylonians had an idol, called Bel, and there were spent upon him every day twelve great measures of fine flour, and forty sheep, and six vessels of wine. The king worshipped it and went daily to adore it: The king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel. Tomorrow when you comest in, if you find that Bel has not eaten it all, then we will submit to death. Otherwise let that be the fate of Daniel, that spoke falsely against us. So when they left, the king set meats before Bel. Meanwhile, Daniel had commanded his servants to bring ashes, and those they scattered in a thin layer throughout all the temple in the presence of the king alone: During the night the priests with their wives and children entered like they always did, and ate and drink the food offerings. Early in the morning the king arose, and Daniel met with him. And the king said, "Daniel, are the seals still intact? And Daniel said "Take a look at the floor, and see all the footsteps there. And so he gathered the priests with their wives and children, and made them show him the secret doors they entered through to get to the food on the table. So, the king had them slain. And then he let Daniel do whatever he wished to the idol of Bel, and the temple it sat inside of. So, Daniel had both destroyed. In that same place there was a great dragon, which the people of Babylon worshipped. The king said to Daniel, "Will you say that this is made of brass also? He lives, he eats, and drinks. You have to admit that he is a god that is alive, so then, worship him. But give me permission, O king, and I shall slay this dragon without sword or staff. Then, the dragon burst open. Then Daniel said, "See, these are the gods you worship. So, this is basically how it goes, and you can read it for yourself if you wish in the Catholic Bible, some Orthodox Bibles, and certain others. And some faiths assessed it to be canonical. Perhaps He suggested this method to Daniel.

Daniel and the Dinosaur. There are few people in the Bible portrayed as being so wise as the Jewish man named Daniel. Solomon, from around years earlier, was wiser, it is true - Solomon was said to be wiser than any who ever came before him, and any who would come after him, though Jesus acknowledged that He had greater wisdom than Solomon.
