Michael Bloomberg's Deadly Multiculturalism By John Press Michael Bloomberg, the Mayor of New York City who backs the Ground Zero mosque, is a perfect multiculturalist.

March 12, NewsWithViews. This week in Oklahoma, a Native American Indian killed five blacks. Two years ago, an Arab-American named Major Nadal Hasan shot up 43 black and white people, killing Three years ago, a Korean immigrant shot up Virginia Tech College. Hassan beheaded his wife because she asked for a divorce because of his beatings of her. Look for countless more multicultural violence to come. Her husband, Muzzammil Hassan, 44, has reportedly been charged with second-degree murder. Such immigrants say their traditions trump the U. Balkanization of the United States has begun. The common thread there is multiculturalism, the notion that entire populations of different cultures can coexist in reasonable harmony together under a common sovereignty. There is no place in modern Europe for ethnically pure states. In seven particular boroughs in London one in four children are leaving functionally illiterate. We have to intervene at an earlier stage, and I think the mayor can help. The subject was the shootings at a school in Toulouse, France, the previous day. In the middle of a long and heated presidential campaign, with President Nicolas Sarkozy trying to win back disaffected supporters who have drifted to the far-right National Front party, the shootings at Toulouse have raised new questions about the tone and tenor of the debate here about what it is to be French. The problem grows that multiculturalism kills countless people in its path. Historians of the future will amuse themselves by coming up with theories to explain why European civilization, at the height of its powers, rich with unparalleled achievements in science, music, art, literature, mathematics, and technology, gave up its lands and its treasures to people for whom those achievements were mere hated tokens of oppression or the impious and superfluous productions of infidels. ORG , graphically illustrates the impact of overpopulation. Take five minutes to see for yourself: Adjust tuning in to your time zone. His published books include:

Chapter 2 : Frosty Wooldridge -- Multiculturalism: One American Woman's Story

The term multiculturalism has a range of meanings within the contexts of sociology, of political philosophy, and of colloquial use. In sociology and in everyday usage, it is a synonym for "ethnic pluralism", with the two terms often used interchangeably, for example, a cultural pluralism in which various ethnic groups collaborate and enter into a dialogue with one another without having to.

Why did he think it would work? Where does it find fertile ground to flourish? What might be its end result? Who supports it in the face of devastating failures worldwide? Somehow, while he watched racial conflict from his academic chair, he theorized, against historical evidence, that human beings from incompatible cultures, might blend into a peaceful bouquet of humanity with neighboring cultures. At the same time, he failed to incorporate the fact that advanced cultures accepted individuals from stone-age cultures, but never the other way around. Somalians in Africa, hunter-gatherers living in thatched huts without toilets or running water, may migrate into America, Canada or the United Kingdom, but Western citizens abhor moving from their cultures to Somalia. Note that every culture on Earth challenges an established culture for dominance. He hates the most the idea of the superior race. If he succeeds in living in a society with superior people for long enough, he wins, he makes it, and he dominates. Once a community ingests 5, 10 or 20 different cultures, it cannot function as a community. In reality, multiculturalism creates racial, class and identity conflict. The dominant ethnic group tolerates, but does not mix or wish to integrate with a third world culture. Both ethnic groups or multiple ethnic groups cannot find common ground because of incompatible language, ethos, religion, culture and world views. Over 90 percent live on welfare. In fact, most of Africa runs a 68 to 70 IQ. While living in the most resource rich continent in the world, they cannot learn modern agricultural methods to feed themselves. Thus, millions starve to death and live in huts without water, food or work. World ranking of countries by their IQ. What occurred with this multicultural experiment? They resemble fish out of water or people without an American identity living within America. If an American moved over to Somalia, the same would hold true. That American could not function in Somali society. Government planted , of them there after 1. Muslims also live on welfare and by de facto cultural actions of their majority numbers, practice Sharia Law. Which violates our laws: McCarran-Walter Act of Such immigrants say their traditions trump the U. Balkanization of the United States has begun. More Mexicans birth children in hospitals than any other ethnic group. Since Mexicans abhor blacks, they push them out with violence and intimidation. Note that no less than five Spanish TV stations and over a half dozen radio stations speak and feature only Hispanics and Mexicans. Mexicans, at some point, with enough numbers could secede from the Union with the votes. Anybody ever hear of Chicago? A killing zone for African-Americans in America? No Caucasians dare live or travel through south side Chicago. More people died from fire-fights in Chicago than in the 17 year Afghanistan War. Additionally, Chicago houses hundreds of thousands of illegal alien migrants. They work in underground economies that pay no taxes and the city faces bankruptcy from a vanishing tax base. Especially note that multiculturalism fails dramatically in the United States. Home Depot, Lowes, Melaleuca Wellness, and fast food joints feature Spanish receptionists and catalogues. Over languages spoken openly in New York City. Too much internal diversity in large nations has led to violence and disintegration. We are now in the process of destabilizing our America.

Chapter 3 : Multiculturalism - One American Woman's Story

On October , the German Chancellor, Angela Merkel opened a deadly ballet for multiculturalism saying that "this approach has failed, utterly failed". She was quickly followed by David Cameron, the UK Prime Minister, who in February agreed that "state multiculturalism" has failed.

A single glance at the racial violence accelerating in our inner cities demonstrates our expanding quandary. In the most liberal city in America, Boulder, Colorado-rich, SUV-driving parents, sporting bumper stickers that read, "Celebrate Diversity", whisk their kids to all-white schools and away from growing minority schools drowning in third world migrant children. Boulder City Council supports a sanctuary policy. Their crime rates, school failures, hospital costs and prison costs rose as their illegal migrant population grew. Brian Williams, NBC Nightly News Yet, with our nation seething in unrest, anger and growing frustration, minority groups grow in power based on the lack of enforcement of U. This is a public relations battle. Those who control the dialog define the issue to their own advantage. She said, "I grew up and lived in the central coast area of California most of my life. It was a blissful place back 40 years ago or so, a bucolic dream of nice weather and open crop land, right up until having Mexican friends and neighbors turned from a novelty into an onslaught. The heavy lidded glare of hatred became an ordinary part of my existence when I asked "Hablo englese? The violent Mexican gang girls made my daily trek to and from school a nightmare. When it started all those years ago gang members carried switch blades, now they have guns. They inexorably turned from minority into majority and with their racist culture; we whites and blacks were all in danger. In case others may not realize it, Mexican culture prefers light skin, but not white skin. The darker a Mexican is the more his own people ostracize him. In our American culture this is called "pedophilia. This is all perfectly normal and acceptable. Your children are not safe when young Mexican males are around. I hate to put this so bluntly, but we need to know this. The multicultural equivalency crowd will howl at these truths, but it still remains true. She proudly bragged to me that she wanted a large family, and that every time she got pregnant her welfare check went up. She liked those raises so she had 7 children by the time she was She never cared, and as the Mexican invasion continued I began to understand that, our friendship notwithstanding, I was the enemy and that I deserved to pay for her upkeep, and she, as the superior race, was ENTITLED to it! Having lots of children by many different women is machismo. Jail time is part of Mexican male machismo. Bragging rights for all of it! Yo gusto mas ninas y ninos! Is this really the wonderful Mexican culture that we should all embrace? All around us were a majority of Mexican extended families with camp trailers with many families living in them, outhouses, the obligatory fighting cocks and pit bulls, goats, pigs and sheep, which they slaughtered on site in barbaric ways, loud mariachi music at all hours of the day and night, etc. My Mexican neighbors were not cited for any of this and when I screamed racism I got another visitor. White hetero people are the only ones expected to follow the fullest extent of the law according to the planning department of my former town in California. I live in another state now which brags of a fast growing Mexican population which stands at 6. Where will I go next? Yet, Americans fail to push this issue in either candidate. While California reached critical mass in excess of four million illegal aliens as well as another 10 million legal immigrants that now create separate societies, i. I highly recommend it. I read it cover to cover in two days as I could not put it down!

Chapter 4 : Islam and the West: Co-existence or Collision - Capitol Hill Outsider

In reality, multiculturalism creates racial, class and identity conflict. The dominant ethnic group tolerates, but does not mix or wish to integrate with a third world culture. Both ethnic groups or multiple ethnic groups cannot find common ground because of incompatible language, ethos, religion, culture and world views.

Prejudice against immigrants helped drive Brexit. The issue of immigration has been consistently at the heart of British politics for a little over a decade at least. But the specific issue of integration—how immigrants and the native population learn to live together, and what each should be expected to do to further that end—is discussed only intermittently, and to little effect. Chuka Umunna, a British Labour Party MP for a diverse south London constituency and the son of a Nigerian immigrant, has long had a reputation as a pro-immigration campaigner. But he sees no contradiction between defending the rights of people to come to the U. A report he published this month calls for mandatory English classes for immigrants—a fairly controversial idea among London-based liberals like Umunna. The timing of the two reports, just months after the vote for Brexit that was followed by an uptick in hate crime and much soul-searching from politicians over the significance of immigration to the vote, is more coincidence than design. However, immigration has certainly been a growing concern to voters, with percent of voters saying it was among the most important issues facing the country in , compared to 8 percent in , according to the pollster Ipsos Mori. And if they do, what pitfalls could face any government that tries to address the issue? The closest thing the U. Umunna uses it in the introduction to his report, writing that the U. Katwala says he was probably right to do so, at a time when immigrants, largely from former colonies, had quite a strong sense of British culture and its expectations anyway. But over time, as immigrant groups grew more diverse and ideas of what British culture was became less clearly defined, this approach looked less satisfactory. One reason for the absence of government policy on this issue might be that there is less of a problem than it often seems. Buried in the Casey review were plenty of positive statistics: Over 98 percent of people living in the U. Many supposedly isolated communities turn out on closer inspection to be boringly similar: Katwala points to the problems with integration, particularly how concerns about the topic are a significant driver of the spiraling anti-immigration feeling in Britain. To take the issue of language, for example: While the vast majority of people in the U. So where there are problems, what can the British government do to address them? One answer, says Katwala, is to work out what demands should be made of British citizens, and then communicate them not only to immigrants and the descendents of immigrants but to white British people too. But in more concrete terms, where there are clearly identifiable issues, the problem often comes back to government planning and funds. The APPG report noted that the economic security of immigrants is one of the most important factors in how easy they find it to integrate, and said there might be a need for government to invest more in helping migrants to enter the labor market. It also said that local government should take more of the responsibility for improving integration, to increase pressure for change and ensure policies are carefully tailored to requirements in an area. However, only a genuinely positive and inclusive approach to drawing British society together can solve the problems that do exist, without creating new ones.

Chapter 5 : Multiculturalism in Europe and in the US, how is it going? | Nouvelle Europe

And that's the way they aim to keep us in the deadly slumber of complacency and the delusion of multiculturalism. For one, multiculturalism and multi-religionism are not interchangeable and are.

We are continually lectured that only a very small minority of Muslims are troublemakers who are giving the peaceful masses of Muslims a bad name. We are also informed that the terrorists, who happened to be Muslims, are the disaffected and the young. And not to worry, since as the fire of youth turns to ashes of old age the rebellious will mellow, as they always have. Those of us voice contrary views to their claims, must be a bunch of racist, alarmist hate mongers. Of course, it would, except for one huge problem. We are the Easy Species. We love effortless, quick and simple solutions. It has given us all kinds of labor and time saving devices. Let me be honest with you, the Islam problem is very real and deadly. Neither the pronouncements of the experts, nor the tranquilizing pills of the mind can make it go away. It is here and it shows every sign of imposing itself on us. Let us look at some of the facts: Yet, by its own admission, it has over 10, volunteers trained ready to be deployed, and thousands more queuing to join in. How disaffected are they? Muhammad Ata, leader of the 19 airborne thugs and the decapitator of Wall Street Journal Reporter Pearl were somewhat younger, yet well-healed and Western educated. Roll out the red carpet for the immigrant Muslims, treat them as you would your own citizens, give them stipends, medical care, and free education and they will integrate seamlessly into the society? No such thing at all. The idea of Melting Pot may work with people who come from different lands to make the new country their home. These Muslims, on the other hand, come with the belief that they already own the place and want to make it part of the Ummah. Some forty percent of second and third generation Muslim Britons reject British democracy, express their allegiance to Islam and want to live under Sharia. So much for the Melting Pot comfort pill. Muslims, by sheer numbers, will soon be able to vote out democracy in many countries. They are already doing that in bits and pieces. They are imposing many of their values, in several societies, even while they are in the minority. It is a second-generation Comfort Pill. Since the Melting Pot proved to be worse than a placebo, the politically correct gave us the new pill. A glance at Europe shows how Multiculturalism in fact has served as the incubator of Islamic terrorists in no time at all. In no Islamic land do you find an ecumenical organization. It is only in non-Islamic countries that the shameless duplicitous Muslim, be he an imam, a mullah, or a regular run-of-the-mill faithful of Allah, meekly participates in ecumenical feel-good gatherings. There is not a single church or synagogue or a Buddhist temple in all of Saudi Arabia. The Islamic tyranny of the mullahs imprisons Christian Iranians for celebrating Christmas. Egypt denies its own citizens identity cards for refusing to lie and fake their religious belief or disbelief. The ID cards are required for education, securing work, receiving medical care and just about every right of citizenship. Without it, a citizen is literally subjected to slow death. So, as Islam makes its inroads in new lands, as its membership swells through explosive birth and conversion, secular democracies will be inevitably replaced by Islamism with its stone-age Sharia laws. If Muslims act heinously toward non-Muslims, it is just the way things are in those countries and it is hardly any of our business? This is the same attitude that set Islamization of Europe on a seemingly irreversible track. One European country after another is rapidly buckling under the weight of Islam. After all, Muslims are about million minority in a population of nearly million, you reason? That even a smaller number of these Muslims are hothead radicals, while the majority is just like everyone else? But small minorities can overwhelm the majority by use of coercion and deadly force. Islamists are notorious for their dedication to the use of force for achieving their aims. The Taliban were a very small minority in Afghanistan, the Islamists were a tiny faction in the Islamic Revolution of Iran. Both overwhelmed the masses and imposed their reign of terror. Hezbollah of Lebanon is a minority, yet it has taken the country to the verge of destruction. Islam and democracy are incompatible. As democracies practice their magnificent accommodating belief, they knowingly or unknowingly lay the track for the advancing wrecking train of Islam. We, in the United States of America must resist Islamism while it is still gathering momentum, unless we wish to end up in the same fix as the Europeans. By effective action, we even save those peaceful Muslims from their own affliction. I am not hatemongering. I would love to see all

Muslims become ex-Muslims and full-fledged members of a diverse tolerant democratic society. It is a statement of fact about what Islam is. Islam is a highly communicable pandemic violent disease that demands urgent and serious containment. No, Americans and Muslims will never be able to live and let live side by side. It is a leftist fantasy. Europe is already badly infected with Islamism. It is telling us that the next stop is America. We must act and act now. We must not sacrifice our cherished way of life and the lives of our children at the altar of political correctness:

Chapter 6 : News With Views | What Does "Multiculturalism" Really Mean?

Multiculturalism's horrible consequences can, this fool mayor tells us, be cured with a little extra algebra." The harsh reality grows that multiculturalism in Europe multiplies their strife, conflict, and national instability.

Multiculturalism in Europe and in the US, how is it going? At the sunset of the first mandate of Barack Obama, the first Black President elected in the US, time comes to describe two different points of view with regard to multicultural societies. Indeed, Europe and the USA " even though societies from each side of the Atlantic are composed of diverse ethnic groups and cultures " are quite different in the way they deal with this question. Different multicultural societies Multiculturalism in Europe and in the United States is a reality, but not a similar one. The United States like to represent themselves as a country of immigration, and, indeed, they did build themselves from European immigrants at the expense of native populations who were living there previously. The country developed importing people " Black slaves " and integrating others while rushing West " Mexicans, but also Puerto Ricans and Cubans. Early in the 19th century, workers from China and from Japan were also brought to the West Coast and to the Hawaii. Then, immigrants fleeing poverty or discrimination in Europe increased the mix of the population. Those different waves of immigration or integration of people already living there native and a part of the Hispanics created a diverse society. In Europe, no society is homogenous either. As another difference, Europe has to deal with nations "asserted in the 19th century and outlining a culture, a language, a tradition " that are not necessarily coinciding with the borders of states. There are well-known nations without a state, such as Catalans, Basques, Scots, Welsh and others; but there are also national minorities, as Hungarian in Romania and Slovakia. We have another group some claim it being a people , the Roma. And finally, as the US, Europe has been an immigration continent: From those two pictures, a first major difference appears: While in the United States minorities are designated ethnically or racially, in Europe, the only viable description is cultural " is there any ethnic difference between a Catalan and a Spaniard? Diversity of minorities The different cultural groups do not have the same history, especially regarding civil rights and the path of integration; they do not share the same socio-economic status and thus they cannot be considered as one minority all together. Even inside those that one may call communities, situations are really different according to the relations with the rest of the population, to the level of concentration, to the local economic situation, and so on. In Europe, diversity is increased because there are several states that deal differently with minority groups and thus lead to different history, narratives and relations. For instance, the situation of the Hungarian minority in Slovakia is not the same as the one of the Hungarian minority in Romania; their history, their relations both to the state and to Hungary the kin-state and their claim are different. We must take this diversity into account as well when discussing about multiculturalism to avoid simplification and misunderstanding. Last but not least, Nicolas Sarkozy, at that time French President, stated one month after his colleagues that the concept was a failure as well. What does all that mean? That the societies we are living in are a failure? The three heads of State and government were there speaking of a certain conception of taking into account minorities culture and contribution. And that was what they were all talking about, immigration. Because in those 4 years when Barack Obama has been president, Europe has been more and more concerned about its immigration policy. Those three countries have pointed out immigration as endangering their societies; they have been reducing multiculturalism to immigration; they have been encouraging xenophobic views. They wanted to focus on a narrow interpretation of national identity, based on an idea of society that does not exist anymore, that has already changed thanks to this multiculturalism. The election of Obama in has been interpreted as a symbol, the complete end of segregation and of discrimination of minorities. Furthermore, last summer Obama opened a path for undocumented residents. The deportation of under-year-old undocumented immigrants who lived in the US for at least five years often after migrating as children took an end in June It allowed undocumented people to come and register for a 2-years residence permit and especially not to fear anymore to be deported. This move, 6 months before the election, highlights the importance of convincing immigrated voters. In the US, where demography gives more and more weight to minorities, convincing Hispanics who represent 1 voter out of 6 is a major stake in the current campaign. Demography and political organisation are a factor of explanation of the opposite posture between the Old and the New Continent. Our societies are multicultural, but minorities are diverse and different. One of the major differences appears in the self-understanding of our societies. When the United States see themselves as a country of immigrants even if many Americans are strongly opposed to immigration, i. Sheriff Arpaio , several countries in Europe are increasingly regarding immigration as endangering their society and thus fostering narrow-minded views on multiculturalism. But we should not confuse multiculturalism with integration of immigrants, since the diversity of our societies is not only brought by migrants. Multiculturalism is also recognising the capacities of cultures and identities to dialogue and to evolve. Daedalus, What Future for the State? Figures concerning unemployment in the USA are from the Census. Presented in McClain, P.

Multiculturalism And Medicine: A Deadly Combination Dr. Ken Dombey, blog.quintoapp.com, May 25 I had hoped that practicing medicine would allow me a noble career guided by objective science and the pursuit of truth.

Ever since the massive arrival of Muslims to the Western hemisphere, our Western culture and world have been forever altered, thanks to the ceaseless attempts of the left to create a failing Utopian Multiculturalism paradise while forcefully jamming it down the throats of its unsuspecting citizens. Multiculturalism in Europe is dead in the water, as every recent election has shown. Even the politicians are admitting it now. Is that what we want? The controversy is ongoing: Now, we welcome Muslims with open arms and generous welfare policies. Any pushback to these open immigration practices is labeled Islamophobia, racism, bigotry, etc. But what cost do these changes bring? The battle with these barbarians has been proven to be arduous and long. It is a duty of every enlightened individuals to work their hardest to fumigate these leeches from the body of humanity. Billboards have been popping out and sneakily remind the viewers about their kinship with Muslims: The message of Abraham, Moses, Jesus and Mohammad. They are your kindred through your shared progenitor, Abraham, so they claim. For one, multiculturalism and multi-religionism are not interchangeable and are not one and the same. Muslims and their frequently well-paid apologists use the multiculturalist umbrella only in non-Islamic lands to shield themselves from the torrent of legitimate criticisms that those who know Islam better shower on this cult of violence peddled as the religion of peace. Please search it for yourself. See if the euphemism of multiculturalism is ever even mentioned by any Islamic leader, ever printed in the Islamic press, or ever appears in any form anywhere in Muslim countries. This multiculturalism gambit is Islam manufactured wool to pull over the eyes of the non-Muslims while Muslims carry on with their unrelenting campaign of eradicating anything or anyone non-Islamic anywhere and everywhere in the world. Trust me, people like us, through reason and a tremendous act of will, who have freed ourselves from the enslaving yoke of Islam placed around our necks from birth, know about all the heinous inside dirt of this plague of humanity. We have experienced Islam first-hand and up close from the inside. We have studied the Quran, the Hadith, and the Sunna. We have seen Islam in action where it wields sway. Yet, the more we studied and the more we experienced Islam, the more our efforts to remain in the fold became untenable. We broke away from Islamic slavery and found it to be our solemn duty to expose this fraud of a religion, help other Muslims to free themselves from it, and warn the good-hearted and gullible non-Muslims of the world against falling prey to it. The Muslim organizations in America, generously financed by the oil-rich Muslim governments and sheikhs, are directed to sell Islam Lite for long enough until this ideology runs deep roots and real Islam is introduced. One can see how the scheme played out in Europe. There are some non-Muslims, good-hearted tolerant people who tend to overlook all the terrible things that Islam perpetrates by pointing to some of its good teachings. These folks contend that the world should direct its effort not at combating Islam, but at those individuals and groups that commit heinous acts in the name of Islam. There are others who disagree with this benign approach. This latter group sees all the so-called aberrations as an inherent part and parcel of Islam. They believe that it is Islam that actively promotes and is terribly out of sync with the best interests of the 21st century world. I say, humanity must remain strong and resolute, they must stop deluding themselves. Islam will never ever coexist with infidels. We must move on. To move away from exclusionary, primitive, and a tribal mentality to a vision of all humanity being one, with justice and liberty for all. We all need to move on. Again, I say we all need to move on. While we frivolously waste our precious time talking about it without any drastic action taken, Islam and Sharia continues to furtively creep into every aspect of our American culture. But only too few dedicated freedom-loving people are sounding the alarm. We are rapidly and methodically being dismantled as a nation, and our freedom and liberty is more fragile than at any time since WWII. I cannot emphasize enough the urgency of this threat. It is indeed urgent that we confront Islamic ideology and its expansionism, close down all of their chapters across America and declare the Muslim Brotherhood a terrorist organization. It is long past time our elected officials to wake up.

Chapter 8 : A Month of Islam and Multiculturalism in France: April

Modern states such as multicultural or multi-tribal Rwanda, Iraq, and Lebanon have often proved deadly failures. Europe is trying to emulate the multiracial but unified culture of the United States.

In all, 17, illegal migrants arrived in Spain during the first six months of , almost double the 9, migrants who arrived in Spain during the same period in . The Islamic Commission of Spain, a Muslim umbrella group, threatened to file a lawsuit against the regional government in Valencia if it fails to offer Islam courses in public schools. We have to say it, even if it is politically incorrect. The United Nations reported that June was a record month for illegal migration to Spain. At least 7, illegal migrants arrived in Spain during the month, more than twice the number of arrivals in Italy 3, and three times as many as in Greece 2, By way of comparison, 2, illegal migrants arrived in Spain in June . The money will be used to provide food and shelter for people arriving through the so-called Western Mediterranean route. The University of the Basque Country announced that, beginning this fall, "refugees" and "stateless persons" will be allowed to study at the university for free. A ship named Open Arms, carrying 60 migrants rescued off the coast of Libya, arrived in Barcelona after being turned away by Italy and Malta. Mayor Ada Colau said the arrival of the ship fulfilled her dream of making Barcelona a "refugee city. It is very exciting to be able to finally say welcome and welcome home. An ombudsman appointed by the regional government in Catalonia to rule on disputes over dress codes at public swimming pools recommended that to avoid discrimination, both topless bathing as well as burkinis should be allowed. The ombudsman said that "all municipalities with municipal swimming pools should review their regulations from a gender perspective and respect the freedom of expression of females. The migrants were transferred to reception centers in southern Spain. Identified only as Sbahi, he is accused of murdering an elderly man in Ceuta during a robbery in . The Spanish Supreme Court ordered the government to honor a pledge to take in 19, refugees from other EU countries. In , Spain pledged to receive 13, migrants from Greece and 6, from Italy, as part of a European Council scheme to redistribute migrants across the EU. She did not say if the measure applies only to courses on Roman Catholicism or to Islam as well. She also said that pupils would be required to attend mandatory courses on "civic and ethical values" that emphasize human rights, civic rights, tolerance and non-discrimination. Critics said the measure was an attempt by the state to usurp parental authority over the moral education of their children. Municipal officials in the Andalusian town of Lucena unanimously approved a project to build a Muslim cemetery. The Islamic Community of Lucena said that the decision "satisfies our longstanding demands" and "complies with our constitutional rights. Spanish police closed the Farhana border crossing in Melilla after a Moroccan man with a knife attacked a Spanish border guard who had denied him access to Spanish territory. The migrants were transferred to mainland Spain. By contrast, she has studiously avoided using the term Christmas, referring to it instead as "winter solstice. Would this not amount to supporting indoctrination in the public sphere? The City of Valencia said it was exploring the possibility of providing legal cover for illegal migrants who sell counterfeit goods on public streets. The plan involves getting illegal migrants off public streets by allowing them to sell their goods at city markets. A new law entered into effect that requires Spanish public schools to offer Arabic courses as well as classes in Moroccan culture and history. In an interview with the newspaper La Rioja, terrorism expert Fernando Reinares estimated that the number of Islamists in Spain exceeds 5, Most of those are Muslims who were born or raised in Spain: In the whole of Western Europe, also in Spain, jihadism is a phenomenon associated with the so-called second generation, individuals born or raised in Europe, but who are descendants of immigrants from majority Muslim countries. These situations of detachment are not so much the result of deficient local, regional or national policies in social, health or educational matters, but the result of inherent dynamics of the Muslim congregations themselves, especially where the presence of the Salafist, fundamentalist currents is notable. The Islamic Commission of Spain, a Muslim umbrella group, threatened to file a lawsuit against the regional government in Valencia if it fails to offer Islam courses in public schools: We do not understand this controversy, we only intend that the law be applied according to the agreement in force since . The project, however, has run into opposition from parents. It later emerged that 25 of the migrants were from Bangladesh, an indication that migrants from Asia are now using the Western Mediterranean route to reach Europe. More than sub-Saharan Africans, some using aerosols as flame-throwers, breached the six-meter foot border fence between Morocco and Spain at Ceuta. Police said the assault, which began at 6: EU human rights laws ensure that most migrants will not be deported back to their countries of origin. The move set off a heated debate about multiculturalism and the application of double standards. The Spanish government formally approved a plan to provide universal healthcare to all illegal migrants from the moment they arrive in the country. Dozens more disembarked on a nudist beach in Tarifa, while another 50 migrants arrived on the shores of Cartagena. The new leader of the center-right Popular Party, Pablo Casado, warned that mass migration to Spain is unsustainable: A spokesman for the ruling Socialist Party, Oscar Puente, accused Casado of "xenophobia" and said he would "regret" embracing the speech of the "extreme right. In some cases, the money was used to pay human traffickers to drive the families from the conflict zones to the Turkish border, and for their subsequent flights to Spain. A police official said: They do not have resources, money, or contacts, some do not even know how to write, but their relatives here ask us for help and we are providing it for reasons of humanity. Police revealed that the Islamist cell which carried out the attacks in Barcelona on August 17, had originally planned to attack the Sagrada Familia cathedral, one of the leading tourist attractions in the city, and the Camp Nou football stadium during a match with a team from Madrid. Police said that if the attack, scheduled for August 20, had been carried out, it would have been the deadliest in modern European history. The plan was derailed after explosives to be used in the attack accidentally detonated in a safe house on August 16, prompting the cell to downsize its plan. On July 31, Spanish police revealed that the Islamist cell which carried out the attacks in Barcelona on August 17, had originally planned to attack the Sagrada Familia cathedral pictured , one of the leading tourist attractions in the city, and the Camp Nou football stadium.
