Even with our limited family budget I always had a new Easter outfit. Back a hundred years ago or so it consisted of an Easter dress, new white dress shoes, and a bonnet of some sort. On good years there may even be a matching little handbag and gloves! Yes I have pictures! NO! You are not going to see them! I love old movies where everyone wore a hat. You probably see a cookie. I saw I bonnet with cute pink ribbon and spring flowers! These are super fun and super easy to make! I found mine at Wallmart. One can of vanilla frosting. One small bag of Lindor white chocolate truffles! This ingredient alone is worth making these darling treats! You know one of the hats one for me! Color each bowl of frosting in pink, yellow and green, and set aside. To make the top of the hat you will need to cut a Lindor Truffle in half. The best, and easiest, way to do this is to heat the blade of the knife over a hot flame. I used a candle and a very sharp straight bladed knife. So hold the knife high above the flame. It will heat up quickly. Take a truffle in your hand and find the original line where they pieced the two halves together. Hold the hot knife along the line and gently slide it down and through the chocolate candy until it is divided in half. Once it is cut in half, place it in the center of the Fudge Stripe cookie. The melted chocolate will dry and adhere it to the cookie. I got chocolate on my finger. What will I do? I know, I know, I know!!! I will tell you that I used plastic disposable decorating bags with the tip of the bag cut off. You want a small fine line. So start with just the teeny tiny tip of the bag. Fill one bag with a heaping spoonful of pink frosting and another bag with a heaping spoonful of yellow frosting. Around the bottom of the truffle, where it is stuck on to the Fudge Stripe cookie, pipe a fine line around the base and make a little bow in the back to create a ribbon. I loved this effect so much I did it on all the cookies. You can use pre-made frosting flowers, found in the cake decorating aisle, gum drops, or sprinkles for the flowers and leaves. Use your imagination and just create fun edible Easter Bonnets! Want to know the best part besides how darling they are! My daughter and I refuse to disclose how many of these we have eaten. I just know you have Easter bonnet loving friends who would love a little bag filled with these darling spring time hats. What do ya think? I love how bright, cheerful, and fun these turned out. I also love how deliciously yummy they are. Those little Keebler Elves out did themselves this year! Click HERE to find them! Remember to sign-up for my weekly Newsletter. I promise not to clutter your mail box with e-mails! I hate that as much as you do. I just want to make sure you know what fun and delicious things I have planned for the upcoming week. Thanks for stopping by my Nest!
