Sorry Sox fans, it is. For hard-core baseball lovers, or those who just dig the Wrigleyville vibe and want to be in the center of it all, The Residences at Addison and Clark is getting closer to welcoming its first denizens. Move-ins are expected to start before the playoffs. The building was designed by SCB. When complete, there will be new homes from studios to two-bedroom flats. That is, if you can find one. Specifically a ten screen movie theater, a Lucky Strike, and a Shake Shack. Because every now and then you just need to get your Shack Stack on. Located across the street from Wrigley Field, the transit-oriented development will include luxury apartments and , square feet of retail. Residences will feature engineered hardwood floors in living areas; high-end kitchens with quartz countertops, Leedo textured European-style cabinets and stainless steel Whirlpool appliances; full-size, in-unit laundry; and walk-in closets. A customizable slat wall system in each residence can be personalized to hang anything from planters, bags and coats to bikes and even a small foldable table. Floor-to-ceiling windows and balconies on select units will showcase sweeping views of the neighborhood and downtown skyline. Each unit will include an Ecobee3 Smart WiFi thermostat. Not to mention the fact that the views from select units â€” including panoramic skyline vistas to the south and east â€” are stunning. A 5, square-foot indoor clubhouse will include a hospitality room with a kitchenette, large-screen television and ample seating as well as a separate lounge for residents to socialize and entertain guests. A well-appointed fitness center and yoga studio will open to an outdoor amenity deck while a sauna and steam room provide additional space to relax and unwind. Residents can enjoy outdoor building amenities like a pool and spa, private seating areas with multiple rooftop gathering areas and a variety of seating options. A fire pit and grilling stations will also be available for residents and guests. And for pet owners, a dog run on the fifth floor is attached to a vestibule so residents can watch their pets from the comfort of an indoor space. The building will also have a separate space for oversized deliveries, as well as a commercial grade refrigerator and freezer for perishable items. Baseballism, a premium apparel store focusing on the class, tradition and history of baseball, will occupy 1, square feet of space. A public parking garage, accessible off of Clark Street, will feature parking spaces to ease congestion in the area. Chicago-based Solomon Cordwell Buenz is the architect for the project.
