The Nutcracker is also magically turned into a handsome prince and whisks Clara off to the Land of Snow where they dance in a flurry of snowflakes. Photo by Bill Cooper 9. Clara and the Prince crowned Impressed by their heroism, the Sugar Plum Fairy invites them into the Candy Castle where they are treated to entertaining dance performances including The Arabian Dance and the Russian Dance. The Sugar Plum Fairy, who has already performed a solo turn, dances a pas de deux with the handsome Cavalier. After a final waltz Clara and the Prince are crowned rulers of the Land of the Sweets. Clara awakes The final scene finds Clara waking up under the now normal sized Christmas Tree with the Nutcracker doll in her arms realising it was all a dream

Picture: Matthew Bourne turned his magic to the much-loved ballet and his bright and brilliant interruption was an instant hit. Hapless pyjama-clad cupids attempt to bring her and the Prince together while her friends in the orphanage are transformed into Marshmallow girls, the goby Gobstopper boys, the Liquorice Allsorts trio and Knickerbocker Glory. Hoffmann The Nutcracker Suite is based on E. Written in the early s, this was the last ballet score Tchaikovsky wrote – he died less than a year after it was premiered. Photo by Roy Smiljanic. The first performance Sadly Tchaikovsky died believing The Nutcracker was a flop. The ballet was largely panned by critics and audiences alike after its world premiere in St Petersburg in Petersburg, but it was the adult dancers that received the most criticism. Russian State Ballet, Tchaikovsky and Marius Petipa Tchaikovsky was commissioned to write the ballet as a double bill by Ivan Vsevolozhsky, the director of the Imperial Theatres on the back of the success of Sleeping Beauty. Tchaikovsky once again worked closely with Marius Petipa, who frustrated the composer with his detailed instructions and restrictions on the score. Photograph by Bill Cooper.

By ADMIN If you are shopping for a ballet skirt for yourself or your tiny dancer, you will want to make sure you choose a high quality brand to last through rehearsals and performances. High quality does not necessarily mean expensive. Ballet students typically wear leotards to practice, however this depends on the dance studio and their required dress code. When shopping for popular ballet dance wear, check with your studio about dress code, including any color dress codes for various levels before making a purchase. Purchasing Ballet Dance Wear Before making your first purchase, check out recent ballet skirt reviews to find affordable and comfortable dance pieces. Skirts and tutus should allow movement in various angles and not hinder any jumps. To get the most wear out of your ballet skirt, choose a neutral color, if possible like pink or black. Ballet skirt styles tend to change rapidly. Strive to keep the basic colors and styles in your wardrobe. When it comes to choosing the length of a skirt , you should go by the height of the dancer. The taller you are, the longer your skirt should be. Most ballet skirts are quite affordable including the top three listed in this guide. Tutus can vary in price depending on if it is for a small child or a professional dancer. Ballerinas can expect to pay hundreds of dollars for a tutu to wear during a performance. If you are simply looking for a tutu to wear to the dance studio as an adult ballet dancer, you can find these at more affordable rates both online and at dance supply stores. Passionate, moving, funny and unique to every person in the audience, there are few forms that appeal so widely. More than anything, we want you to have a great time and feel at home so if you do still have questions drop us or your local theatre a line. We hope to see you soon! Chat to us online: The ballet consists of three acts: Aladdin is tricked by the wicked Mahgrib to enter a cave of riches to seek a magical lamp. After escaping the cave, Aladdin falls in love with a beautiful Princess and the Djinn of the lamp helps him to win her hand. The Mahgrib steals the lamp and Aladdin tries to rescue his Princess! If you want to buy a programme with more details, you can do so from the foyer before the show starts. The orchestra tours with us around the UK and internationally, as well as performing concerts in music venues around the world. A live orchestra sounds so much better than even the best sound system and can also cater for light variations in tempo and interpretation, meaning each performance is unique. Switch off " Everyone loves to share a great experience with people they know, but we do ask that you mute or turn off your mobile phones and refrain from using them during a performance. Enjoy yourself " Feel free to applaud at appropriate times " typically at the end of a scene or act or after a pas de deux duet. Make yourself comfortable " if you feel most at home in a ballgown then don your finest and come along, otherwise, smart casual wear is totally fine. A grand pas de deux is a structured pas de deux that typically has five parts. En pointe A technique using specially made shoes that enables a dancer to support their weight on the tips of fully extended feet see picture. If you walk down to the front of the auditorium, before the show starts, you can peer over and see them! Variation A variation is also known as a solo dance. In a classical grand pas de deux see above , the performers each dance a variation. I remember being blown away by the whole experience: It was an inspiring day and I knew I had to end up on a stage somewhere in the world. We all know that injuries in general are no fun. Injuries in dance, though, always seem to be so much worse. Being a dancer is a special thing which is why you want to keep doing it as long as possible. In order to do that, you have to learn how to avoid major injuries. No matter how you may feel about it, stretching and warming up your body is important. If you dance cold you may pull muscles or sprain something or any number of things. You just need to do something to stretch your muscles out and get your heart rate going a little bit. Ease yourself into dancing instead of doing things at top speed! Another important thing is doing a cool down after you dance. Otherwise, your body will just collapse on itself! It needs time to calm itself down. Again, nothing too long or elaborate. Listening to your body: Your body is a funny thing because it talks to you! It lets you know when it has fever or when it has an injury or when it is tired. You have to listen to the signals your body is sending you. Your body needs time to catch up with your busy schedule! Sit and watch your favorite show or movie. Go to the park. Injuries are no joke in the dance world! Stretch, cool down, listen to your body, and rest.

By default, once you enroll in the Academy you are put at Level 1. This rank is the beginning of your journey to becoming a ballerina in our company, on our competition team or even one of our staff members! Advancing to the next level: Things will get more difficult from this point on. Again, nothing is really required, but it is highly encouraged to do the following: You should make every effort to attend classes when you can if you want to level up. Make sure to read the shout regularly and keep up with announcements made. You must attend at least 25 classes. You must attend 4 choreography classes. You must perform a solo. We applaud your efforts and send you best wishes through this difficult level. You should attend a choreographer class at least once a month. You should do your best to attend any special events that come up. You must attend 40 classes. You must attend 5 choreography classes. You must perform two solos. Congratulations on making it to the cap level for basic ballet! You have tremendous potential to be a professional. Work hard, train hard and never give up! Similar to level 3, you must attend a class each week or every other week depending on circumstances. You must attend choreography classes regularly as they are held. You must be prepared to perform a solo at all times, especially at auditions. You know the rules of the RBA and know the ranks well. Advancing to the next step: You should choose whether you want to join the staff or the professionals. If you want to be a professional, look for auditions for company and competition team. If you want to join the staff, look for application announcements. Demonstrate your abilities listed in the duties above. Every ballet school has the infamous pianist who provides live, classical music for classes, auditions, etc. Perhaps dancing was not your passion, but the music for the dance was. This is a very special rank at the RBA. This rank is currently under development as Mademoiselle is re-creating the piano experience for the pianists. In the past there were struggles with lag and sound, as well as difficult GUIs. Mademoiselle would like to remedy this. Once it has been fixed, this description will be updated with more information. Want to represent the RBA in competitions outside the studio? We hope you have what it takes to compete with our fierce and talented team. Attend all competition team practices. If you miss 4 without valid excuses, you will be demoted. Represent the RBA when at any competition if you are not in another competition team in another group. Be kind, but competitive. Just do your best! You should own one of the Acro-Ballet leotards and wear it while competing. Ballerina in Training Description: Attend ALL company and comp practices. You may miss 3 with a valid excuse, or you will have to re-audition for your spot as a trainee. You must continue to demonstrate all the skills you learned in ballet levels , following the RBA rules. You should regularly attend a stretch, technique or choreography class to continue your growth as a dancer. If there is a special event at the RBA, try to participate. If there is a production, try to audition. Advancing to the Company: You must have attended at least 50 classes, but more is encouraged. You must have attended 20 choreography or stretching or technique classes. You must audition with three diverse solos. The can be choreographed by you or a choreographer. If there is a production, you should audition for the production and be in it. This would replace having to do three solos. They have a special studio and soon will have dormitories where they can continue to practice their trade, mentor others and overall make the RBA a great environment for everyone. We appreciate all your hard work and applaud you as you continue to challenge yourselves. Regularly attend all types of classes. Attend all company and comp practices, you may only miss 2 with a valid excuse in the span of 3 months. Try to mentor someone in the basic ballet levels, teach them a trick or two. Timezone issues, health, family, etc. This is the pre-cursor to becoming a CI. A choreographer does just what the title entails- they choreograph. Host choreography classes- classes strictly for improving general technique and rhythm, or focusing on specific choreography for productions large and small scale. If they do it voluntarily, bonus points all around. Can host events such as slumber parties, minigames, etc. Fill out the applications when they come around. These people keep the community alive while we wait for Mademoiselle to develop something new. Host events such as parties, minigames, etc.! Participate in events hosted by other staff members. Be involved in our community both on Roblox and outside of Roblox I. Otherwise just Roblox is fine. Make ideas and suggestions known to the rest of the staff and be prepared to share them with Mademoiselle. She values your opinions and ideas. You may host productions and auditions. You should try and host auditions for the company, competition team or ballet trainees! Board of Assistants Description: These are the second-in-command to Mademoiselle, but they work hard to keep things running. They support the RBA to a full and help maintain the administrative side of things at the RBA as well as collaborate with Bonnie to bring fresh ideas and suggestions for the community to deliver our goal of constant development and improvement. Kind of confidential, but think business and overseeing operations. Attend meetings with the other staff and a Bonnie regularly. In constant communication with Bonnie and the staff when things need to be addressed, but also connected in general. Interacts with the community regularly. Hosts auditions of any kind, may also host productions if they wish. This is the highest rank you can currently achieve at the RBA. Thanks so much for taking the time to read; hope this clears things up!
