

International Journal of English Language & Translation Studies is an indexed, peer-reviewed, open-access, quarterly, research journal for researchers, scholars, teachers, students, luminaries and policy makers associated with the professions of teaching, learning and assessing English language, literature, linguistics and translation studies across the entire globe.

For all editorial problems not specifically addressed below, please refer to CMS. As all manuscripts are double-blind peer-reviewed, please ensure that all identifying markings in the text and in the document properties are removed from one of the electronic versions. If works cited in the manuscript are identifiable as your own, please mark them as NN in the citation and in the list of references. FORMAT Article length may vary but is preferably between 6, and 8, words footnotes, references and appendices included. If you use any special characters, tables or figures, please supply a PDF file as well. Please number all pages consecutively. Please use font size Times New Roman 12 point and double line spacing throughout, quotations, notes and references included. Please define margins so as to obtain a text area of 13 x 22 cm or 5 x 8. Begin the References on a new page. Notes should be kept to a minimum. Note indicators in the text should appear at the end of sentences or phrases, and follow the respective punctuation marks. Contributions should be consistent in their use of language and spelling; for instance, articles should be in British English or American English throughout. Please use a reader-friendly style! Manuscripts submitted to Target must be written in clear, concise and grammatical English. If not written by a native speaker, it is advisable to have the paper checked by a native speaker. Illustrations and tables Tables and figures should be numbered consecutively using Arabic numerals, provided with appropriate captions, and be referred to in the main text in this manner: Figure captions should be placed below the figure, while table captions should be placed above the relevant table. Please indicate the preferred position of the table or figure in the text in this way: Ellipsis points used to indicate a deleted passage in a quotation, too, need to be bracketed CMS par. Quotations in the main text should be given in double quotation marks with the appropriate reference to the source. If the quotation does not include closing punctuation and is followed by the in-text reference, then the closing punctuation follows the in-text reference CMS par. Quotations longer than 3 lines should be indented, without quotation marks and with the appropriate reference to the source. They should be set off from the main text by a line of space above and below. Lists Lists should not be indented. If numbered, please number as follows: Lists that run on with the main text can be numbered in parentheses: Examples and glosses Examples should be numbered with Arabic numerals in parentheses: Examples in languages other than English should be in italics with an approximate translation. Between the original and the translation, glosses should be added. This interlinear gloss gets no punctuation and no highlighting. Fonts Use italics for foreign language, highlighting and emphasis. Bold should be used only for highlighting within italics and for headings. Please refrain from the use of small caps, FULL CAPS except for focal stress and acronyms and underlining except for highlighting within examples, as an alternative to boldface. For terms or expressions e. For glosses of citation forms use double quotes. Sections and headings Articles should be reasonably divided into sections and, if necessary, into sub-sections; these have to be numbered, beginning with 1 not 0. Numbering should be in Arabic numerals; no italics; no dot after the last number, except for level-one headings. Do not go beyond three levels. Please mark the headings as follows: Inclusive numbers Target prefers the foolproof system of giving the full form of numbers everywhere CMS, par. In other words, inclusive page numbers and years should not be abbreviated: This also applies to references. Appendixes Appendixes should follow the References section. References in the text: Target uses the Authorâ€™Date reference system. A comma is used between the date and the page number. References should be as precise as possible, giving page references where necessary; for example Clahsen , or: All references in the text should appear in the references section. For repeated consecutive references to the same source, and where no confusion is possible, it suffices to provide the page reference between brackets; for example References should be listed first alphabetically and then chronologically, in ascending order. The section should include all and only! A note on capitalization in titles: In titles and subtitles, capitalize the first and last words, and all other major words nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, some conjunctions. For more details and examples, consult CMS. For titles in any other languages, as well as for English translations of titles given in square brackets, Target follows CMS in using sentence-style capitalization: When giving publisher place information, give only the first place name if two or more are available, e. John Benjamins CMS par. Translating for the Global Digital Entertainment Industry. Benjamins Translation Library Edited volume Spear, Norman E. Information Processing in Animals: Scholarly edition James, Henry. The Complete Tales of Henry James. Edited by Leon Edel. Special issue of journal Pym, Anthony, ed. The Return to Ethics. Special issue of The Translator 7 2. Translated work Mitchell, David. De niet verhoorde gebeden van Jacob de Zoet [orig. The Thousand Autumns of Jacob de Zoet]. Translated by Harm Damsma and Niek Miedema. Article in book Adams, Clare A. Variation in Associative Representation during Instrumental Learning. Memory Mechanisms, edited by Norman E. Spear and Ralph R. Article in journal Bassnett, Susan. Claes, Jeroen, and Luis A. Rayson, Paul, Geoffrey N. Leech, and Mary Hodges. Article in online journal Taplin, Oliver. Internet site European Observatory for Plurilingualism. Accessed April 22, For other cases and for further guidelines , please consult CMS. If you are not able to submit online, or for any other editorial correspondence, please contact the editors by e-mail: Maureen Ehrensberger-Dow "ehre zhaw. Lore Vandevoorde "lore. All proposals should be submitted by the cut-off date of May 1st three years prior to the year in which guest editors wish to publish their issue. The first available slot for a special issue is in volume 34 deadline for proposals 1st May Please send proposals directly via email to both Editors dirk. Special issues currently under preparation: Exploring Collaboration in Translation and Translation in Collaboration. Fernando Prieto Ramos ed.

Chapter 2 : 3L: Language, Linguistics, Literature

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE, LITERATURE AND TRANSLATION STUDIES (IJELR) is a quarterly, Indexed, Refereed, and Peer Reviewed Open Access & Printed Journal (Published in March, June, Sept, and December) devoted to the critical and scholarly study of the new and the established Language, literatures in English around the world in.

Submission is free and open for all. All submissions undergo peer-review. Average turnaround time is weeks. You can submit your manuscript to submissions eltsjournal. For more details on the manuscript and submission guidelines, please visit- For Authors webpage. While submitting papers to the IJ-ELTS, authors are required to adhere to the following manuscript submission guidelines. Types of Works Accepted: We DO NOT accept interviews, stories, poems, letters to editor or any other communications for publication. The submitted papers must be original. Authors must check their work for plagiarism as International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies has zero-level plagiarism tolerance. All the received manuscripts are checked for plagiarism by International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies using its plagiarism tools and mechanisms. Authors involved in unethical practices are barred from submitting and publishing papers forever in International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies and other sister journals. The manuscript must be proofread and submitted in Standard English only. Submitted paper should be between words long. International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies follows and requires APA American Psychological Association Style, most commonly used to cite sources within the social sciences, for all the accepted manuscripts. Therefore, authors are advised to follow the APA style while citing and listing all the sources cited in the manuscript. Authors are suggested to read this style sheet before they submit their manuscript. All the articles must have an abstract of words in length with at least 5 keywords. Authors should avoid footnotes in the manuscript. Rather, they should use end-notes. The manuscript should be submitted electronically, as email attachment in Microsoft Document Format and in PDF as well if the manuscript contains tables, figures or texts in other languages to editor eltsjournal. As the primary aim of International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies is to generate and disseminate new, high-quality knowledge, this transfer of rights enables and ensures the wider dissemination of information. This wider dissemination of information also helps us in getting more citations for our authors. Copyrights for articles are retained by the authors with first publication right granted to International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies. Authors may republish their text, in any form, after the article has appeared in International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies, as long as they clearly acknowledge International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies as original publisher. Authors can retain all the copies, pre-published, published, and can use for their academic, research and any professional needs and purposes. To ensure the quality of the content, which we publish and disseminate, International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies exercises double blind peer-review policy for all the manuscripts selected for publication. The received manuscripts are checked for plagiarism, by using plagiarism tools and mechanism set by the International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies, and those selected are forwarded to the editor-in-chief for further evaluation. As the International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies exercises double blind peer-review, it takes, normally, weeks for the reports of the reviewers. Authors can expect the initial report and decision on their manuscript after weeks from the date of submission. The final decision, communicated to the authors, can be conditional in most cases or unconditional acceptance, a rejection, or an invitation to revise and resubmit. Resubmission is invited if only appropriate changes are envisaged to have been eventually made. The manuscripts, revised and resubmitted by the authors, are sent again to the reviewer to check if the suggested changes, and the issues raised, are addressed. If approved, the paper is published online immediately in Online First section of the journal. If it is not approved by the reviewer, the manuscript is sent back, again, to the author to revise thoroughly addressing the issues raised by the reviewer. The author needs to revise and re-revise the manuscript till the reviewer approves it for publication. The editor-in-chief reserves the right to make any necessary changes in the review process, if the need arises. The International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies office guides and assists all the authors while completing the required final procedures. Accepted manuscripts will be charged USD for publication processing. The fees are to be paid after the acceptance of the manuscript submitted. Authors of the accepted manuscripts will have to pay the amount charged before their articles are published online. The views expressed by the authors, in their papers, are of their own and not of the journal, editor, owner or publisher. By submitting papers to the International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies, the authors represent that their text, and any illustrations thereto, comply with national and international copyright laws and they solely bear the responsibility of any legal issues related to these. The International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies is not responsible for any claims or liabilities, whatsoever, under such laws. The editor, owner, and publisher of the International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies do not accept any responsibility regarding any unsolicited publication material, authenticity, accuracy of data, statement, opinions and results.

DOWNLOAD PDF INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND TRANSLATION STUDIES

Chapter 3 : Target. International Journal of Translation Studies

Description: The IJ-ELTS: International Journal of English Language & Translation Studies is an indexed, double blind peer-reviewed, open-access, quarterly, research e-journal for researchers, scholars, teachers, students, luminaries and policy makers associated with the professions of teaching, learning and assessing English language.

Chapter 4 : International Journal of Language and Linguistics :: Science Publishing Group

(International Journal of English Language & Translation Studies is an indexed, peer-reviewed, open-access, quarterly, research journal for researchers, scholars, teachers, students, luminaries and policy makers associated with the professions of teaching, learning and assessing English language, literature, linguistics and translation studies across the entire globe.

Chapter 5 : IJ-ELTS| FOR AUTHORS

Information about the open-access journal International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies in DOAJ. DOAJ is an online directory that indexes and provides access to quality open access, peer-reviewed journals.

Chapter 6 : English Journal | International Journal of English Research

International Journal of English Language & Translation Studies is an indexed, peer-reviewed, open-access, research quarterly which aims to generate and disseminate new, high quality knowledge about English language teaching, literature, linguistics and translation studies as well as to promote advanced researches and best practices in these.

Chapter 7 : Asian Economic and Social Society

International Journal of English Language & Translation Studies International Journal of English Language & Translation Studies. 2(2), Retrieved from.

Chapter 8 : International Journal of Comparative Literature and Translation Studies

International Journal of English Language and Translation Studies Vol:1, Issue: 3 English." International Refereed &

DOWNLOAD PDF INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND TRANSLATION STUDIES

Indexed Journal of English Language & Translation Studies.

Chapter 9 : John Benjamins Publishing

International Journal of Comparative Literature and Translation Studies (IJCLTS) is a double-blind peer-reviewed academic journal published by Australian International Academic Centre PTY. LTD.