

Chapter 1 : either/or questions to ask anyone

Many of these phrases to help spur conversation work wonderfully when trying to get a child to discuss what he read. I work with parents of struggling readers and I share with parents the need to be present, in the conversation, and have some knowledge about the book as well so you can go deep into the discussion, and it isn't all one sided.

We are actually sitting down to a meal together! With our hectic schedules lately, this is a huge achievement, especially since eating dinner together is one of the key ways a family can stay connected. Without thinking, I let a certain question slip out of my mouth. Can you guess what question I asked her? Truth be told, after a typical crazy-busy day, I never know what I should ask her as we eat spaghetti or chicken or whatever I have attempted to whip up for dinner. What are the qualities that make a good friend? What is one thing you could have done better today? If you could trade places with Mom or Dad for a day, what would you do differently? What would you do to entertain yourself if you were stranded on an island? If you were invisible for a day, where would you go and what would you do? What do you think college will be like? What is your favorite smell? If you could have dinner with anyone past or present, whom would it be and why? What is your favorite time of day? What living person do you most admire -- and why? Name three qualities you would find in a great teacher. Look into the future. Where will you be in 10 years? If you could live in any home in a TV show or movie, which home would you choose? What should we do more of as a family? If you could have any superpower, which would you choose? If you could go anywhere in the world for a vacation, where would it be? If you could pick your own name, what would it be? Name one thing that you would never sell, for any price. If you could be a famous person for a week, whom would you be? If you could get rid of one thing on this earth forever, what would it be? What is something you want to learn how to do? If you could go to one point in history, what time or event would you choose to visit? Which character in a book is most like you? What color is the happiest color? What makes it happy? How would you describe yourself to someone who has never met you? How much money would it take for you to give up your favorite food forever? The house is on fire! You only have five minutes to get out! What do you grab to take with you? Name two things we do as a family that you love. If you could only keep one toy, which one would you keep? If money were no object, what would you like to collect? If you had the attention of the world for just 10 seconds, what would you say? What is your favorite type of weather? If you were the first person to greet an alien from outer space, what is the first thing you would say? What would you ask it? If you could change one thing about yourself, what would you change? What is the best meal Mom or Dad cooks? Look to the person on your right. Ask him or her any question! What is something you have learned from a book? If you were president, what would be the toughest part of the job? How about the most fun? You can spend one day being super big or super small. Which would you choose to be and why? What is the most annoying thing you can think of? Create a new animal. What would it look like? How would it behave? What would you have people do on that day? Print out this article, cut the questions into little pieces of paper, and place them in a jar on the table, so they are always handy. How often do you have dinner together as a family? Heather Chaet documents her mini parenting successes, epic mommy fails, and everything in between for a plethora love that word! While her online persona is found at heatherchaet.com.

Chapter 2 : Ice-Breaker Games For Children

This list of get to know you questions can help. Update: Many school educators have used this free resource to help children learn English (ESL conversations). These simple "get to know know you" questions are perfect to break the ice and get kids talking.

These are conversation starters, not introductions. Start by introducing yourself and having some small talk. Then, use these to spark a discussion. Here are 25 getting to know you conversation starters: If you could choose to be one character from Harry Potter, who would you be? Are you more of the Harry or Lord Voldemort type? If your entire life was a movie, what title would best fit? Would you rather have a photographic memory or gain an extra 40 IQ points? Would you prefer your mind to be a steel trap or a problem-solving machine? Would you rather never have internet access again or never be able to take an airplane again? Both expand your horizons. Do you prefer to explore the world digitally or in person? Would you rather be an amazing dancer or be great at math? This question reveals a lot about their culture, beliefs and family ties. Questions about childhood memories always bring us closer and bring about a relaxed but personal conversation. Music is something to share and enjoy together. Talk about that transcendent sonic experience you once had. This is a great question on a first date as it will tell if you and your date have a similar sense of humor. What are your three favorite albums? Knowing what types of music people like will give you a great peek into who they really are. Would you rather explore a new planet, or the deepest parts of the ocean? Some of the greatest undiscovered mysteries are here on Earth, but nobody knows what deep space holds. If it were possible to colonize Mars in our lifetime, would you go? Why or why not? Their eagerness or lack thereof to leave behind everything they know could be telling. Music is always one of the best conversation starters. Talking about playing an instrument often leads to conversations about your favorite songs, concerts, and musicians. If it were possible, would you own a pet dinosaur? If so, which one and why? Which historical figure would you most like to be? Your idols say a lot about you. This question helps you to understand what type of person they strive to be. Just like there are cat and dog people, there are spring, summer, fall, and winter people. If you could go back to school, would you choose the same major? Passions change and so do people. Who was your favorite cartoon character as a child? Nostalgia is a great way to connect, especially with someone roughly your own age. And what did you eat? The fastest way to get to know someone is through their stomach! If you had to read an entire encyclopedia, which letter would you choose? Would you go with X to get it over with as quickly as possible? What was your favorite subject in school? This is a straightforward question that can help you to understand why they do what they do now. Which famous person would you like to best friends with? The people you surround yourself with say a lot about you – even in a hypothetical scenario. Which one of your friends would make the best U. The answer to this question will tell you which friends a person admires the most and usually which they admire the least. These questions tend to work with anyone. Here are 28 best get to know you questions: If you could live in a book, TV show, or movie, what would it be? This simple question will tell you a lot about a person. What genre did they choose? If you could bring one musician back from the dead, who would it be and why? The type of music a person listens to can tell you a lot about them. If you had to choose to live without one of your five senses, which one would you give up? Which of the five senses could they live without? What animal best represents you and why? Bold like a lion? Loyal like a dog? What would you do if you were the president of your own country? If you could take only three items with you to a deserted island, what would they be? What matters most to a person? Are the items they choose based on survival? What would you bring? If you could have one superpower, what would it be and how would you use it? Common answers include flight, laser-beam eyes, x-ray vision, invisibility, and the power to freeze time. One superpower – so many choices. If you could time travel, would you go to the past or the future? Do they like the way things were? Do they want something new? This great conversation starter has the potential to stir up plenty of laughs or a serious discussion, depending who you ask. It also gives them a chance to brag about their adventures or misadventures a bit. If you could have dinner with any one person, living or dead, who would they be and why? If your house was burning and you could only save one item, what would it be and why? The possession that they choose will reveal what they care most about. How do you define love? Love is one of those intangible concepts that everyone experiences in their own unique way. If you could have the answer to any question, what would that question be? This is the one of the best questions to ask to get to know someone since it helps them open up. It provides insight into the biggest unanswered question they have about their past, present, or future. What are you most grateful for? Why did you choose your profession? A good follow up to this question is to ask whether they would quit their job and change their profession if they had the chance. How would your best friends describe you? Your friends are a barometer for truth. If you could change one law, what would it be? This thought-provoking question always produces a list of surprising answers. If you could speak another language, which would it be and why? This simple question opens up discussions about traveling abroad, common interests, world cuisine, and trips around the globe. Would you rather be a Jack of many trades or a master of one? If you could change one event from history, what would it be? Questions that give you the theoretical power to alter reality are a great way to find out what a person values on a more fundamental level. If you could bring one fictional character to life, who would it be and why? This is similar to 72 but adds a fun twist: If you could bring any fictional character into YOUR world, who would it be? Would you rather live in the city or the woods? What teacher inspired you the most? We all remember that special teacher that either pushed us harder than the rest, or inspired us through their support and kindness. If you were head of a major TV station for one day, what would you play?

Chapter 3 : Fun Questions to Ask Your Kids at Dinner Time - Our Three Peas

Fun Get to Know You Questions for Kids The best way to use ice breaker questions for kids at any event is to make a game out of them. You.

They are designed to get better acquainted with the people at your party, office, family reunions, etc. Some questions are simple. Some are thought provoking. If you are in the right crowd, you could even ask a little deeper questions. You have to gauge the circumstances of the event and the ages of the people on your guest list. There are several get to know you questions on this page to choose from. Use them while playing some of the games you will find at our Get to Know You Games section. Also great used with many of our Ice Breaker Games. This list should help you get started writing your own unique, funny, witty, silly, embarrassing, spicy and entertaining get to know you questions. How many brothers and sisters do you have? If you were a vegetable, which one would you be? If you were a fruit, which one would you be? If your spouse described you as an animal, which animal would it be? What is your favorite thing to do? What is your favorite food? What is your favorite book? What is your favorite candy bar? What is your favorite cookie? What is your favorite sport? What is your favorite kind of music? What is your favorite song? What do you want to be when you grow up? Do you consider yourself grown up? Why or why not? How many kids do you want when you get married? What place you would like to know about? What place would you like to visit? What is your favorite thing about your mom? What is your favorite thing about your dad? What is your favorite thing about yourself? What makes you laugh? Do you play a musical instrument? What is your favorite type of art? Have you ever seen a Broadway musical? Do you like theater? Do you like building things? What would you like to teach others about? What are three adjectives which describe you? How would your friend describe you to someone who has never seen you? In five years, what kind of person will you be? In ten years, what kind of person will you be? What do you want to be doing in five years? What do you want to be doing in ten years? What are your favorite subjects in school? When you have an hour of free time, what do you like to do? What is your favorite movie? What is the strangest thing you ever did? What is the strangest food you ever ate? Who is your favorite historical figure? If you could each lunch with anyone living, who would it be? If you could spend a day with someone who has passed on, who would it be? Do you like to sing? Do you like to dance? What was your most embarrassing moment? What is the stupidest thing you have ever done? If you could be dictator for a week, what would you change? What three items would you take if you knew you were going to stranded on a tropical island for a year? What do you fear the most? What is the most recent dream you can remember? A genie in a bottle grants you one wish. Other than world peace, what is your wish? What is your favorite season and why? What is your best physical feature? You have one day left to live, how do you spend it? Who is your favorite movie star? What is the nicest thing anyone has ever done for you? What do you say when you talk in your sleep? If you were invisible for a month, what would you do? What is one thing about you that no one here knows? Who is your favorite Disney princess and why? If you could only watch on TV show for the next year, which would it be? What dessert do you order most often? Who do you admire? Which would you prefer as a second home: Mountain cabin, beach house or big city condo? What would you do on your dream date?

Chapter 4 : Good Get to Know You Questions - Highly effective questions to ask.

Getting to Know You Questions Working with a group of new people and need some conversation starters? Break the ice and get to know people better by selecting several of these get-to-know-you questions.

It helped to get a feel for each students communication abilities and it was a fun way to break the ice. These are not the best questions but feel free to copy them and use them for your own getting to know you activities. Click read more for the full list. What is your name? What is your favorite color? What is your favorite video game? What do you like to do for fun? How many people are in your family? Do you have a favorite singer or band? What grade are you in? Do you like sports, which ones? Do you have a favorite animal? What is your favorite game? Do you like to sing, what songs? If you could be an animal what would you be and why? Have you ever met anyone famous? Where would you go for your dream vacation and why? What job would you never do and why? Do you like to read, what books? What is the bravest thing you have ever done? Are you a talker or a listener? What would your friends say about you? What is your favorite T. Do you have a nickname? What subject do you like best in school and why? Who is the smartest person you know? What food will you never eat? Which cartoon character are you most like and why? What do you worry about? What is your favorite sport? If you were in a band, what instrument would you play? Are you afraid of heights? What should you never forget? Are you a cat person or a dog person? Describe your best friend. If you could turn invisible, where would you go and what would you do? Have you ever pretended to speak another language just for the fun of it? What are you going to be for Halloween? What is the best thing about being in your grade? What was your favorite vacation?

Chapter 5 : 50 New Get To Know Me Tag Questions No One Asks â€“ Edition

If you are looking to get to know someone even better, you can jump to the next set of questions. The next set of questions are a little more personal or in depth. You probably wouldn't want to ask these questions to folks you just met, but they are perfect for friends you want to get to know a little better.

What did you do for last birthday? If you could have the perfect birthday party, what would it be? What is your favorite food? What is your favorite kind of ice cream? What is your favorite kind of candy? What is your favorite color? What is your favorite zoo animal? What is your favorite time of the year? Is your bedroom decorated? How is it decorated? Do you have to share your bedroom with anyone? If you could receive one thing in the whole world as a present right now, what would it be? What do you want to be when you get older? What is the silliest thing you have ever said or done? What do you like to spend your allowance on? Questions About School Where do you go to school? What grade are you in? Do you like the grade you are in more or less than last year? Do you ride the bus to school? What is your favorite thing to study at school? What are you studying in school right now in math? What is your least favorite thing to study? Do you have lots of homework to do each night? Who is your best friend? What do you like to play at recess? Do you ever stay home from school sick? When was the last time you stayed home? Questions About Their Activities What do you like to do for fun? Do you play sports? What is your favorite position to play? Does your team have a name? What is your favorite thing to do on the weekend? Do you prefer to spend your time inside or outside? Do you like to draw? What kinds of things do you draw? What do you do when you get home from school? Do you like to do puzzles? What about word puzzles? Does your family go on a vacation each year? Where does your family go on vacation? Where is the most exciting place you have been in the past year? Do you have a bike? What does it look like? Why do you like it? What is your favorite movie ever? What was the last movie you saw? Did you like it or not, and why? What is the best toy that you have? Do you like to read? What is your favorite book? What is your favorite computer game? Do you like to play video games? What kind of video game system do you have? What is your favorite game to play on the Wii, Xbox, etc? Do you like to go out to eat? What is your favorite place to eat? What kind of music do you like? What is your favorite song? Do you like to dance? Do you know how to play any instruments? Do you have a favorite Bible verse? What is the funniest name in the Bible? Do you pray to God every day? What types of things do you pray for? Who brings you to church mom, dad, grandma, grandpa, etc. Do you like coming to church? When you think of God, how do you picture him? Why do you think Jesus decided to come and die for our sins? Do you talk to your Mom and Dad about Jesus and the Bible? Do you tell other people about Jesus? Who have you told about Jesus recently? What is your least favorite thing that we do here each week? What have we done in the past that you would like to see again? Why or why not? I happen to be blessed by God to be one of those people who actually loves talking to kids many times more so than talking to adults. I enjoy engaging them, relating to them, chatting with them and learning from them. There are, however, a lot of people who love kids but just find sitting across the table from them and trying to have a conversation about as daunting and foreign as sitting across the table from an alien life form trying to learn about their planet. In order to help, I have compiled a list of questions and conversation starters to get kids talking. Much like any conversation, the key is to just get it started then it tends to take on a life of its own. There are literally thousands upon thousands of things you can talk to a child about. The more you get to know them and invest in their lives the deeper and more meaningful your conversations will become. In the meantime, hopefully this list will help give you some ideas on where to start when it comes to talking to kids.

Chapter 6 : Get To Know You Questions for Kids â€™ blog.quintoapp.com

Getting to know the kids is the fun part of therapy. The first week of school I quickly wrote down these questions, printed them and cut them into individual question strips and put them in a box. We played games, read the questions and talked for our first session.

Jul 01, Its kind of a waste of time! What is your favorite Primary song? What is your favorite nursery rhyme? What is your favorite subject in school? What is your favorite flavor of jelly beans? Which flavor of ice-cream do you prefer? What do you think is your very best feature or characteristic? What is your strongest talent? Do you play a musical instrument, if so which one s? What do you usually do when you have leisure time on your hands? What is your favorite season and why? If you could go anywhere in the world where would you go? What is your favorite color? Who is your best friend and how did you meet? What is your favorite home cooked meal? What is your favorite grab and go meal? Do you prefer to wear pants or dresses? How many siblings do you have? What is you favorite snack? When do you usually do your homework? What is your favorite electronic device? If you could be any animal which one would you prefer to be and why? What kind of vehicle do you usually ride in? Do you have pets? When was the last time you visited a park and what did you do while there? What is your favorite sport to watch? Which sport do you most enjoy actively participating in? What do you usually do when you meet someone for the first time? When was the last time you stayed or hosted a sleepover with friends? If you have to dress and leave in a hurry what is the one thing you can easily cut out of your routine? Do you plan to go to college? What job do you think you would most enjoy as an adult? Do you hope to have children of your own? If so how many. What was the last item you cooked and ate? How many books did you read last year? Where did you spend your last family vacation? Do you have relatives in other states? If so, which ones? Have you ever made jell-o? What size shoe do you wear? How many pairs of shoes do you currently own? Which one fashion accessory do you like better than others? Do you have chores at home you are responsible for? If you were called on to serve a mission where would you least like to serve? If you were called on to serve a mission where would you most like to serve? What age do you consider old? Which birthday are you most looking forward to and why? Do you prefer pens or pencils? Do you like your handwriting? Were you named after anyone? When did you last visit the zoo? Have you ever stayed on a farm? Have you ever been horseback riding? Have you ever been water skiing? What do you most like to do in the snow? What is your favorite all-time movie? Can you change a tire? Is your room more clean or more messy? Do you prefer a bath or a shower? What do you prefer to drink with your morning meal? If you had to be stranded on a deserted island with one person who would you want that one person to be? Which animal would you most like for your pet? Do you like sweet treats or salty treats? Have you ever sung in the shower? Do you find it easy to save money? Do you get an allowance? Do you have more friends that are boys or girls? Which do you prefer you had - straight or curly hair? What color eyes do you most like? Do you prefer colored or white socks? What would you say is your normal exercise routine? Have you ever had acrylic nails? Have you ever colored your hair? What do you do when something funny happens? How do you earn money? Do you like to dance? Are you on any teams or in any clubs in your school? If so which ones? Where do you keep your spending money? Do you save trinkets and mementos? Did you have a favorite toy as a child? Do you share a bedroom? Do you like drinking from the cup or a straw? Do you like ice in your cold beverages? What is your favorite sandwich? Do you carry floss in your purse? Where is the farthest you have ever traveled? Do you have family members who live in another country? If so, which family members and where do they live. Which family member do you most resemble? Which family member are you more like? What is the weirdest thing that has ever happened to you? Do you live in a house, trailer or apartment, etc.? Have you ever won anything? If so, what did you win? Do you prefer fresh air or air conditioned air? Do you prefer mountainous or flat regions?

Chapter 7 : Crayon Freckles: 50 Questions to Ask Kids {plus free printable}

You can use these questions to start conversations with your kids during dinnertime or snuggle time. Or you can ask your kids these questions each year and see how their answers change as they grow.

This is a tradition that I try to keep most nights of the week, especially as my kids get older. Not only is this a time eat a meal, but it is a time to communicate with one another. I am firm believer that open communication and being interested in what your children are doing: Obviously there is more to that, but showing your kids that you love them and are there to LISTEN to them, is a great way for them to feel comfortable coming to you if that actually develop a problem later in their teen years. If you are stuck on ideas of what to ask, I am sharing fun questions to ask your kids at dinner time so you can turn dinner time into fun time! Ready to have some fun? Use this list of question to talk with your kids at dinner time. What was your favorite part of the day? What was your least favorite part of the day? What do you want to be when you grow up? What makes a good friend? Describe yourself in one word. If you could make your own movie, what would you call it? If you had to give all of your toys away, who would you give them to? What is your favorite word? If you could change one thing about the world, what would it be? If you could build anything in the backyard, what would it be? If you had one super power- what would it be? If you could go anywhere, where would you go? If you had to leave home for an emergency, what 3 things would you take? What do you like best about your sister? What two things do you like about YOU best? What do you think you need to work on? If you were President, what would you do first? What do you miss about being little? What do you think your first job will be? Who do you admire the most? What do you like most about school? What do you like least about school? What goal to you have for this year? If you could eat one food everyday, what would it be? If you could meet anyone from history, who would it be? If you could be any animal for a day, what would you be? If you were invisible for a day, what would you do? If you went back in time, what would you do? If you could make one law, what would it be? If you could shrink down to ant-sized, what would you do? If you were feet tall, what would you do? What do you like better: Do you like swimming or sledding better? If you could invent an app, what would it do? Would you rather always wear wet clothes or never shower again? Would you rather only communicate with a Light Brite or an Etch a Sketch? Would you rather always feeling like you have to sneeze or that you are always being tickled? Would you rather have tentacles for arms or legs? Would you rather wear your shoes on the wrong feet or wear your pants backwards? Would you rather skydive or scuba dive? Would you rather spend a night in a cemetery or a haunted house? Would you rather be invisible or walk through walls? Would you rather go back in time or into the future? Would you rather see everything in slow motion or in fast forward? Would you rather be alone or with friends? Would you rather drink chocolate milk or hot chocolate? Would you rather crawl or hop everywhere? Would you rather be at the beach or a huge playground? Would you rather have a pet monkey or reindeer? Would you rather listen to music or read a book? Would you rather have a car that could fly or go underwater? Would you rather eat lettuce or carrots? Would you rather eat cake or ice cream? Would you rather clean your room or the table after dinner? Would you rather have a pet goat or chicken? Would you rather have a robot or space ship? Would you rather camp in a tent or a camper? Would you rather go to school on a bus or giant dinosaur? Would you rather have an otter or dolphin in your bathtub? Would you rather have blue hair or blue feet? Would you rather have a bucket stuck on your hand or foot? Would you rather go to the doctor or dentist? Would you rather take a train ride or airplane ride? Would you rather be inside all day or outside all day? Would you rather live in the city or a farm? Would you rather get rid of the TV or your tablets? Would rather go to the mountains or the bottom of the sea? Would you rather have a squirrel tail or deer antlers? Would you rather walk on your hands everywhere or roll everywhere? Would you rather do all of the cooking or all of the cleaning? Would you rather have a clown nose or a clown wig? Would you rather live years ago or years in the future? Would you rather eat only pizza or only hotdogs for a month? Would you rather live in Antarctica or in space for a year? Would you rather eat all hot foods or all cold foods? Would you rather drink milk or water with every meal? Would you rather have a small house or a small car? Would you rather shovel snow or rake leaves? Would you rather have to put ketchup on everything or have no dessert again? Would you rather drive a race car or a jet plane? Would you rather have a dinosaur or a giant whale as a pet? Would you rather were a swim suit in a snowstorm or a snow suit in a swimming pool? Would you rather eat dinner naked or take a shower with your clothes on? There you have it: I know your kids will love these, mine always do!

Chapter 8 : Get to know you questions - The Game Gal

It's important we let kids know their imagination and desire to know more is a wonderful thing, and it turns out we can help achieve this not just by answering our kids' many questions, but by.

Whether it be shy or outrageous. People desire to get famous. They love to get the attention of the people around them. Are you one of them? Do you like to get recognized in a large crowd? Then I have a great idea for you. If you are running a YouTube channel, a blog and you want people to know about you, your personality, your likes, and dislikes, then you must try this get to know me tag. Tag questions have proved as one of the most basic resource in portraying and presenting your personality by means of a series of questions that you ask yourself in front of the camera or in blog post. People follow other people if they find interesting facts about them or if they come to know about how they are as a person. Even if you are an extrovert, still these get to know me tag question can be a source of giggle and laughter for your precious viewers. Prepare up some questions by yourself or ask the following to yourself in front of the camera: Get To Know Me Tag Questions List First I was thinking to come up with 25 get to know me questions but then ended up here with 50 get to know me tag questions which no one asks! Are you named after anyone? When was the last time you cried? Do you have kids? If no, how many do you want? If you were another person, would you be a friend of yourself? Do you use sarcasm a lot? What is your eye color? Scary movie or happy endings? Do you have any special talents? Where were you born? Do you believe in it? What are your hobbies? Do you have any pets? Do you have any siblings? What do you want to be when you grow up? Who was your first best friend? How tall are you? What is the least favourite thing about yourself? Funniest moment throughout School? How many countries have you visited? What is your Favorite drink? What would you or have you name your children? Who are some of your favorite YouTubers? Favorite memory from childhood? How would you describe your fashion sense? What phone do you have? Tell us one of your bad habits! How is your relationship with parents? One word that describes you? Are you an extrovert or introvert? Are you left or right handed? Do you consider yourself a good cook? Does your name have a special meaning? If money were no object what would you get for your next birthday? If you could live anywhere in the world where would it be? Try out the Get to know me tag and lift the barriers between your personality and what people think of you. Answer above get to know me tag questions, enjoy the fun and thank me later.

Chapter 9 : YA :-) - Just For Fun (Games): Get to know you questions Showing of 80

Get to Know You Questions are the basis for most get to know you games. They are designed to get better acquainted with the people at your party, office, family reunions, etc. Some questions are simple.

Check new design of our homepage! But communication is a very important lesson that you need to teach your children. SocialMettle Staff Last Updated: Apr 9, If your kids are timid and scared to interact with people, it is not a good sign, as this fear can lead to low confidence and stage fright. Kids always imitate their elders and try to behave like them. Strike conversations with them so that they develop the ability to start one on their own. If you are a parent or a teacher looking for some questions for kids that would help start the conversation, you can find many interesting ones in the following paragraphs. Use these ice breakers for kids either at home or for class activities so that kids find it easy to talk freely and develop their confidence. These activities help kids to socialize with other kids their age and make new friends. Like adults, even children get along with specific types of personalities, and by getting to know each other they realize who they are more comfortable with. Even though games are the easiest way of breaking the ice among kids, questions are also a great option for the same. These questions can be used at events where kids are in the age groups of 4 to 12 years, as kids this age can read quite well. The best way to use ice breaker questions for kids at any event is to make a game out of them. You can have all the children divided in groups of three or four. Write a number of funny questions on chits and place them in a bowl. Shuffle them and ask each kid to pick a chit. Make them answer the questions either to their group members or to everyone. These conversation starters for kids are a fun activity at any event. Take a look at a few such fun icebreaker questions put together just for you. Who would you like to be other than yourself? Where would you like to live, in the ocean or on the moon? If you had the chance to transport yourself, where would you go and why? Narrate one incident where you got into big trouble with your parents. What is one of your favorite things about a family member? Which food would you like to eat endlessly? If you had to give up a favorite food, what would it be and why? If you were a flavored ice cream, which one would you like to be and why? What are your favorite hobbies? What can you do for hours? What do you love about summer? What are your pet peeves or interesting things about you that you dislike? Which other name would you like to be called by if not your own? Do you like reading books? Which is your favorite of all time? Who do you consider your hero? Which animal would you prefer to be and why? What do you love to do the most in the world? Which superhero would you like to be, and why? What kind of magical power would you like to possess? With these cool and funny ice breaker questions, I hope that you found some interesting ones you can use. So, let your kids have a great time finding new friends and make the parties enjoyable.