

Chapter 1 : The Most Beautiful Short Love Stories | Planet of Success

After a few dates, it grew into true love. Harold: Two years later, in , when I was 25 and Bee was 20, we went to the local courthouse and got married. But we kept it a secret, because Bee's parents thought that she was too young.

Short Romantic Love Stories Find the best romantic love stories to inspire you to love more. A man bought 12 flowers. He said, "I will love you until the last flower dies. She asked him if he wanted to be with her forever, he said "No". Then she asked him if he would cry if she walked away, he said "No". She had heard enough; she needed to leave. As she walked away he grabbed her arm and told her to stay. Can I take a photo? I just want to show my children how their mom looked when she was younger. There was a girl named Becca and a boy named Joe. Becca was in a burning house. None of the firefighters could get in the house because the fire was too big. Joe dressed in one of the fire suits and got into the house. When he got up the stairs, the steps fell off behind him. When he got into her room he sealed the door up behind him. He held her tight, kissed her, hugged her, then said that he loved her. She asked what was wrong, and he said that he was going to die. Her eyes widened as she began to cry. He picked her up and jumped out of the four story house. He landed on his back with her on top of him. He died to save her life. There was girl who loved a boy so much she said to the boy, "If I told you that I liked you, would you take it as a joke? No this is fun. Then tell me you love me. Fine, I love you. Now give me a big hug. Girl hugs him Guy: Can you take my helmet off and put it on? In the paper the next day: A motorcycle had crashed into a building because of brake failure. Two people were on the motorcycle, but only one survived. Instead, he had her say she loved him, felt her hug one last time, then had her wear his helmet so she would live even though it meant he would die. Me and my boyfriend were out to dinner and there was an older couple sitting near us. All of a sudden I heard the older man say "Remember when we were like that? Will you let me show you that love? He accidentally cut his own finger badly with the knife, started bleeding, and knelt down in pain. His girlfriend bent down and bandaged up his finger and tended to him. There was a blind girl who was filled with animosity and despised the world. Suddenly, one day someone donated her a pair of eyes. She was astonished to see that her boyfriend was blind. He told her, "You can see me now, can we get married? I just want you to always be happy. Take care of yourself, and my eyes. I would like you to do something important for me. When you get home today, thank your mom for me. Thank her because she gave birth to an angel who was put into my life and one day whom I hope will become my wife. When my boyfriend and I were 15, he wanted to give me a piggy back ride, but I refused because I thought I was too fat. One night a guy and a girl were driving home from the movies. The boy sensed there was something wrong because of the painful silence they shared between them that night. The girl then asked the boy to pull over because she wanted to talk. She told him that her feelings had changed and that it was time to move on. At that moment, a drunk driver was speeding down that very same street. He swerved right into the drivers seat, killing the boy. Miraculously, the girl survived. When I asked why, he took out a list. It was reasons long, and he said he had a pen in his pocket in case he remembered any new reasons. A boy was dating a girl who always hurt him. She realized that she loved the boy, so she went back and said to him, "Give me just one more chance. I love you and I need you. I promise that I will never hurt you again. She told me there was a new kid at school who was deaf and she wanted to befriend him. Today I stood beside her at their wedding watching her sign "I do". There was a girl who was playing in the park when she saw a picture in a bush. She kept the photo but forgot about it until she was married. Her husband asked, who is that little boy in her wallet. She answered; "My first love. Can I confess something? Can I confess something as well? This smile only exists because Of you! Today my boyfriend came over and met my parents for the first time. After he left, my dad told me, "Your boyfriend loves you. I moved away in 5th grade so we had to break up. Years later, I moved back and I saw him at the mall the and he was still wearing the bracelet. We are getting married next year! My boyfriend lost his wallet one day. He spent hours looking for it at the park where we spent the day together. I found his wallet at my house. He had no money, credit cards, or other valuables in it. The only thing in it was the first letter that I had written to him.

Chapter 2 : Love Stories Intimates (@lovestoriesintimates) â€¢ Instagram photos and videos

8 Stories of First Loves That Will Touch Your Heart This Valentine's Day From stories of playground crushes to smooth-talking bad boys, members of the Reader's Digest contributor.

We hope they do the same for you. I bet you miss seeing that beauty on a daily basis. In fact, I see it more now than I used to when we were young. Doctors initially said he would never walk again. My daughter came with me several times to visit him at the hospital. Then she started going on her own. He was on his way to the airport to go to Afghanistan for a year. He showed up at my house this evening dressed in a tuxedo and took me as his date to his prom. They rolled down the windows and turned up some jazz music on the radio. Then the man got out of the car, walked around to the passenger side, opened the door for the woman, took her hand and helped her out of her seat, guided her about ten feet away from the car, and they slow danced for the next half hour under the oak tree. MMT Today, I operated on a little girl. She needed O- blood. I explained to him that it was a matter of life and death. He sat quietly for a moment, and then said goodbye to his parents. MMT Today, my dad is the best dad I could ask for. But I swear I will make things right for my little girl. I will be the dad I never had. You are my world. He can rarely remember his own name, and he often forgets where he is and what he said just a few minutes beforehand. But by the stretch of some miracle perhaps the miracle of love , he remembers who is wife is every morning when she shows up to spend a few hours with him. MMT Today is our 10th anniversary, but since my husband and I are both recently unemployed we agreed not to get each other any gifts. When I woke up this morning, my husband was already up. I walked downstairs to find beautiful wild flowers brilliantly arranged all over the house. MMT Today, my year-old grandmother and her 17 year old cat are both blind. When her cat meows, he walks up and rubs against her, and then she follows directly behind him to her food, to the litter box, to the other end of the house for a nap, etc. MMT Today, I watched in horror through the kitchen window as my 2-year-old slipped and fell head first into the pool. But before I could get to her, our Labrador Retriever, Rex, jumped in after her, grabbed her by her shirt collar and pulled her to the shallow steps where she could stand. MMT Today, my older brother has donated bone marrow 16 times to help treat my cancer. He communicates directly with my doctor and does it without me even asking or knowing when he has an appointment. And today my doctor informed me that the treatment appears to be working. Your grandmother loves flowers. They put a smile on her face. And my daughter, who is almost 15 now, has two younger brothers. I re-read my suicide letter from time to time as a reminder to be thankful â€” I am thankful I got a second chance at life and love. MMT Today, and every day for the last two months since I returned to school with burn scars on my face after being hospitalized for nearly a month for injuries I sustained in a house fire, a red rose was taped to my locker when I got to school in the morning. I have no clue who is getting to school early and leaving me these roses. When I was a kid he used to hum a short melody to me as I was going to sleep. When I was 18, as he rested in his hospital bed fighting cancer, the roles were reversed and I hummed the melody to him. His mom used to hum it to him when he was a kid. MMT Today, a woman who must have her voicebox removed due to cancer is enrolled in my sign language class. Her husband, four children, two sisters, brother, mother, father, and twelve close friends are also enrolled in the same class so they can communicate with her after she loses her ability to speak aloud. MMT Today, my year-old son speaks fluent sign language because his best friend, Josh, who he grew up with from the time he was an infant, is deaf. Seeing their genuine friendship evolve and grow over the years MMT. In fact, she plays a game every day in which she tries to get my grandfather to ask her to re-marry him before dinnertime. MMT Today, my dad passed away from natural causes at the age of I found his body resting peacefully in the recliner in his bedroom. She was the love of his life, and apparently the last thing he wanted to see before he passed. MMT Today, I am the proud mom of a blind year-old boy. The way they looked at each otherâ€¦ you could see they were in love. You two have been together forever. We both outlived our spouses and then life blessed us with one more shot at love. She was abducted near Mexico City almost 5 months ago. Authorities stopped actively searching for her a few weeks later. My mom and I laid her soul to rest. We had a funeral for her last month. All of our family and friends attended the ceremony except my father. Instead he kept looking for her. MMT Today, there are two senior boys at my school who have an openly gay relationship. Despite threats and vandalized lockers, they showed up to prom this evening wearing matching tuxedos. Seeing them on the dance floor, smiling from ear to ear in spite of all the haters MMT. Today, my sister and I were in a bad car accident. My sister is Mrs. Popular at school " she knows everyone. My sister immediately posted a comment on Facebook about our accident. And while all her friends were commenting, my 2 friends showed up independently at the scene of the accident before the paramedics arrived. Yesterday he was just my boyfriend, or so I thought. Almost a year ago, he mailed me a package. But then his tour got extended for another 11 months. Today, when he got home, he told me to open the package, and just as I pulled the ring out of the box, he got down on one knee. MMT Today, my year-old son, Sean, and I stopped by the nursing home together for the first time in several months. I had no idea. MMT Today, I found an old hand written note my mom wrote when she was a senior in high school. On it is a list of qualities she hoped she would someday find in a boyfriend. Then this afternoon, at lunchtime, she ran up to me and formally asked me to ask her to the dance. My grandma passed away from cancer in when I was 7. This evening when I was at his house, my grandpa caught me staring at the photo. MMT Today, I met the prettiest woman on a plane. We have a date set for next Saturday after we return home. At 17 I got pregnant with twins. But I pressed forward, worked full-time while attending school, graduated high school and college, and met a guy in one of my classes who has loved my children like his own for the last 50 years. MMT Today, on my 29th birthday, I returned home from my 4th and final tour of duty overseas. He is 3 years older than her. They started dating when she was 14 and he was I never liked the age difference when they were kids. When he turned 18 a week before she turned 15, my husband insisted they break-up. They maintained a friendship, but went on to date other people. MMT Today, after I heard that my mom stayed home from work with the flu, I stopped by Wal-Mart on my way home from school to pick her up some canned soup. I ran into my dad who was already in the check-out line. My dad makes me smile and MMT. Today, I was sitting on a hotel balcony watching 2 lovers in the distance walk along the beach. As they got closer, I realized they were my parents. My parents almost got divorced 8 years ago. MMT Today, at the age of 72, nearly 15 years after my grandfather passed away, my grandmother remarried. Today, at a jazz club in San Francisco I saw a man and woman enjoying a drink together. The woman was a dwarf and the man must have been 6 feet tall. Later in the evening they went out onto the dance floor. The man got down on his knees so they could slow dance together. They danced the rest of the night. I was sleeping in a sofa chair in her hospital room.

Chapter 3 : Love and Romance Stories

Once a guy said to a girl: "Love is like a rainbow, it's colourful and makes people smile. Love is like an ocean, it's deep and beautiful. Love is like the sun, it shines and it's warm."

Share1 Shares 2K Movies constantly bombard us with unrealistic expectations of love. Real life, meanwhile, tells us that most relationships are poor, nasty, brutish, and short. Read on to restore your faith in love. It was there that she met an American professor named Woodford McClellan. Irina and Woodford fell in love and married two years later in May. Woodford tried to visit his wife in Moscow but was repeatedly denied entry. In turn, Irina was denied permission to leave the country, without explanation. The two newlyweds marked their anniversaries with cards, photographs, and phone calls. Over 11 years later, Irina finally received the green light to move to the United States. Her husband, whom she had last seen a decade ago in an airport thousands of miles away, greeted her with excitement and open arms. Reporters there captured the heartwarming reunion, and Irina further captured the experience in a book— Of Love and Russia: Siberian Times Anna Kozlov had only been a newlywed for three days when she bid her husband Boris adieu. He was off to fight in the Red Army and she would await his return—or so they thought. Boris spent years looking for her. The two shared a hometown, but Anna was barred from visiting it, so the two completely lost contact. Anna was so distraught that she seriously contemplated suicide. Boris, unbeknownst to her, did the same. Years passed, and both lost their spouses. Anna at last managed to visit their shared hometown of Borovlyanka when she saw an elderly man in the distance. In true fairytale fashion, they had a second wedding and lived happily ever after. Kent Online The Notebook famously tells of a woman who suffers from dementia and her husband who reads their story to her to remind her of her life. Jack and Phyllis Potter are the real life British version—in his early 90s, Jack Potter refuses to let the love of his life slip away into the solitude of dementia. Jack started keeping a journal when he was a child, and he kept up the practice his entire life. When Jack met Phyllis on October 4, , the pages of his diary captured their romance. Danced with [a] very nice girl. Hope I meet her again. They lived in Kent, England for over half a century. She had to move into a nursing home. He visits her every day. And every day, he reads to her from his diaries. He reminds her of their family and pets with photographs. The two have now been married for 70 years. George moved from Saint John, New Brunswick to Toronto, Ontario after high school, where he got married and raised a family. Decades passed, and 61 years later, he lost his wife. He decided to revisit his old stomping grounds in Saint John, and there, Carol and George crossed paths again. The two hit it off and quickly became close friends. A romance blossomed, and George proposed to Carol in an Ontario restaurant. Forrest had been widowed twice. Rose had lost her own spouse to a long and painful illness, and she had no intention of remarrying. She just wanted companionship. Even though they lived 64 kilometers 40 mi apart, they made the effort to see each other regularly. It was a slow courtship. For the next two decades, Forrest would often drive the full distance to take Rose on a date and then drive home afterward that same night. In , Forrest moved in with Rose in Capistrano Beach. She jokingly agreed to marry him when he turned. For Forrest it was no joke, and as his hundredth birthday approached, she decided to take him up on his offer. A beautiful nearby hotel donated a free honeymoon ocean-view room. Congratulations came from all over the world. John was 21, and the two grew up in the same neighborhood. The two became friends in high school when he would pick her up and take her to their Connecticut school. The lovebirds eloped in and watched the world go through incredible transformations, from the Great Depression to World War II, from the golden age of radio to TV to iPhones. On November 24, , John and Ann Betar celebrated their 81st wedding anniversary. The couple have created quite the brood. Their five children birthed them 14 grandchildren who had 16 great-grandchildren. John, , and Ann, 98, are the longest married couple in the United States of America. Fred Stobaugh has never gotten over losing the love of his life. They had three kids and four grandchildren. After 73 years of marriage, Lorraine passed away. Fred, now 96, lived on and tried to mend his broken heart. By his own admission, Fred was tone deaf and a non-musician , but he wrote one of the most beautiful and heart wrenching songs to hit the airwaves. Green Shoe Studio was so moved that they decided to make his song come to life. When Paul died in in a car accident, they helped each other through the grieving. For many years, they had to hide the truth of their affections from the world. For decades, the couple stayed together despite country-wide homophobia, and in , the couple rejoiced when New York legalized gay marriage. The couple celebrated by showing family, friends, and reporters their relationship by spending the weekend performing love songs in their apartment. Sixty-one years after their paths first crossed, John Mace, 84, and Richard Dorr, 91, wed in a quiet ceremony in June. When they met in high school, they were instantly smitten. But as soon as they left high school at 18, the pair eloped. They lived their life in Southern California, where they raised a family. They spent every day together and even in their 90s were an active and healthy couple. After 75 years of marriage, Helen died on July 16, Les passed on the next day. Lovell After knowing her grandfather as a somber and dignified man, Judith Lovell was in awe when she discovered love letters between him and her grandmother. David Hurd had moved from Jamaica to New York City in where he took on all sorts of jobs to earn his keep. Feeling lonely, he started writing to a woman in the Caribbean. His first letter reached Avril Cato in October. Over the next year David fell head over heels for the mystery woman without ever even seeing a photograph of her. Their romance grew with each letter, sent with dabs of perfume along with the loving words. The first time they met was in Jamaica when David arrived for their wedding date in August. Sparks flew just as both had hoped. Avril left for America with David the day after their wedding. They settled into New York City and raised six children. Avril passed away in David would never marry again and loved Avril until the day he died in Kristance grew up in a haunted house in Vermont. Follow her on Twitter or read about her adventures at diggingtoroam.

Chapter 4 : 10 Amazing Stories Of Love That Will Break Your Heart - Listverse

Those love stories are full of so much passion and are so epic it makes you dream of your prince charming sweeping you off of your feet. If you have a special someone, think back to those memories.

I beg to differ. This, being the most excellent nap room, is the most sought after space in our home! Just big enough to fit the comfiest sofa with cushy pillows and throws. My husband and I bought our first home this past fall, and are so excited to be embarking on this new adventure. I turn on my coffee pot. I like to drink it but the honest truth is I like smelling it and holding the hot cup even more than drinking it! Welcome to the neighborhood! This is a community where you can share your home love stories and enjoy the stories of others. Make yourself at home! This is the cover photo of my blog designermom. Simple is best so just apples ornaments on the tree. My house actually has a red front door year-round. Maybe someday I will explain. I wanted to paint it white before I showed this to you, but there has been absolutely no time for DIY projects around here! Actually, I do like the contrast of the darker wood against the light back ground. What do you think? Do you have any suggestions? I would love to hear from you. I have just put them outside in my garden as they were starting to take over the house. I have three more in my kichen. I think these outdoor ones make a lovely colourful addition to my garden.

Chapter 5 : Love Stories Museum - Dubrovnik

Love Stories Intimates Lingerie. The days we only wore PJs to bed are over, vive la chill! These co-ord babies go just as well with a pair of sneakers during the day as they do with a sleeping mask at night.

We hope they do the same for you. So if you enjoy the stories below, be sure to check out that post as well. Today, my dad came home with roses for my mom and I. He realized how lucky he was that after 20 years of marriage, and raising a daughter for the last 17 years, he still had nothing to complain about. Diego ended up buying me a dress and a ticket, and helping my folks out with money by helping my dad, who had been unemployed for six months, find a good job. Ten years, a marriage, and one kid later, Diego still MMT. Today, on our 50th wedding anniversary, my husband took out an old envelope and handed me back the love note I wrote him in the 7th grade. On Sunday mornings I held the front door open for our customers and greeted them. One particular older woman loved me for it. She actually told me on several occasions that one day I would make a lovely husband. Since then I have developed a moderate case of a neurological disease that causes seizures. Believe it or not, the dog is able to detect my seizures before I know. She starts barking hysterically, and keys me into my episode before it starts. So today she is my service dog. The life I saved is saving me every day MMT. In the process he suffered a leg injury that doctors said would leave him unable to walk normally for life. This evening, he put down his cane and slowly walked our daughter down the aisle. My husband of 27 years always MMT. He singlehandedly got me threw one of the toughest times of my life, and in my depression I lashed out at him and dropped him from my life for selfish reasons. He answered the phone with: He came inside and handed them to my sister. She was so excited. He then took us both out to dinner to celebrate. MMT Today, I am a poor student, struggling to afford groceries and all the luxuries I was accustomed to. But every time I get a letter in the mail from my poppa telling me how much he loves me, or a phone call from my best friend just because she was thinking about me, I feel like the richest person in the world “ in those moments I feel like I have everything I need. MMT Today, my mom and dad are recovering heroin addicts. They still go to their support groups, but both of them have been clean for 17 years, since the day they found out my mom was pregnant with me. MMT Today, my grandmother passed away. It was really hard on my entire family. She was the glue that kept our family together through many hard times over the last decade. One of my close friends from college showed up at her ceremony. She paid her respects like everyone else, and gave me a huge hug before she left “ a sincere hug that helped calm me inside. But today I can also proudly say I have the privilege of calling a beautiful woman, who has no blood relation to me, my Mom. She is not my stepmom or official adopted parent. Confused, I hung up the phone and asked my daughter what she was doing with her lunches. I am so proud to be a part of your lives. MMT Today, I helped make food for the homeless. People who have nothing and still give MMT. He came up to me today, looking pretty upset, and told me what she said. One dog was missing a leg, but they were both limping. I asked what happened. She covered me with a blanket, patted my back, then kissed me gently on the mouth “ which is exactly what I do when I tuck her in at night. How closely our children watch us, and what they learn from our actions MMT. MMT Today, my baby sister wears her hair short, just like me. My hair is short because of my chemo treatment. As I angrily walked inside, I heard laughter. Sitting next to him was my boyfriend holding the laptop. We had a miscommunication about where to meet, but when he saw my brother sitting alone he decided to stay and keep him company. Today, at the nursing home I work at, I watched an elderly couple eat together as they do everyday. They have been married 63 years. Everyday he eats his food, feeds her, and sits next to her looking at her like he must have the day they were married. His unconditional, undying love and loyalty MMT. This will be the first night of the rest of our lives. After 3 years dating long distance, a 12 month deployment to Iraq, and the rest of the time spent 3 states apart due to his serving in the Army, we are finally going to be together, permanently, in one place. Today my Ex husband asked me to marry him, I said yes. We were married when I was 19, divorced later on and then our lives somehow lead our hearts back together. We are going to be married in 2 weeks, on what could have been our 16th wedding anniversary. Our children cried with joy when we told them today. MMT Today, when you dropped me off after we hung out, you called out to me as I stepped out of your car. You have no idea how much I needed that. Your true friendship MMT. Today, as I was sitting on the ledge of a cliff at a park, staring off into the distance and thinking, I turned around to see a girl almost in tears but trying to slowly walk down the ledge to where I was sitting. I got up and walked up to her and asked her what was wrong. She told me she was deathly afraid of heights, but wanted to get over her fear because I looked lonely sitting by myself, and she wanted to make sure I was okay. Her braveness and kindness MMT. One of those siblings is me. When my parents died in a car accident eight years ago, my year-old brother stepped up, got a job, and started taking care of me and my twin sister who were both 10 at the time full time. This evening my brother, who is now 26, attended our high school graduation with a proud smile on his face. MMT Today, I broke down in front of my dad, frustrated with recently coming out to my family. Who you are is who I love. And who you are is beautiful. Earlier this week my step-dad called me worried sick because he missed my call and I left a voicemail while I was crying. He was ready to drive a couple hours to my school if something had happened. His caring, and the fact that my mom found a man who loves me like his real daughter, MMT. Today, after years of struggling with my weight, and dealing with an overweight family in denial, my children age 5 and 7 rode their bikes and ran with me while I worked out. My wife started working out too. My kids are super excited about their upcoming races with me and their mom. Today, I was behind a bigger guy and his wife in line for a rollercoaster. They seemed to have come with a big group of people, but I could tell he was nervous. When he fit it into the cart tears rolled down his cheeks and the entire group started cheering. Every person around him were his friends and they were there to support him. MMT Today, I was stressing out over school and work, along with a lot of personal problems that have popped up in my life lately. In the middle of the stress, I received an email from a woman I regularly babysit for. She told me that her little daughter who I babysit cut out my picture from a news article I was in and taped it to her bedroom wall. Knowing that I matter that much to her made me smile, even today. She kept forgetting things. Her husband was so calm and understanding. He never got annoyed having to tell her everything she had forgotten. I witnessed true love at its best. Today my best friend, who has been my best friend for over 10 years, confessed that he used to be depressed in high school. I felt like a horrible friend and asked out loud how I never picked up on it. I read a few entries, and they were quite depressing. My mom has always been such a positive influence in my life, so I had no idea her past was so troubled. The final entry was written the day before I was born. I told my mom I found her journal, and asked her why she stopped keeping a journal after I was born. I finally had something amazing to live for. But every time I hear it, it reminds me of that night, dancing with him on our first official date. And that makes me smile. And since I knew her only food for the day was the slice of wheat bread I had just given her, I did not let her see me cry when she tore the slice in two and gave the bigger half to her little brother.

Chapter 6 : 60 Short Love Stories to Cheer You Up

We believe that everyone has a Plant Love Story: a story about how plants have shaped your life. We're collecting these stories to show how plants affect us all.

After all, life writes the most beautiful love stories possible. When compared to scripted love stories in movies or novels, the real-life counterpart feels a lot more genuine. In the following, you can find heartwarming short love stories from real life that not even writers could think of. These are the cute short stories about love that will help you to not forget the incredible power of love. Some of these stories are funny, others will make you smile. But they all will deeply convince you of the great power of love and how it is able to overcome every obstacle. Enjoy these awe-inspiring tales of love.

Eternal love One day at work, Amanda received a beautiful flower bouquet. In it, she counted 11 flowers and found a short note in it. It was written in beautiful lettering and said: Unsure as to what to make of the message, she went home in the evening and soaked the flowers with water. One day after another, the flowers became a little less beautiful until they all died. All but one flower. This was the day when she realized that there was one artificial flower in the bouquet that would last forever.

The bicycle ride It is the year , when Charlotte Von Sledvin, a year-old student of a Swedish royal family, travels to India to get a portrait made by a gifted artist. His reputation led Charlotte Von Sledvin to travel all the way to India to get her portrait done. By the time the portrait was finished, the two had fallen in love. Never before had he seen a more beautiful woman from the Western world. He gave his best to capture all her beauty in the portrait, yet never fully succeeded. Nonetheless, the portrait was magnificent and Charlotte fell for his simplicity and his beautiful character. Because of him, she spontaneously decided to stay longer in India. Out of a couple of days became weeks and then even months. The two had fallen so deeply in love that they decided to get married according to traditional Indian rituals. Unfortunately, the time came when Charlotte had to leave again in order to complete her studies in London. Thousands of miles separated the two but their feelings for each other never changed. They stayed in contact through letters, which they exchanged almost weekly with each other. Naturally, the newlyweds terribly struggled with the great distance between each other. Charlotte offered her husband to buy him air tickets, which he refused. He had not only decided to complete his studies first, but he had also set his mind on reuniting with the love of his life on his own terms. He even made her the promise that he would do anything he can to see her again. After Pradyumna had finished his studies, he took all his possessions and sold them. All he could afford was a cheap and used bicycle. Many would have been greatly disappointed, some would have even given up. Instead of allowing the difficult circumstances to stop him from seeing his beloved wife again, he met the decision to use what he had in order to see her again. Nothing could stop him from reuniting with his wife, even if that meant an exhausting bicycle ride half around the world. His decision was the beginning of a bicycle journey from India to the Western world. Pradyumna took all his paintings and brushes along with him in order to financially support his endeavor. His voyage led him through eight countries and took more than four months. The man who moved a mountain There are people who say love can move mountains. In one day of his life, his wife fell while crossing a nearby hill and hurt herself seriously. Tragically enough, his wife died from the serious injuries before Dashrath could do anything about it. It was the night when Dashrath Manjhi decided to carve a small path through the mountain in order to give his village easier access to medical assistance. It was an ambitious plan and he was heavily ridiculed for it. But after working for 22 years with the greatest determination and willpower, a path was carved into the hill. Even though he was initially mocked and ridiculed for his mission to give his hometown easier access to the nearby town, he finally succeeded. A well-deserved prom night Alex and his grandmother always had a unique bond with each other. She once told him that she had met his grandfather a long time after graduating from high school. This was also the reason why she was never asked out to go to prom. She had watched him save money for months so that he could afford a tuxedo and even a limousine. His grandmother eagerly waited to find out who Alex would be taking to the prom. But to her great surprise, he told her that he would be taking her to prom. He told her that every woman deserves to go to prom, no matter if they are 18 or

The second Taj Mahal The story of the building of the second Taj Mahal begins when Faizul Hasan Quadri and his wife Tajammuli Begum begin to realize that their marriage will remain childless. It is a difficult situation, especially for Tajammuli who begins to question if anyone will ever remember her after her death. Moved by his saddened wife, Faizul decided to erect her a monument so that his beautiful wife could be remembered for centuries. His decision marks the beginning of the construction of a scaled-down replica of the famous Indian monument. It has now become a location that attracts many tourists each year.

A weightlifters promise When Susann saw Matthias Steiner, an Austrian weightlifter, during a contest on TV, she immediately became interested in him. She was so determined to meet the athlete that she kept asking the TV commentators for his contact details for so long until they finally gave in. Once she had his email address, she contacted him and they both agreed to meet each other. It was love at first sight and the two married not long after meeting for the first time. The young weightlifter moved for his wife to Germany and applied for the German citizenship. He was so in love with her that he also promised her that he would one day bring her an Olympic medal. Matthias Steiner was determined to live up to his promise, but things came differently. In , his beautiful wife Susann died in a car accident. It was an unimaginable tragedy for the young man. But he remembered what he had promised his wife. It was the promise that kept him going through this difficult time. He became so determined that he was finally selected to become part of the German Olympic team at the Beijing Olympics. During the contest, Matthias Steiner was faced with incredibly challenging competitors. He had three weightlifting attempts but failed in two. Seeing his chances of ever reaching the podium diminishing, he put everything he had left into the third and final attempt. And as luck would have it, he managed to lift the incredibly heavy weight, which won him the Olympic gold medal. No arms, no legs but love

In , bomb disposal expert Taylor Morris was severely injured after the explosion of an improvised bomb in Afghanistan. The explosion took all his limbs and changed the life of the year-old US military soldier forever. While recovering from the injuries in hospital, Taylor was confronted with the painful realization that his limbs had gone. He also had to face the fact that he would be dependent on assistance for the rest of his life. It was an incredibly difficult situation not only for him but also his family and especially his long-term girlfriend Danielle. She helped him recover and took care of him during this incredibly challenging time. She never went away from his side and assisted him greatly when he learned to walk again with his new prosthetic limbs. After Taylor had recovered, he proposed to his beloved girlfriend and they got married. Years passed but Frank did not stop visiting his wife at the hospital. Even though almost everyone â€” including the doctors â€” had given up hope, he remained faithful that she would one day recover. Every time he visited her, he began talking to her, recounting all those beautiful moments they spend with each other. One day, when he showed her the video of their wedding day, she slowly began to move her hand. She whispered his name and began gaining consciousness. Several weeks after she had woken up, she had fully recovered and was finally allowed to leave the hospital for good. When the couple left, she told Frank that she heard his voice while she was in a coma and that it was his voice that was the greatest aid in helping her to return to consciousness. He missed his hometown and the company of his friends. In order to distract himself, David Hurd began searching for a potential pen-friend from his homeland. He found a woman called Avril Cato from the Caribbean who was interested in establishing a correspondence with him. The two slowly got to know each other, with one letter after the other. One year later, the two had fallen in love with each other, without having ever met. Seven years later, Avril and David met for the first time. It was the day before their wedding, as David had proposed to her shortly before. The two married and had six children. A heartwarming farewell gift

When Gene was diagnosed with melanoma, he had only been given six weeks left to live. It was a shocking diagnosis but Gene decided to use the time he had left to make all the necessary arrangements for his wife Carol, with whom he had been married for 30 years. He cashed out his pension and used the money to pay off the house they were living in.

Chapter 7 : 60 Tiny Love Stories to Make You Smile

When compared to scripted love stories in movies or novels, the real-life counterpart feels a lot more genuine. In the following, you can find heartwarming short love stories from real life that not even writers could think of.

DOWNLOAD PDF LOVE STORIES TO

Chapter 8 : Love Stories, Romantic Stories, Love Story

Note: This is a follow-up to our previous post 60 Tiny Love Stories to Make You Smile. So if you enjoy the stories below, be sure to check out that post as well. So if you enjoy the stories below, be sure to check out that post as well.

Chapter 9 : Home Love Stories

The diaries of single-lady life. Read through some of our hottest sex stories for real women by real women.