Chapter 4 : Atana Khasab, Khasab - Destination Oman

We're truly dedicated to make your travel experience as much simple and fun as possible! Musandam Tourism and Dhow Tours is a tour operator consist, group of young entrepreneurs were working with Tourism industry at Musandam Governorate in Oman.

Other practical visitor information This post is part of our series exploring family travel in the Middle East. For more on Oman and how to road trip around the country, pop over to our Oman Road Trip Guide , or head over here for more on outdoor adventures and camping. First though before we dive into it! How did the Musandam Peninsular come to be? This is truly one of the truly fascinating yet difficult to explain geography lessons! Politically, although part of Oman, it is enclave separated from the rest of the country by the United Arab Emirates. During the early part of the 20th century, boundaries were drawn up in the region and tribal elders needed to pledge their allegiances. The vast limestone khors of Musandam If you ever study the map of the UAE you will see it gets even stranger. Both of these enclaves are part of the Governate of Musandam. These smaller enclaves have no formal border crossing however your mobile phone will apparently welcome you with a message from Omantel! Geographically, the region is just fascinating. The Arabian continental plate juts on to the Eurasian plate and is apparently slowly sinking 5mm a year. Over thousands of years, the valleys of Kumzar in the far north has now filled with water. Kumzar is still attached by land, just, by Khor ash-Shams. Beneath the vast limestone cliffs, a vast amount of marine life calls these gentle waters home. As you are flying domestically there is no border control. Prices are variable, so search current timing and costs here; Boating into Musandam It is unclear the exact timetable as we write this, but it looks as though there are options to take a ferry from Muscat Shinas direct to Khasab. You can also catch a ferry from Dibba al Hisn to Khasab that takes 2. Speed ferry connecting Khasab to Muscat and the south of Oman Note you can also catch day trip boats from Dibba the enclave in the UAE, via Fujairah that take you into the waters of Musandam without touching land. Check details with each tour operator but you may not need to formally cross the border taking this option certainly saving you on visa exit and entry fees for a day trip Driving to Musandam This is the most common approach whether you are driving from the main part of Oman or starting your journey from the UAE. Approximate driving distances and times without border stoppage time which can add 30 minutes to 2 hours approximately: Muscat to Khasab 600 kms; 6 hours 15 minutes Sohar to Khasab 400 kms; 4 hours 15 minutes Ras al Khaimah to Khasab 200 kms; 2 hours 15 minutes Dubai to Khasab 400 kms; 2 hours 45 minutes Abu Dhabi to Khasab 400 kms; 4 hours Muscat to Dibba 400 kms; 4 hours 20minutes Dubai to Dibba 400 kms; 1 hour 45 minutes A guide to border crossing into Musandam The west coast crossing into Musandam if you are headed to Khasab is via the Al Darah border post, at the northern tip of Ras Al Khaimah emirate, literally where the mountains start touching the ocean. We gave a fairly detailed account on what to expect crossing into Oman in this post if you are crossing into Oman at another border crossing so you can know what to expect. Check your vehicle is insured to be driving in both the UAE and Oman. If not, you will need to purchase insurance and make sure you have the vehicle owners permission to cross the border eg if you have a hire car There are no exit fees from Oman or re-entry fees to the UAE but make sure you pull over and get passports checked at both with your insurance docs What to see and do in Musandam Get out on the water Much of the beauty of Musandam is that it cannot be reached by road, you will need to get into a boat to see the khors and fjords that make up this amazing coastline. Once in Khasab, there are many options for hiring a boat from the harbour. Some offer very specific dolphin watching tours, while others are small private vessels that can be hired for exploring deep into Kumzar and the fishing villages that literally hug the coastline which will undoubtedly include dolphin spotting too. As well as dolphin spotting, many companies also offer snorkelling, deep sea fishing, water skiing, even kayaking. Our dolphin watching experience from Khasab Some companies operate services that pick up and drop off at Dubai hotels and will take you through the whole border crossing process. The vast majority of the action is all in and around the harbour. The beach Bassah Beach is a wide sandy stretch located just before you enter the town of Khasab. There also small playparks and beaches dotted all along the coastal drive from the border up to Khasab, if the windy drive is getting too much there are plenty of beautiful little spots to pull over but all rather close to the freeway. Musandam west coast drive Where to stay in Musandam Musandam Hotels Accommodation of the four-walled variety in Musandam is fairly scarce. In Khasab, there are only a handful of hotel options to choose from. It is pretty, though facilities fairly limited, one small pool and restaurant for breakfast included, it is dry. They also have a sister hotel Atana Khasab Hotel with some great ocean views and more dining choices. No on-site facilities but a self-catering kitchen. If you are coming from the other coast of Musandam via Dibba, you can try Golden Tulip Resort Dibba with pool, kids play park area and a range of leisure facilities orâ€¦!â€¦! Best Resort in Oman If, however, you are looking for that amazing once in a lifetime experience, head to the east coast of Musandam via Dibba. Go on, tempt yourself, see how much here!!!! Camping in Musandam A popular choice for outdoor explorers and to get the most of the Musandam experience is to pitch your tent. Camping on the beach at Khasab is permitted. If you book with a private operator, many have their own magical spots away from the crowds where they will take you for an overnight experience on your own private beach, or even camp overnight on a dhow. Note camping on the beach at Dibba now is expressly prohibited. I believe mistreatment of the beach and excessive litter forced the municipality to close this off as an option. It has loads of practical advice and where you can set up camp. This covers the Musandam Peninsular. A standard salon car will easily get you up to Khasab with sealed roads all the way and extensive reinforcement works going on to stop the cliff side drive from collapsing! The official currency is Omani Rial but your dirhams may well be accepted by local operators they get a slight upside in the exchange rate using 10AED: Power plugs we saw were round two-pin not the British 3 rectangular pin; from the UAE you might need a converter plug if staying in a hotel â€” or heading out on the water and beyond just unplug altogether!! Bookmark this page or save to Pinterest for later! Have you visited Musandam yet? Need more travel inspiration? We know for newcomers it can be an exciting but daunting time trying to organise travel to a region that has not been highly commercialised and little information is available. Our friendly group of parents will advise you on the ins and outs of visiting the region and hopefully inspire you to see more too! We paid for all activities and accommodation on this trip for ourselves. We have included some affiliate links to activity and hotel partners who we trust which may earn us a small affiliate income that helps us keep this website running as a free resource for travelling parents. Also, he provided many other useful informations about Abu Dhabi. Also thank Balai our guide. Thanks once more Balai!! Amazing historical info and pleasant man! He drove safely, new his surrounds and we stopped periodically. Had a lovely snack at the Emirates Palace and, he showed us some lovely places and areas, only a long time guide would know. I had wanted to travel to Dubai and Abu Dhabi for a couple of years now, really thinking that it would never happen. An opportunity arose so I jumped at the chance. I booked this tour and learned so much about the UAE culture, country and how it evolved. The tour guide was very informative. I also got to leave with a ton of souvenirs that I purchased at one of our stops, for myself, family and friends. My only negative comment is that when I was picked up at my hotel, the driver drove about 10 minutes to another location and told me to get in the car sitting in front of us. That car had two men in it who were not wearing professional clothing or anything that indicated they represented Oceanaire Tours. I was a little worried that I was about to be kidnapped and held for ransom. One ended up being a secondary driver, and the other was was a participant of the tour. Something should have been stated in a confirmation that I might be taken to a secondary vehicle before the bus. He really made the whole experience amazing for us!
