Chapter 1 : Full text of "Judas Maccabaeus: An Oratorio, Or Sacred Drama"

Judas Maccabaeus, HWV Recitative: Not in vain is all this storm Artist English Chamber Orchestra, Wandsworth School Boys' Choir, Johannes Somary, Heather Harper & John Shirley-Quirk.

And still, as he thunders, Is fearful in praise. Against this Gorgias will I go. The Idumean governor shall know How vain, how ineffective his design, While rage his leader, and Jehovah mine. Your silver trumpets sound, And call the brave, and only brave, around. Justice with courage is a thousand men. Chorus We hear, we hear the pleasing dreadful call, And follow thee to conquest; if to fall, For laws, religion, liberty, we fall. To Heaven we leave the rest. Such generous ardour firing every breast, We may divide our cares; the field be thine, O Judas, and your sanctuary mine; For Sion, holy Sion, seat of God, In ruinous heaps, is by the heathen trod; Such profanation calls for swift redress, If ever in battle Israel hopes success. With pious hearts, and brave as pious, O Sion, we thy call attend, Nor dread the nations that defy us, God our defender, God our friend. Down, down with the polluted altars, down. Hurl Jupiter Olympius from his throne, Nor reverence Bacchus with his ivy crown And ivy-wreathed rod. Him, or his beastly crew, Or, knowing, scorned such idol vanities. Hence to Phoenicia be the goddess driven, Or be she, with her priests and pageants, hurled To the remotest corner of the world, Never to delude us more with pious lies. Wise men, flattering, may deceive us With their vain, mysterious art; Magic charms can never relieve us, Nor can heal the wounded heart. But true wisdom can relieve us, Godlike wisdom from above; This alone can never deceive us, This alone all pains remove. Duet Israelite Woman and Man: Oh, never, never bow we down To the rude stock or sculptured stone. We worship God, and God alone. We never, never will bow down To the rude stock or sculptured stone. From Thy eternal throne, Look with an eye of blessing down, While we prepare with holy rites, To solemnize the feasts of lights. And thus our grateful hearts employ; And in Thy praise With carols of triumphant joy. See, see yon flames, that from the altar broke, In spiring streams pursue the trailing smoke. The fragrant incense mounts the yielding air; Sure presage that the Lord hath heard our prayer. From Capharsalama, on eagle wings I fly, With tidings of impetuous joy: Came Lysias, with his host, arrayed In coat of mail; their massy shields Of gold and brass, flashed lightning over the fields, While the huge tower-backed elephants displayed A horrid front. But Judas, undismayed, Met, fought, and vanquished all the rageful train. Yet more, Nicanor lies with thousands slain; The blasphemous Nicanor, who defied The living God, and, in his wanton pride, A public monument ordained.
