Tactics included anonymous phone calls, IRS audits, and the creation of documents that would divide the American communist organization internally. Howard , a civil rights leader, surgeon, and wealthy entrepreneur in Mississippi who had criticized FBI inaction in solving recent murders of George W. Lee , Emmett Till , and other black people in the South. Under pressure from Hoover to focus on King, Sullivan wrote: We must mark him now if we have not done so before, as the most dangerous Negro of the future in this nation from the standpoint of communism, the Negro, and national security. Hoover responded by publicly calling King the most "notorious liar" in the United States. You better take it before your filthy, abnormal, fraudulent self is bared to the nation". DeLoach, commenced a media campaign offering the surveillance transcript to various news organizations including, Newsweek and Newsday. King was said to have potential to be the "messiah" figure, should he abandon nonviolence and integrationism, [45] and Stokely Carmichael was noted to have "the necessary charisma to be a real threat in this way" as he was portrayed as someone who espoused a much more militant vision of " black power. Individuals such as writers were also listed among the targets of operations. The FBI monitored and disrupted the campaign on a national level, while using targeted smear tactics locally to undermine support for the march. Within the year, Director J. Many released documents have been partly, or entirely, redacted. The Committee finds that the domestic activities of the intelligence community at times violated specific statutory prohibitions and infringed the constitutional rights of American citizens. The legal questions involved in intelligence programs were often not considered. On other occasions, they were intentionally disregarded in the belief that because the programs served the "national security" the law did not apply. While intelligence officers on occasion failed to disclose to their superiors programs which were illegal or of questionable legality, the Committee finds that the most serious breaches of duty were those of senior officials, who were responsible for controlling intelligence activities and generally failed to assure compliance with the law. The domestic operations were increased against political and anti-war groups from through Create a negative public image for target groups by surveiling activists and then releasing negative personal information to the public. Break down internal organization by creating conflicts by having agents exacerbate racial tensions, or send anonymous letters to try to create conflicts. Create dissension between groups by spreading rumors that other groups were stealing money. Restrict access to public resources by pressuring non-profit organizations to cut off funding or material support. Restrict the ability to organize protest. Restrict the ability of individuals to participate in group activities by character assassinations, false arrests, surveillance. Its actions went as far as political assassination. While the declared purposes of these programs were to protect the "national security" or prevent violence, Bureau witnesses admit that many of the targets were nonviolent and most had no connections with a foreign power. Indeed, nonviolent organizations and individuals were targeted because the Bureau believed they represented a "potential" for violence—and nonviolent citizens who were against the war in Vietnam were targeted because they gave "aid and comfort" to violent demonstrators by lending respectability to their cause. The imprecision of the targeting is demonstrated by the inability of the Bureau to define the subjects of the programs. The Black Nationalist program, according to its supervisor, included "a great number of organizations that you might not today characterize as black nationalist but which were in fact primarily black. Examples of surveillance, spanning all presidents from FDR to Nixon, both legal and illegal, contained in the Church Committee report: The Kennedy administration had the FBI wiretap a congressional staff member, three executive officials, a lobbyist, and a Washington law firm. President Johnson asked the FBI to conduct "name checks" of his critics and members of the staff of his opponent, Senator Barry Goldwater. He also requested purely political intelligence on his critics in the Senate, and received extensive intelligence reports on political activity at the Democratic Convention from FBI electronic surveillance. President Nixon
