Today in a fit of bad old memories I recalled the kinds of things my parents would say as I was growing up. There were three of us mean little boys in the house no sisters and thus no model kids for us kids to emulate. I do not feel good or bad about the way we treated our parents. What I really feel bad about is that I did not collect all the sayings our parents used. I really believe that if I could capture those words, I could present an accurate picture of what they were like. It is important for all of us to collect those expressions while we can, because what people say tells a lot about them and allows others to see them the way they really were. He was one of those men who used an initial and then his middle name as a first name. His father did the same, becoming G. Walter Fiske when it suited him. It sounded pretentious to me, but perhaps I did not understand. My older brother, a very good mimic, began copying him and Dad gave it up. I think he began to not like the sound of it coming from my brother. It was a general alert that cast a cloud of doom on the offender and caused the other two boys to scatter until just before dinner began. Oh, did I ever hate that stuff! I always felt my education was abbreviated because I could not swear in German. The Germans sounded more elegant to me when they swore. Did we resent our parents and lash out against society? No, of course not. Nearly every boy we knew suffered the same. It was just part of growing up. In high school, for instance, I was quite good at grabbing my ankles while a teacher bashed me in the rear with a paddle. It smarted and I got smarter as time went on. In my senior year I was not paddled at all. When I do write about my parents I will be able to describe them well, but more importantly, will be able to let them describe themselves by revealing the words they chose to use in everyday conversation. Maybe this will not be as important as telling how they responded to the poor and those of different races and religions, but it will help round out the image I am trying to present. Perhaps it is a favor returned because they cared enough to straighten us out when we strayed from the straight and narrow. Whatever the case I do it out of love and amusement, too. Maybe my children and grandchildren will understand me better as a result. The highly anticipated US Census is expected to be the most popular US record collection released to date. Thord Bylund; the genealogical database "Angur". In the new marriage she delivered in the daughter Anna Mattsdotter. Then the misfortune happened on the 21st of March They talked this fateful day about using burn-beaten land and about things, which had to be planned before the spring. Hindrik said very exacting to Lars, the stepchild to Matts, that he should flog Lars if he did not keep guard of the cattle so that they could not come to Hindriks hay-fields. The quarrel continued and Hindrik tried to beat Matts over the table with the clenched fist against his head and shoulder. Then both stepped out on the floor. Hindrik cried, "You dog come here! Then Matts took out his sheath knife and cut Hindrik more then he intended with several wounds in his breast, cheeks and in one shoulder. Hindrik fell down and lied in bed 8 days, until he passed away on the 28th of March. Matts visited Hindrik on his deathbed. He tried to get reconciliation. At the district-court sessions he asked to be pardoned as he wanted to enjoy the life for the sake of his wife and the children. Matts wanted to reconcile with the widow of Hindrik. Hindrik and Matts were nephews. Olof Mattsson, who also was a cousin, witnessed that all villagers had met in his house for morning service as it was not possible to go to the church. The distance to the church was 7 mil about 42 miles and the road to the church was in bad condition and ran over the mountain. It was said that Matts also was under suspicion of having injured the cattle of Hindrik. Finally it was said that Hindrik tended to fight and that he was short-tempered and stuck-up. The district court sentenced Matts for manslaughter to death. The court of appeal then got the case. But we do not know the decision this arrived at. Probably he was executed or he was reprieved and had to be in prison for life and build fortresses. He often reported different faults for judicial proceedings. It was not only vagrancy he could not bear. He also reported improper life and drunkenness, at least when this happened on Sundays. In he complained about boozing outside the church during holidays. He reported the farm hand Lars Mattson, the son of the deceased Matts Mattsson. The first Sunday after Christmas he came drunken to the church and he vomited in the pew. He admitted that he had drunk little snaps on a feast in Levar. One witness said that it was only water Lars had thrown up. Church fine could mean that he had to sit and be ashamed at a stool near the entrance door of the church when the villagers arrived to the church. Lars Mattson was farmer in Hummelholm He got boatswain and we do not know what then happened. Olof Jakobsson had been outside the church on the Sunday before Quinquagesima Sunday in They also pushed Olof. Jacob said at the district-court sessions that they only wanted to know how much money Olof had received as compensation for the lifts he had given and from the guests in his inn. It would not be an unreasonable demand to get a statement of accounts so that the money could be used by the parish". All the country people agreed with this demand. The Court decided that Olof Jakobsson, and also other who had collected money by order of the parish, should render an account first in the parish hall and then at the district-court sessions.

means the oldest Christian community in Cornwall, Penryn can justly regard itself as having been one of the most colourful due to the founding in by Bishop Bronescombe of Glasney College. Designed to train men for the priesthood, the college charter laid down that the students should live within the religious style and duties of men attached to a Cathedral; that they should be present at all services and that they should dedicate their time at Glasney to worship, learning and teaching. Unfortunately it seems that these commendably high ideals rather went by the board, for a succession of investigations, commissions and inquiries into Glasney revealed a story of womanising; neglected duties; and the disappearance of college property. Therefore when it went into decline in the sixteenth century at the time of Henry viii, the authorities breathed a sigh of relief and did little to try to nurse it back into active life as it gradually crumbled away, many of its stones and doorways being used in the construction of new homes in Penryn. By Mitch Jones Kline Rd. In land records and other record sources we find him mentioned several times. We know from the and census of Jackson County, that he had children, but no present day descendants claim him as an ancestor, Just who was Henry M. Buffalo Valley, until , was located in both Jackson Co. When Putnam County was established in , Buffalo Valley became a part of it. In the Jackson Co. In , John Carr was in Schuyler Co. At this point we should mention William Harrison Carr, Sr. William Harrison Carr, Sr. He married 1 Martha Rice; and 2 Hannah Harper. William Harrison Carr, Jr. Sally Sarah Carr, b. Albert Fielding Carr, b. Nancy Ann Carr, b. About he moved to Schuyler Co. Also in Schuyler Co. Ira Carr⁶, b TN, d. John Wesley Carr⁷, b. We feel that these names all came about through an incorrect analysis of family traditions due to the numerous intermarriages in the Carr and Jared families. Researchers also may have confused this man with William Harrison Carr, Sr. Eliza Ann Carr, b , d. Elizabeth Jared Carr, b. John Harvey Carr, b. Amanda Jane Carr, b. Our third point was to examine the records created by Henry M. The earliest was the land entry mentioned earlier under a date of On 10 Jan. Survey chain carriers were Henry Carr and Moses Jared. This survey was later transferred to James Carr. Carr was granted 50 A of land In Jackson Co. Carr for 15 A in Smith Co. The survey chain carriers were Moses Jared and Samuel Jared. This survey was sold to Lewis R. Vance, and testors to the sale were Alfred Jones, Henry M. Carr and James Sutton. Proving the sale at the February term 4 Jackson Co. County Court were Henry N. This was Buffalo Valley. Carr received another A grant in Smith Co. Carr had two tracts surveyed. Jones, who was granted theland. The sale of the survey was on 31 May and Henry H. Carr s signature was witnessed by Richard F. Cooke and Charles Jared. The land crossed the mouths of Rock Spring and Indian Creek. Marchbanks of Jackson Co. Kerr and James R. Wyatt and Andrew Kerr. Carr was sold by Coggin on 30 Sep to Wade H. Tax List we see Henry M. Carr with A of land in District 22, and no white polls. From the above we can see that Henry M. We believe there is evidence he was a Justice of the Peace of the county court of Jackson Co. That axiom is that individuals had relatives or close friends to witness their important transactions. Keeping this in mind, we can see from the foregoing data that Henry M. Kerr was closely associated with: Kerr sold their personal property, and witness to the sale was James brother, Andrew Kerr; and 7 We then see in that James R. Carr sold land on which Henry N was living in , and Henry H. Carr, Another indication of family relationship is in the naming patterns of the family. We have searched the Census of Jackson and Smith Cog. We also could not find James or Andrew Carr listed. The Census of Jackson Co. Henry Carr Census, Jackson Co. Eliza Ann could have been married and in a separate household in , as her oldest child was born in We feel major evidence to prove that Henry N. Kerr, with a postscript by Naomi s granddaughter, Tennie Kerr Boyd. Carr Brother of Andrew. Andrew s own personal experience A. Roll 55, Jackson Co. Entries written by Isaac S. Jones, son in law and cousin of 3 Andrew Carr. Tucker John s brother in law. Last entry is 20 Jan. John had died and Rebecca was his widow. Information furnished by Beverly Carr Stanley, p. Dates from family group sheet on Joseph H. Middle Tennessee Grants, Book 15, page Book 12, page Survey book of Richard F. Survey as filed with Mountain District Surveys. TN Deed Book M. Leonard, The Raulstons, J. Kerr was the husband of Naomi Jared. The problem is I violated two of the five criteria of the Preponderance of the Evidence Principle. The five criteria are: The first criteria that I violated was I failed to examine all possible resources. Experts point out that our collateral relatives can create records long after an event that solves our research problem. This is true for Henry M. Kerr and Naomi Jared Kerr. Stephen Petty as the administrator of his father s estate created the records to resolve our problem when he filed suit on behalf of the estate against Margaret High 2. In the suit a number of depositions were taken which included those of Andrew F. Kerr, James R Kerr. The only items of interest to this discussion that Andrew and Naomi gave was their ages. Kerr testified on 6 Feb that he was aged 47 years, and Naomi Carr testified on 20 Dec that she was aged 75 years. The deposition of James R.

Kerr however gives testimony that completely solves our problem. In his deposition on 1 July he states that he is aged 58 years. The other point he made was that I was security on note of my father Henry M. Kerr my father died before Wm Petty. My father died 20 or 30 years ago. The second criteria of the Preponderance of the Evidence Principle I violated was that there was direct evidence as to Henry M. Now descendants of Henry M.
