You are also graceful, sensitive and independent. According to your birthdate personality, you are honest, sympathetic and modest people. You are also free spirited. Your compassion for others is commendable. If today is your birthday, people often remember you when they see you in social settings. You have a way about you that has an impact on others so they demand your company. You have a positive blend of quality traits that produce a harmonious Aries. March 24 Aries birthdays normally have an optimistic outlook on life. What could be viewed as a negative quality in Aries is that you work too hard. When your brain is in overload, you can act like an airhead or become indecisive. Otherwise, you are extremely perceptive and could possess physic abilities. March 24 birthdate meaning shows that you are a gentle and honest soul. You tend to encourage relationships with people whom you admire. Having like-minded associates helps you to remain vigilant and encouraged. With any relationship, Arians born on this day should learn something from it. People come to us for a reason—some relationships only last a season. With that being said, once you realize the reason, it is time to move forward. The March 24th birthdate horoscope predicts that Arians want love more than anything. In relationships, you tend to think with your heart rather than your mind. Therefore, you can be naive when it comes to love. You look for a partner that would give you a long-term relationship that is filled with chocolate roses and milk baths. It would not hurt if there were someone to taunt you with some pillow talk. While it is true you love receiving, giving is just as important. When you fall in love, you would do anything to please your soulmate. Everyone here on earth has a purpose. You believe that anything you do should be in support of that case. Whether the cause is for someone else or due to your own beliefs, you feel the labor should be enjoyable and fulfilling. According to the March 24 birthday astrology, handling financial matters is one thing that you do not find pleasurable and would do well to seek other professions that will benefit from your creative expression. In this case, Arians born on this day have no problems asking for help. What your birth date says about you is that you find it difficult to follow programs or itineraries. Arians love their freedom and one could say this confines any spontaneity. You like to go with the flow of things when it comes to planning your life. You say it does not matter how you get there, as long as you get there. Aries, do not overlook those small and seemingly inert details as they could prove to be important. You could slow down enough to stay focused or grounded, it would be to your benefit. The 24th March birthdate characteristics show that you are sometimes physically connected to emotional issues. It is not often but stress has its effects on you making you feel sad or unhappy period. Just assembling your daily routine could be stressful enough to cause you problems relating to your mental health. You do not drink enough of the right things to flush the toxins out of your body and this can cause you to feel sluggish. Arians should not drink a lot of caffeine based beverages or alcohol. Arians with zodiac birthday March 24 have an eye for beauty in people, places and things. You are a creative thinker that is susceptible to heartbreak or to breaking hearts. You have some difficulties following rules and directions. Those born on March 24 believe that everything and every person have a reason for being and we should serve this purpose to the best of our ability. You will need a clear mind so stay clear of things that will impair your judgment.

Walk with me in my journey to restore a Ford Mustang Convertible. I had no idea. I really feel terrible now. However, there has also been a few more substantial memories which I will share with you now. We continued winding down this narrow, flashback to a simpler time beneath the reddening maple branches and along the Victorian style ornate concrete guard rail until we reached the end of the historic leg at which time we exited onto the bustling I After we stuffed ourselves, rolled back onto our feet, and bottomed out the shocks on the unfortunate car, we drove back West on I84 back towards Portland, and home. There are few drives more beautiful than this and I strongly recommend the experience with or without a classic car. The fuzzy one is "Angel". A look at the damn.. The area around Hood River, OR is known for its many orchards and agriculture. In the month of October, during the Fall harvest, the various orchards and farms open to the public. The Mustang Wranglers gather up a parade of cars and drive this Fruit Loop route stopping by several choice orchards and pumpkin patches for the hording of much produce. Parked among the apple trees. The Wranglers get invited to some pretty spectacular stuff, and, by extension, so do we. The Oregon International Air Show at the Hillsboro, OR airfield was an incredible opportunity to park our Mustang on one of the runways as an additional attraction for the air show. In doing so, we got a front-seat view of the performances. Although the temperature on the tarmac was 95 that day, we were able to setup a canopy to hide under to try to stay cool. Sitting on the tarmac. Watching a "hammer head" maneuver. The Mustang Wranglers took over one street of an entire block. Classic grace among modern muscle. Again, the Mustang Wranglers were invited to take part in an amazing event, this time setting up a Mustang display in a huge, historic show of primarily high-end vehicles. We were lucky enough to be chosen among the six cars to participate. Guests of the show included Chip Foose and Dave Kindig. It was at this event in that I met Foose and received a signed jacket for free and "Jack" from Gold Rush in Our club met up in Hillsboro, OR on the preceding Wednesday and then drove as a kind of a group to the Expo Center about 20 miles away. We setup our display and then I hitched a ride back home with our awesome club President, Dan. The Wranglers display Ol Rusty standing proud with her high-end buddies. I loved this 38 Cabriolet. Watch those speed bumps! Such a cool little bus. Isetta-like front and a hunched stance. So, those are the highlights of our year. My wife suggested we take the Canby Ferry which is a ferry service across the Willamette River between Wilsonville and Canby. We pulled onto the ferry behind one other vehicle; A late er -model Porsche Carrera. After the ferry got under-way whom should extricate himself from the little car but a rather large, bearded, man who looked very familiar to us. He got out of his car and followed the ferry operator into his cabin for a few minutes, presumably for a crash course at ferry driving. I answered his question and asked him one of my own; If he would have the time for a selfie. He agreed, we took the selfie, and parted ways. Oh and the Dairy Queen Bruschetta sandwich was delicious!

He also wanted to run a front brake which would be a difficult fit in the very narrow forks. For these reasons he decided it would be better to source a new one. He contacted an individual who builds Dick Allen style springers. Sugar Bear makes them two ways. Very narrow for no brake or slightly wider with a provision on each rear leg for a brake anchor. And in addition to his two styles of signature rockers, he still offers the Dick Allen type. Sugar Bear proudly holding the newly finished forks. He makes them look very small. Arte started to wonder, "were they really 12"over? After putting in the order, he started to wonder if he should have gone for 15" over? Sugar Bear said they would be done in about six to nine weeks and they were. While waiting for the forks Arte had been busy working on all of the stuff covered in part one, plus painting the tanks and building the motor. Arte did a slight variation of the lines surrounding the lettering. The left side was even more challenging since fewer photos exist of it. A good last minute decision was to send the new cam cover out for a polishing. Since Arte now had his forks, he could finalize the rake and weld up the neck. A narrow glide spool was chosen for the 18" front wheel which he also already had. The front and rear brake are late model swap meet finds. Again readily available and cost effective. Some last minute checking of the stance before the tear down. Off the bike he thought the forks looked short, but once mounted he was happy with them. Did I mention Arte does his own paint? Once torn down the frame was lightly molded and painted. Now the final assembly would begin.
