It may be objected that they contain Rules which are to be found in every French Grammar. What has been, may be. The Letters truly are, what you have announced them, Genuine; the Writer was a Gentleman of an antient and honourable Family, once of affluent Fortunes; the Name, you have adopted in lieu of his own, indicates the Misfortune of his Life. Give my humble [Page 3 ] Service to your Aunt. I am, your affectionate Friend, J. London, July 14, A mon Retour, je vous marquerai les petits Defauts dans les Traductions que vous avez fait. A Londres, ce 31, de Juilett, Give my hearty Service to your Aunt. We have no News. London, July 24, Do a little at once, and do it well. Take more Care of your Writing, and learn to point. I go to the Country this Afternoon, and return on Monday, when I expect to find one from you. Ecrivez moins, et avec plus de Soin. A Londres, ce 28, de Juillet, At my Return, I got your Letter, but it is neither dated nor pointed. Adieu, ma chere Nannette! Faites mes Compliments a Madame, votre Tante. Yours is not bad French, but then the other is better. This is what we call different Dialects. Give my humble Service to your Aunt. Hence you may remark that they put as few Words as they can between the Infinitive and the Verb that governs it. I thought it might divert you now and then in bad Weather. Madame Mâ€”vous faite bien de Compliments. I am, yours, J. A Londres, ce 16, de Sept. Let me hear from you often, my Dear: Let me always know what you are about, and what happens to you. Adieu, ma chere, for this Time. My kind Service to your Mother and Aunt. I am, your faithful Friend, J. My humble Service to your Mother and Aunt. Adieu, encore, my little dear. Many other Epick Poems are written, which perhaps may as well be let alone as read. To begin with Homer. At length, poor Woman! Collect the whole, and meditate well [ It nearly behoves you, and [ I now come to it. This is in order to excite in them Gratitude and Piety. I am poor and needy, but the Lord careth for me. He teacheth my Hands to fight.

This is similar to a proofreader fixing "typos" in a manuscript today. Heb of all" Meaning: The note invites the reader simply to compare some similar wording elsewhere in the Bible. NRSV 1 Chron Heb Thirty or captains" Meaning: The Hebrew text at this verse clearly says "thirty" but the NRSV chooses to write "three" with no textual support for that choice. But there is apparently no textual issue here. When no other Hebrew text is specified, "Heb" means the MT. Heb lacks with her son Isaac" Meaning: The actual Hebrew word is adam, which can be translated man, human, person, or Adam. See also the footnote on Gen 2: This entire phrase is controversial. MT lacks They had This is a textual issue; the MT is at variance with other ancient Hebrew texts. NRSV 1 Sam Q Ms Gk four Meaning: This is a textual issue; the MT is at variance with some of the ancient versions. The Hebrew can be translated into English in any one of these 3 ways. Click on the middle box in the header graphic for this web page to see more information about this actual phrase. Perhaps translation Possible meaning of a proper name. The Hebrew word itself is not in question, but scholars are uncertain of its meaning. The Hebrew name is "El-roi" and the note is telling the reader what it might mean.
