

Chapter 1 : The Best of Andrew Murray on Prayer by Andrew Murray | eBay

Andrew Murray had a uniquely personal relationship with God and all his books reflect that love and respect. This is the best of the best! One devotional for each day of the year!

Nothing can have impressed this young minister on his journeys among the voortrekkers as deeply as the large numbers of infants presented for baptism. The Boers are a healthy and prolific race. Families of a dozen or more are common, and mothers are occasionally met with who have borne twenty or twenty-four children. The task of Christian mothers, upon whom devolves the duty of inculcating the first principles of morality and teaching the simplest truths of religion, is assuredly no easy one. It appeared in as an illustrated quarto volume under the title Jezus de Kindervriend. His methods of work during the latter years of his life are thus described by his daughter: His hours of work are usually from 9 or 10 till 11 in the forenoon, during which time two or three chapters of a book are completed. He is very particular about punctuation, and always says: Should his secretary perpetrate some mistake or other in spelling, he would make some playful remark like: He always dictated in a tone of great earnestness, and was specially anxious to get a great deal into a page. When near the end of the foolscap page, he said: To a greater extent than almost any other religious writer of our age Mr Murray possessed the insight and the authority of one of the prophets of olden time. At critical moments in the history of the church he never failed to raise his voice and to direct attention to the real issues. Those who are intimate with his career in South Africa will agree that there was no man who could rise to a great occasion like Andrew Murray. He possessed the gift of speaking, at the right season, the right and just word, of opening up the larger view and kindling the nobler emotions. This gift he exercised in his writings also. The author of these lines has personally examined some one hundred and fifty such letters, and their perusal has produced an overwhelming impression of the blessed ministry which Andrew Murray exercised by the use of his fertile and tireless pen. Unknown persons in every quarter of the globe hail him as their spiritual father, and ascribe whatever growth their Christian life has undergone to the influence of his priceless devotional works. Du Plessis, Marshall Morgan and Scott, , pp. It was the outcome of a conference of ministers at Stellenbosch, South Africa, April , The occasion of the conference was as follows: Professor de Vos, of our Theological Seminary, had written a letter to the ministers of our church Dutch Reformed Church concerning the low state of spiritual life which marked the Church universal generally, which, he said , ought to lead to the inquiry as to how far that statement included our church too. What had been said in the book, The State of the Church, called for deep searching of heart. He thought there could be no doubt about the truth of the statement in regard to the lack of spiritual power. Our four theological professors, with more than two hundred ministers, missionaries, and theological students, came together with the above words as the keynote of our meeting. From the very first, in the addresses there was the tone of confession as the only way to repentance and restoration. At a subsequent meeting the opportunity was given for testimony as to what might be the sins which made the life of the Church so feeble. Some began to mention failings that they had seen in other ministers, either in conduct, or in doctrine, or in service. It was soon felt that this was not the right way; each must acknowledge that in which he himself was guilty. The Lord graciously so ordered it that we were gradually led to the sin of prayerlessness as one of the deepest roots of the evil. No one could plead himself free from this. Nothing so reveals the defective spiritual life in minister and congregation as the lack of believing and unceasing prayer. Prayer is in very deed the pulse of the spiritual life. It is the great means of bringing to minister and people the blessing and power of heaven. Persevering and believing prayer means a strong and an abundant life. When once the spirit of confession began to prevail, the question arose as to whether it would be indeed possible to expect to gain the victory over all that had in the past hindered our prayer life. In smaller conferences held previously, it had been found that many were most anxious to make a new beginning and yet had not the courage to expect that they would be able to maintain that prayer life which they saw to be in accordance with the Word of God. They had often made the attempt but had failed. They did not dare to make any promise to the Lord to live and pray as he would have them; they felt it impossible. Such confessions gradually led to the great truth, that the only power for a new prayer life is to be found in an entirely new relation to our blessed Saviour. Before we parted, many were able to testify that they were returning with new light and new hope to find in Jesus Christ strength for a new prayer life.

Chapter 2 : Prayer Tips: Andrew Murray (The Prayer Foundation)

*The Best of Andrew Murray on Prayer: A Daily Devotional Journal [Andrew Murray] on blog.quintoapp.com FREE shipping on qualifying offers. If you have a hunger for God, this daily devotional journal will satisfy you with a banquet of riches.*

If there is one thing I think the Church needs to learn, it is that God means prayer to have an answer, and that it hath not entered into the heart of man to conceive what God will do for His child who gives himself to believe that his prayer will be heard. We Must Abide in Christ for our Prayer-life. The more we abide in Him, and grow unto His likeness, will His priestly life work in us mightily, and our life become what His is, a life that ever pleads and prevails for men. I feel sure that as long as we look on prayer chiefly as the means of maintaining our own Christian life, we shall not know fully what it is meant to be. In the king it is the power coming downward; in the priest, the power rising upward, prevailing with God. It is under a deep impression that the place and power of prayer in the Christian life is too little understood, that this book has been written. But when we learn to regard it as the highest part of the work entrusted to us, the root and strength of all other work, we shall see that there is nothing that we so need to study and practice as the art of praying aright. If I have at all succeeded in pointing out the progressive teaching of our Lord in regard to prayer, and the distinct reference the wonderful promises of the last night John It is my prayer that God may use this little book to make clearer to some of His children the wonderful place of power and influence which He is waiting for them to occupy, and for which a weary world is waiting too. In connection with this there is another truth that has come to me with wonderful clearness as I studied the teaching of Jesus on prayer. We have become so accustomed to limit the wonderful love and the large promises of our God, that we cannot read the simplest and clearest statements of our Lord without the qualifying clauses by which we guard and expound them. God hears prayer; this is a truth universally admitted, but of which very few understand the meaning, or experience the power. And then just one thing more. Thousands have in these last years found an unspeakable blessing in learning how completely Christ is our life, and how He undertakes to be and to do all in us that we need. I know not if we have yet learned to apply this truth to our prayer-life. Many complain that they have not the power to pray in faith, to pray the effectual prayer that availeth much. The message I would fain bring them is that the blessed Jesus is waiting, is longing, to teach them this. Christ is our life: Christ teaches us to pray not only by example, by instruction, by command, by promises, but by showing us Himself, the ever-living Intercessor, as our Life. It is when we believe this, and go and abide in Him for our prayer-life too, that our fears of not being able to pray aright will vanish, and we shall joyfully and triumphantly trust our Lord to teach us to pray, to be Himself the life and the power of our prayer. May God open our eyes to see what the holy ministry of intercession is to which, as His royal priesthood, we have been set apart. May He give us a large and strong heart to believe what mighty influence our prayers can exert. And may all fear as to our being able to fulfill our vocation vanish as we see Jesus, living ever to pray, living in us to pray, and standing surety for our prayer-life.

Chapter 3 : Andrew Murray | Open Library

Like any discipline, prayer takes work. This volume, part of the new Essential Christian Library series, helps to guide readers toward a deeper, more vibrant life, through the writings of South African theologian Andrew Murray.

Chapter 4 : The Prayer Life by Andrew Murray

The Best of Andrew Murray on Prayer is a book I hope to read over and over for years to come! Andrew Murray must have prayed lots over these words! Published by blog.quintoapp.com User, 17 years ago.

Chapter 5 : With Christ in the School of Prayer eBook: Andrew Murray: blog.quintoapp.com: Kindle Store

DOWNLOAD PDF THE BEST OF ANDREW MURRAY ON PRAYER

Like any discipline, prayer takes work. This volume, part of the new "Essential Christian Library" series, helps to guide readers toward a deeper, more vibrant life, through the writings of South African theologian Andrew Murray.

Chapter 6 : Andrew Murray Books - Biography and List of Works - Author of ' Daily Devotions On Prayer'

Prayer Tips: Andrew Murray. 3 "Prayer Tips" from Andrew Murray: 1. Power With God is the Highest Attainment of the Life of Full Abiding. 2. If there is one thing I think the Church needs to learn, it is that God means prayer to have an answer, and that it hath not entered into the heart of man to conceive what God will do for His child who gives himself to believe that his prayer will be heard.

Chapter 7 : The Best of Andrew Murray on Prayer (May 1, edition) | Open Library

According to Murray, the church does not realize that "God rules the world by the prayers of his saints, that prayer is the power by which Satan is conquered, that by prayer the church on earth.

Chapter 8 : Andrew Murray Quotes On Prayer. QuotesGram

See all books authored by Andrew Murray, including With Christ in the School of Prayer, and Abide in Christ, and more on blog.quintoapp.com The Best of Andrew.

Chapter 9 : Andrew Murray Collection (36 vols.) - Logos Bible Software

Andrew Murray - The Source of Power in Prayer (The Master's Indwelling 12 of 13) Andrew Murray - The Master's Indwelling Murray is best known today for his devotional writings, which place.