

Chapter 1 : Meet the X-Men (DK READERS) (March 20, edition) | Open Library

Comment: Well-loved and read copy. Heavy wear to the cover and binding. Pages have marginal notes, underlining, highlighting, and dog eared. Maybe an ex library copy, that has the library stickers and marking on cover and spine.

Origin In the mid to late s, the land was settled by Charles Graymalkin and his wife Marcia. Little is known about the this period, although Charles did bury his son alive after beating him nearly to death, due to finding him having intimate relations with another boy from town. Charles Xavier was born and raised in the mansion. Marko and his son, Cain lived at the mansion thereafter. Sharon died not long after the marriage, and the ownership of the estate passed on to Charles. Xavier worked with fellow mutation expert, Dr. Karl Lykos , as well as Dr. Moira MacTaggart , and they began discussing the idea of founding a school for mutants. In exchange for teaching him about the present, Cable aided Xavier in equipping the mansion with advanced technology. Together the formed the original X-Men. A war room was also added to the subterranean levels. Realizing that the Danger Room had mutated and become sentient, but still needing to train his X-Men, Professor Xavier made the choice to ignore and hide the lifeform. Professor X agreed to pass on the title while his ancestral home was renamed the Xavier Institute for Higher Learning. While the Massachusetts Academy operated as a training facility for younger mutants, the Institute acted as the headquarters of the X-Men. After defeating Bastion, the X-Men moved back into the mansion and restocked it. After Scott learned that Cable was his infant son returned from the future an adult, Cyclops offered X-Force a headquarters at the mansion. After finding him hiding from the genocide of his own race superiors, Professor X gave Fiz , an alien Skrull , temporary asylum at the mansion. After this revelation, the Xavier Institute once again opened its doors to students, this time with a greatly increased enrollment. The school continued to face challenges from outside, such as protesters and the fanatic cult, the U-Men , but they also faced challenges from within, such as a possessed Professor X, [30] a student -led riot, [31] and Xorn forming a new Brotherhood of students and destroying the mansion. Unfortunately, Jean died in the confrontation with Xorn. Cyclops and Emma Frost became co-headmasters and rebuilt the school with a new larger design, using funds from Angel. Emma and Cyclops later arranged to have the remaining depowered students evacuated in secret, for their own protection, but the bus they boarded was attacked and the children were murdered by the Purifiers. However, with most of the X-Men busy on missions and the Danger Room inoperable due to it escaping, [39] Prodigy was motivated to designed the Danger Cave , in the caverns beneath the school, utilizing hard-light hologram technology similar to the Danger Room. They destroyed the mansion. After the final battle for the Messiah Baby and the near-death of Professor Xavier, the X-Men briefly disbanded, relocated to San Francisco and the mansion ruins were left vacant. When Cable returned from the future with Hope Summers , they traveled to the site of the school, unaware that it had been destroyed. Luckily the X-Men arrived to save the pair. Additionally, the facility was completely self-sufficient, generating its own power and growing its own food. On the opening day, Beast accidentally left a dimension door open and the campus was infested with inter-dimensional gremlins, called Bamfs. However, instead of returning it to Westchester County , new X-Men leader Kitty Pryde decided to move the school to the middle of Central Park to help its residents gain exposure as part of her plan to consolidate the X-Men as heroes. Originally designed as a Neoclassical mansion, the current structure resembles a much more futuristic style. Grounds The grounds of the Xavier Estate remain largely unchanged. Located outside of Salem Center , the grounds have large open fields, surrounding woods, and a beach on Breakstone Lake. The school grounds are now sentient as they are currently inhabited by the grandchild of the original Krakoa that asked to join the X-Men after attacking them by the orders of the Hellfire Club. Boathouse On the edge of Breakstone Lake, a boathouse was constructed. Although the mansion and underground bunker was significantly advanced, the boathouse was simple in design. Used as the newlywed home of Cyclops and Phoenix , the boathouse only contained communication technology, linking it to the mansion and bunker. It is unknown if this structure is still standing. Cemetery A small cemetery is located on grounds. Previously a swimming pool and a Phoenix-shaped memorial statue were located in the courtyard. Utilizing hard-light hologram technology similar to the Danger Room , the Danger Cave served as a
