Background[edit] In May , Archie Comics released plans for what they would call "The Archie Story Of The Century" and announced that Archie Andrews would ask Veronica Lodge to marry him in Archie Comics , [1] the first issue of a six-part story arc detailing their engagement, marriage and life together. Archie comes home and after getting heat from his father about picking a college, he takes a walk down Memory Lane After traveling through a yellow wood , Memory Lane splits into two dirt roads. He chooses the left one and "saves the right one for another day. Archie dismisses this when Mary states that Veronica Lodge is waiting for him inside the house. He and Veronica discuss the changes in their lives, but both accept growing up. After a successful graduation, Veronica hosts a party at her mansion with Josie and the Pussycats headlining. Dilton Doiley is going to M. After the party, Archie is given a large sum of money by his parents. A few weeks later, he uses it for the down payment on an engagement ring for Veronica. Veronica accepts and Betty runs weeping in an unknown direction. Jughead later chastises Archie for not telling him his plan. Eventually, Archie and Veronica tell Mr. Lodge, who accepts Archie as his future son-in-law as long as he works for Lodge Industries. Without any other jobs lined up, Archie goes along with it as his fiancée plans the biggest wedding Riverdale has ever seen. In the end, Veronica calls Betty and asks her to be her maid of honor. Instead of answering, Betty simply leaves the phone on her bed. Veronica is sad that Betty Cooper is not there. Ethel states that he reminds her of Archie as Betty rushes him out the door. On the eve of the wedding, Archie and Veronica discuss their future. The big day comes and everything seems to be going as planned. All of Riverdale is attending the wedding. Before the ceremony, Archie asks Betty to take a walk with him. He tells her that she was his first friend when his family moved to Riverdale and how he always enjoyed dating her, but then Veronica moved to town. Archie tells Betty that he loves her like a sister and asks her to promise to always be his friend. Betty obliges after they tell each other they love one another. The wedding goes smoothly. Lodge walk Veronica down the aisle as all of Riverdale watches. Archie and Veronica become husband and wife as Betty looks on tearfully, but happily. At the reception, Archie and Veronica share their first dance to " Sugar, Sugar ", speeches are made, the cake is cut, and the bouquet is tossed. Betty catches it and walks away trying to hide her tears. Archie and Veronica then depart on their honeymoon to a remote island in the Caribbean owned by the Lodges. One year later, Archie is a big executive at Lodge Enterprises. Archie then breaks the news to Mr. Lodge who immediately has his will changed to bestow his most prized possession, a sled named " Rosebuddy " to his grandchild. Two trimesters later, Archie and Veronica begin Lamaze class, which proves to be a slapstick disaster for Archie. Despite all of this, Archie promises to be calm when the big day arrives. Shortly thereafter, Veronica goes into labor and he drives her to the hospital with minimal drama. Soon, Veronica delivers a redheaded boy named Archie, and a black haired girl named Veronica. Time passes and Archie and Veronica move back to Riverdale and buy a minivan. Parenting is exhausting for both of them, but they lovingly raise their children past diapers and bottles. When the children are around three, the Andrews and the Lodges celebrate Christmas together. The children are sent to bed and Archie and Veronica discuss their happiness. Archie claims that he would be just as happy without the money. Before wrapping up the rest of the presents, Archie insists on going for a walk during the first snow of the season. He walks up Memory Lane and comes to the yellow wood and begins walking down the right fork in the road. Synopsis[edit] Archie, still in his winter coat from his walk during the first snow of the season, arrives back in time right before his college graduation and meets Jughead , Reggie , and Moose. He is confused at first by the summer heat and his apparent time travel. Archie then rushes home to get ready for graduation, and the ceremony proceeds much as it did in Part 1, with Dilton giving the valedictorian address. Reggie comments on how unlikely marriage is after college. Veronica, surrounded by a group of handsome young men, is telling about a graduation trip around the world in 80 days. Archie asks to speak with her privately and starts to reminisce about the day she moved to Riverdale, but she keeps interrupting him. Moose then starts a food fight that Jughead thoroughly enjoys. After this news, Archie has no need to continue his speech and asks Betty to share a malt with him while Veronica goes back to her bastion of beaux. Archie reminds Betty of how they first met and were always friends—sometimes more. Betty beats herself up and calls herself a jerk for assuming Archie wants to just date her. Betty, in shock for a moment, jumps for joy and answers yes. Archie and Betty kiss as Veronica watches in awe and disgust. Midge swoons at the romantic moment and prods her longtime boyfriend, Moose for a similar proposal, but he makes a joke instead. She slams his mortarboard over his head. Meanwhile, Reggie tries to make his move on Veronica, pretending to comfort her. She also breaks his mortarboard over his head. Veronica screams at Archie, claiming he missed his chance, but Archie defends his engagement to Betty in turn claiming that "she" was the one who missed her chance with him. Later that evening, Archie and Betty tell both their parents about the engagement. Meanwhile, Betty goes to the Lodge estate and asks Veronica to be her maid of honor, who promptly slams the door in her face. But after seeing her so upset, Veronica agrees and tells Betty "she won Archie fair and square". Later that night, Archie and Betty go for a walk. Archie has been sending out resumes, but is finding it difficult to find a job during the recession. He apologizes for not offering a better honeymoon than at the Blue Roof Inn in Centerville. Synopsis[edit] Archie continues to search for work with no luck. In desperation, he goes to meet with Mr. Lodge at his office. Lodge tells him that despite jilting his daughter, he thinks Archie is a bright fellow but that his company is not hiring. Lodge for his time and goes back to his job search, but after applying for work everywhere from a recording studio to a coffee bar, he still has no success. In the midst of their wedding preparations, Betty reveals to Archie that she has received a job offer as a buyer for Saks 5th Avenue in New York City. She had applied before they became engaged because it was something she wanted to try, but plans to turn down the job in order to be a teacher and to be with Archie. He is shocked at first, but tells her that instead of putting everyone else first, she needs to follow her dreams for once, and decides they should move up their wedding day to the following weekend and then move to New York. Everyone arrives to celebrate the party of the year. When Veronica arrives, escorted by Reggie, some expect trouble at first. Just as she is about to reveal the dress she bought hoping to draw attention away from the bride, the wedding cake that Betty made herself collapses and is ruined. Archie and Betty exchange their vows. The Bride and Groom then invite all the guests to join them in their first dance. When Betty tosses the bouquet, Miss Grundy catches it while Mr. The biggest surprise of the night comes when the wedding cake Veronica ordered arrives. Everyone is very proud of her, and Archie and Betty thank her for her very generous gift. She takes Archie aside and tells him that she will pay for a honeymoon for them. He thanks her for the offer but turns her down, saying that he is responsible for Betty now. They say goodbye to their families, friends and Riverdale, and set off for New York City. Betty impresses Cassie, her new boss on her very first day on the job. Archie tries to defend himself, but Betty tries to pass it off as a joke. Betty apologizes to Archie for not standing up for him sooner, and Archie calls her his hero. They decide to move back to Riverdale. The next day while packing their bags, Cassie shows up at their apartment with flowers, asking them to stay and tells Betty she still has a great future with the company. Betty thanks her and says she already has a great future with Archie back in their hometown. Cassie tells them both how lucky they are and wishes them well. She has found out from Mr. Weatherbee that a teaching position is available at Riverdale High, and lets Archie know that he wishes to speak to him about something important. That night, Archie and Betty celebrate their first anniversary with a romantic dinner and share a malt with three straws in it. Moose is now the custodian at Riverdale High and practises yoga and meditation and is "at peace with his inner self.

Chapter 2 : Archie Marries Veronica/Archie Marries Betty - Wikipedia

The sweet girl-next-door Betty Cooper is best friends with sophisticated, gorgeous Veronica Lodge. These girls agree on most things, except who should date Archie Andrews!

In which Betty Cooper learns a few life lessons. Thanks to the Yule Goat for reminding me every fandom needs a Groundhog Day story. Many, many thanks to lunacow and rapunzelita for the excellent and speedy beta work! Betty gets up bright and early as usual, does her simple makeup, fixes her ponytail, goes to school. English, math, lunch, geography, and gym. During English class Veronica passes her a note "date with Archie tonight, new blue dress or green one? Betty writes back "green looks so nice on you. At lunch, Jughead steals her sandwich while she chats with Midge. She gets an A on her geography pop quiz. After school, Archie cancels their band practice "he has to go fix his jalopy before his date. She goes home, eats dinner with her parents, helps her mom with the dishes, does her homework, reads a book, and goes to bed. It sort of has to be, right? Every day the polar icecaps are melting just a little bit more. Every day "Gloomy, much? She really gets the lesson today "the algebra had been a bit complicated last time. Jughead steals her sandwich again. Betty helps him fix his jalopy. She gets grease on her shirt again. A little bit better, she guesses, than last time. After all, a lot of wacky stuff goes on around Riverdale High, but this one is just a bit too bizarre to be believed. She goes to sleep expecting to wake up. The blouse is in her closet again the next morning, with no grease stain in sight. Betty thinks it over as she walks to school. She runs into Dilton in the front hall and asks him his opinion on the possibility of time repeating itself. She wonders if she just has to make things different. When Veronica asks her which dress to wear, she tells her to choose the blue one. Later, she suggests the white pearls. But when Archie asks her to help fix his jalopy, she swallows hard. She puts on the sweatshirt. Somehow, a bit of grease gets on the cuff of her blouse anyway. A little different, she thinks, as she reflects on the day. She goes to sleep, hoping to wake up to a new day. The blouse is sitting there again in the morning. Perhaps slightly more drastic measures, then. She tells Veronica to wear slacks instead. Veronica looks a little insulted. Betty just smiles back at her. She dozes off during math class and gets told off by the teacher. A first, she thinks. She purposefully gets a B on the geography pop quiz. She helps Archie with his car. Archie smiles at her, and Veronica sniffs. Betty notices that Veronica is wearing slacks. She goes home, goes to bed, considers it a day well done, and hopes for the best. The blouse is just as brown, unstained, and there as always. During math class, she passes Archie a note. Veronica told me she has to cancel your date. Archie looks confused, but writes back: At lunch, Veronica screams at her when she realizes what Betty has done. Archie sits to the side, looking from girl to girl, clearly not knowing which one to support. She fails the geography quiz. She mentions cats off-hand, and he goes a slightly alarming shade of red. Always the same old stuff. She feels this is a pretty shrewd observation. Betty feels bad, and tells him not to worry, that Ronnie will get over it. He drives off, still looking discontent. She goes home, does all her regular routine, goes to bed. She very deliberately crumples up her blouse and throws it in the laundry basket. She feels about as rough as it looks. Same old stupid blouse. You can go out with Archie any night. Archie passes her a note during math class. Betty just shakes her head at him. He seems a little shocked, then turns away. Betty deliberately turns her back on her sandwich. Maybe an easy target will be less desirable. She finds Reggie before gym class. He has three cats and a guilty expression on his face. Betty does, however, make a mental note that if she goes through this day again, she might want to try dating Reggie next. He looks like an awfully good kisser. The sales at the mall turn out to be mediocre "one might even say practically non-existent. Veronica buys three dresses, two pairs of boots, two purses and a necklace anyway. Betty swallows hard as she takes off her shirt. So when Ronnie leans over to hold the blazer up against Betty to see if it fits, she takes the opportunity and kisses her. What I say goes. Watch, within a day Midge will be dating Ethel, or something like that. Thanks, Ronnie, it was a wonderful evening. She takes the tags off her new blazer and carefully puts it right up front in her closet. Not a bad day, she thinks, as she climbs into bed. She smiles, and looks forward to school the next day. She stares at the blouse in her closet as she goes to get dressed. Who ever got ahead in life wearing brown? She might as well ask to blend into the scenery. Betty Cooper shows up at school wearing a bright red dress and heels. She leaves her hair down. Betty writes back "I just felt like a change. I really like your necklace, by the way. Ronnie glows, and Betty sits back and enjoys the class. During math class Archie passes her a note "boy, Betty, you look swell. She feels really, really good. She watches Jughead like a hawk at lunch. He still steals her sandwich. She wonders if the universe needs a constant. Anyway, this time she brought two. Heck, she knows the subject matter backwards and forwards by now. And she was always really good at geography anyway. Betty Cooper is owning her awesome. And it feels fantastic.

Chapter 3 : GCD :: Issue :: Archie Giant Series Magazine #

Trendsetter (Betty and Veronica) by Nelson Ribeiro (Other Contributor), Victor Gorelick, Spotlight Editors Library, 80 Pages, Published

She opened her crystalline blue eyes and stared at the flashing red numbers on her radio clock. Enough time to take a quick shower grab some breakfast and walk to school. Usually Betty Cooper looked forward to bright and beautiful mornings, such as this one. There was one thing that always seemed to automatically pull her out of bed and look her best for school. Or rather, there was always one person who made her do that. Turning to her other side, she picked up the picture on her side table of that one person she desired the most. With his red hair and adorable freckles, his boy-next-door charm was attractive to many. Smiling, albeit sadly, she put the picture back on the table. He always belonged to Veronica and there was nothing she could do about it. Betty had changed her looks considerably ever since senior year began. She grew her blond hair longer and her long bangs framed her pale face. Reading about the various hazards of tanning, she had long decided to give up her sunbathing days. She tried to convince her best friend, Veronica Lodge to do the same, but of course, Veronica always put her beauty way ahead of her health. Both girls were strikingly different in appearances and personality. The brunette was deeply tanned, with no bangs covering her face since she believed no bangs made her look a bit more sophisticated. Her skin was smooth, absolutely flawless. Her hair always let down, flowing down her back. Betty too let her hair down once in a while but it was always tied up in a high ponytail, with loose strands framing her face. She had smooth, clear skin too, and light freckles dotted around her nose that only added to her charm and innocence. Betty was the brilliant student and smartest in school next to Dilton Doiley who practically ate, breathe and slept math and science. Since senior year started, she had managed to get the editor-in-chief position of the high school paper, Riverdale Blue and Gold. And since the school paper took up so much of her time, she decided to give up cheerleading. Veronica was always the one leading the "cool" group at school, the trendsetter. She was never a follower. Veronica actually managed to snag co-captain title of the cheerleaders, which was no easy feat. She had to work hard to compete with Cheryl Blossom, who had transferred to their school. Betty and Veronica remained best friends throughout their rivalry in seeking attention from a certain cute redheaded guy. He did however let his hair grow out a little to let the ends brush against his neck. And of course, he also stopped wearing those bright colored pants. Archie was still your average everyday good guy, an All-American flirt. Walking down the sidewalk, Betty quickly tied her sweater around her waist. She wondered how the weather had changed from cold to hot in just one day. She readjusted the strap of the bag on her shoulders and continued walking when she heard a very familiar voice call out to her. Without bothering to turn around, Betty rolled her eyes and continued walking. Do you know how sexist that sounds? He was driving alongside Betty in his sports car. She knew the guys would go gaga for Veronica as soon as she shows up in class and no one would give Betty a second glance. Betty liked the way he laughed. Out of all their friends, it seemed as if Betty understood Reggie the most. Smiling, Betty turned around and tossed her backpack in the rear seat. No doubt, Reggie was one of the best-looking guys in school. Reggie was as sexy as Archie was cute and good-looking. Reggie had been away during the summer and came back just a week before school. If Reggie was good looking before, he was downright gorgeous now. He was naturally slightly dark, almost as if he had a tan. We need to get some of the details talked out you know? He returned his gaze to the road. He wondered how he felt differently towards Betty than he did to Ronnie a few months ago. He had to have her. Your review has been posted.

Chapter 4 : Accelerated Reader Bookfinder US - Book Detail

Betty and Veronica first met at Pop's Chock'lit Shoppe when Betty and Archie were having dinner together. Betty was on the verge of confessing her feelings to Archie when they were interrupted by Veronica, who had arrived to pick-up takeout.

Saturday, October 16, Length: This episode is placed second on the DVD set. The episode opens on a panning shot of Riverdale. It then zooms in on Riverdale High School, giving us a nice aerial view of the campus. Archie comes out, carrying a shit-ton of books. Then Veronica calls him back to open the door for her. He apologizes and does so. She then hits him for his trouble. He drops all of the books. Yeah, this is a Veronica-is-a-bitch episode. The rest of the gang come out. Archie picks up all of the books and follows her. Does Veronica let him put his dick anywhere? He also has to open the door for her. As Archie struggles with the top, Reggie and Jughead insult Veronica by making corny puns. Betty says it could be worse: The episode moves on to the next scene instead of waiting for Archie to get the top up. Later, at Lodge Manor, Veronica is chillaxing poolside, reading an untitled magazine and enjoying yogurt. She drops her spoon, so she whines at Smithers to get her a new one. Lodge witnesses her spoiled, bratty behavior and is pretty angry about it. Smithers brings her a spoon, which apparently must be carried on a napkin on a platter. Smithers is voiced by Jerry Longe , the same guy that voices Doctor Beaumont. Lodge starts to get an idea. Smithers reminds himself that Mr. Lodge pays for six weeks of vacation every year due to days like this. Smithers answers the phone and hands it to Veronica. Veronica accepts on the condition that Archie drives. Lodge snatches the phone away and tells Archie that Veronica will meet him later, after she does a chore. What if everyone acted like that? Veronica admits she hates hard work and then asks about the chore. Fade in no commercial break, since the music is continuous. Veronica has an hour to pack up a bunch of stuff for the museum before the workers arrive to pick them up. She whines about not being able to do it alone. Her dad says Smithers will be here. Veronica is relieved, guessing she merely has to supervise Smithers. Anyway, Pop happily serves Jughead, Reggie, and Betty. But what kind of restaurant puts the food directly onto a serving tray with no individual plates for the customers? Anyway, Reggie is supposedly shocked that Jughead just shoved an entire hamburger in his mouth, but he was actually making this face before Jughead did that. Jughead happily takes it. Hmm, I guess these are technically cheeseburgers. I guess she did a lot of re-reading. Veronica just happens to be holding it. Lodge get all of these artifacts? Does he make any money off it? Anyway, Veronica asks Smithers where he want her to put it the last item. Maybe you should make an effort to understand how others think and feel. Lodge politely asks Smithers to let the museum workers in. Smithers suddenly whines about it. Put forth more effort. Pop whines about it and tells them to make the burgers themselves. Reggie, Betty, and Archie discuss it. He decides to use the pay phone outside to call the doctor just in case. Ah, the days before cell phones. Wait, never mind, this is ten years after Zack Morris had a cell phone and three years after Katie Lomore and Fran. Jughead wonders about his next plate of burgers. Pop files his nails. Did he just happen to have a nail file handy? Did a customer leave it? Suddenly, a mysterious white light affects everyone in the dinerâ€” â€”except Archie, I guess. Anyway, just as he walks outside, Veronica shows up. She makes it sound like they need to leave. Archie comes to and sees this: Both Poponica and Veronica whine at him. Archie gasps and backs away. Archie was looking forward to a threesome with Veronica and Pop Tate.

Betty Cooper is a high school freshman raised as a "good Christian". This story is an alternate universe to Riverdale and Archie Comics in general. Monday, February 19, , 7: So she just sat in her desk with her head lowered and her index fingers pressed against her ears. That seemed to be a pattern in her life: Suddenly, she felt a tap on her right shoulder. Her best friend, Veronica Lodge, smiled at her. Betty took her fingers off her ears. Veronica was a socialite, the daughter of Hiram Lodge, the richest man in town, and his wife, Hermione, the richest woman in town. The family was old money and had lived in the general area for centuries. Veronica was a fashionista, a social butterfly, and a trendsetter. She had long black hair and brown eyes and was very pretty. She was wearing what Betty guessed were the latest designer jeans, shirt, boots, and jewelry. Grundy turned off the television. BC Betty set her tray on the table and sat down. Veronica sat across from her. I wish your mom had let me take you with. She was a short, somewhat overweight girl with curly brown hair and hazel eyes. So how was it? Just Bible study, singing, and prayer groups. With Veronica in Paris, I pretty much did nothing all summer except watch TV, read, play games, go to church, and go shopping with my mom. Such is my life. She had on a light shade of pink lipstick. We just moved to Riverdale from NYC. Veronica stared at Cheryl. Veronica sensed she might have crossed a line. This place is run by a bunch of old men that are kept in office by a bunch of old farts that want to keep things the same. Betty thought that was an oddly-placed pause. I just gotta let my mom know. Well, in the faculty lounge. Cheryl looked over and saw a somewhat muscular boy with red hair. He was sitting at a table with two black-haired boys. That well-dressed guy next to him is Reggie Mantle. Just avoid that other guy, Jughead Jones. Betty and Ethel look like their parents picked out their clothes. Ethel lowered her head in shame. Betty tried to think of a way to make this not seem so bad. BC By the time that gym class came around, Betty had had enough of school for one day. Cheryl noticed a woman - with short blonde hair and blue eyes - wearing shorts and a Riverdale High School T-shirt. She just moved here. I have a limo. They came across a pink limousine decorated with flower designs. Then Cheryl got in and closed the door. Just follow her directions. Soon, they arrived at Blossom Manor. A servant let Cheryl and Betty into the main hall. The floor, walls, ceiling, and decor were all brown. Family portraits hung on the walls. The girls started making their way upstairs. He had it shipped over here from Scotland. Cheryl looked at her. Cheryl opened a door on the right at the end. She walked into her bedroom and turned on the light. Betty walked into the room and closed the door behind her. Have you ever had any? Of reds, I like Merlot. She offered two of the bottles to Betty. Betty took the bottles. Betty sat to her left. Betty saw Cheryl opening the Moscato first, so she did as well. She took a tentative sip. The girls dropped the empty bottles and opened the Merlots. They dropped the bottles on the bed. Cheryl sat in her chair. At home with your parents? Well, how about this? That way, you can be away from your parents for a while. She was a cheerleader and on the track team in high school. I feel like I have no privacy, almost no quiet moments. My mom periodically checks my e-mail. What does she think you are? She pulled open a drawer, took out a USB flash drive, and plugged it in. Just keep it hidden somewhere. She then added music videos. Just think of me as your personal dealer. I should get home. Jamie unlocked the back-right door. She grinned and waved awkwardly. Betty watched it drive off, and then she opened the gate of the white picket fence in front of their house. She checked the mailbox. She walked past the fence and closed the gate, and then she walked up the sidewalk to her front door. She dug into her back-left jeans pocket and took out the house key that her mom had given her. She unlocked and opened the front door and walked into the house. She closed and locked the door and put the key back into her pocket. She took off her sneakers and put them on the little rug by the door. Some family photos hung on the walls. Beyond the living room, separated by a wall, was the kitchen. Betty went there and got herself a can of regular Pepsi from the refrigerator. Then she went back into the living room and went upstairs. She went into her bedroom and closed the door. She walked over to her desk, set down her drink, took her cell phone out of her back-right pocket, set it on her desk, and turned on her computer. She sat down and waited for it to boot up. She took off her socks and threw them on the floor. Then she typed in her MSN password and hit Enter. She took the flash drive out of her pocket and inserted it into her computer. Cheryl had created three directories: She opened the music directory. In it were subdirectories for each artist. She went through them and listened to a few songs.

Betty was on the verge of confessing her feelings to Archie when they were interrupted by Veronica, who had arrived to pick-up takeout. Archie then asked her to join him and Betty but Veronica had to decline as she was picking food for her mother waiting back at home. Betty gives Veronica a tour of the school. They bumped into Archie again, and Veronica expressed her attraction for him but put it to the side when Kevin informed her that Betty was in love with Archie. In spite of their best effort at try-outs, Cheryl was unimpressed which prompted Veronica to kiss Betty in an attempt to save their routine. Sadly, Cheryl stated that faux lesbian kisses were outdated. Cheryl then welcomed Veronica to the team, denying Betty a spot, which led Veronica to come to her defense. She demanded that Betty be allowed to join, declaring she and Betty came as a pair and with no other choice, Cheryl reluctantly agreed. After acquiring their new River Vixens uniforms, Betty and Veronica bonded over the sadder aspects of their respective family histories and Veronica revealed that she used to be a mean girl like Cheryl and was trying to turn over a new leaf. At the dance that evening, Veronica left Betty and Archie to their own devices, encouraging Betty to make a move. At the after-party, hosted by Cheryl, they played a game of Seven Minutes in Heaven. Cheryl, wanting revenge on Betty and Veronica, was keen to stir up drama by forcing Archie and Veronica to go in the closet together where they shared a kis. When they came out, Cheryl was delighted to inform them Betty had ran off upset. Veronica claimed that she only went into the closet with Archie to prevent Cheryl from going in, however, while she may have gone in with the best intentions, it did not end that way. Still upset, Betty pretended to befriend Cheryl to make Veronica jealous, inviting her to the salon with the certificate Veronica had given her. Later on, Archie walked Veronica home and home and she remarked that even though she had just met Betty, she felt that they had been destined to be friends before she messing things up. Endeavouring to help her friend, Betty sought out other girls who had been treated the same by Chuck and his group, of which there were many. That night, after a tip from Trev Brown on the location of the playbook, Veronica, Betty, Kevin, Ethel and Cheryl broke into the school to retrieve it. To get revenge on Chuck and his goon squad, Betty came up with a plan. She explained that she and Betty had decided to share. Betty began interrogating him about what actually happened between him and Veronica, turning up the temperature in the tub more and more and pushing his head under the water until he confessed that he had lied about Veronica. Carried away, Betty began telling him to apologize for ruining Polly, addressing him as Jason. She then wanted him to apologize to her, as if she were Polly. Disturbed, Veronica told her that that was enough. The next morning, after Betty published an article in The Blue and Gold exposing Chuck, Veronica found her by the lockers. However, Betty professed not to know what Veronica was talking about. They then watched as Chuck and his cronies were escorted from the building, banned from the Riverdale Bulldogs and suspended from school, thanks to Betty and Veronica. Grundy , an odd pairing he thought. Betty abruptly got up and pulled Archie outside, which led Veronica to wonder what they were talking about, and if it was her. Curiosity got the better of her, and Veronica followed them out just in time to overhear that Archie was having a secret affair with Ms. Grundy, which she thought was scandalous. Grundy believed in him when no one else did, they backed off the subject. The next day, Veronica and Betty researched Ms. Betty and Veronica search Ms. That night, Betty and Veronica broke into Ms. Betty assured her that was not why. Once again, they approached Archie with the information they had gathered, and their suspicion that Ms. However, despite of all the evidence, Archie still defended Geraldine. Veronica suggested that he open his eyes but Archie just walked away. Kevin teased her that there was nothing romantic going on between Betty and Trev, as Betty had denied it being a real date earlier, that Trev was just a source for The Blue and Gold. She became upset and Veronica noticed a moment between Betty and Jughead as he comforted her which Veronica later asked Betty about. Betty admitted there was something between them and Veronica was excited for her, approving of Jughead. She then joined the search party Betty and Jughead organized to find Polly, which was ultimately unsuccessful. The next morning,

Betty discussed Polly with Veronica at school. Betty had secretly found Polly hiding out in the attic of the Cooper house the night before and did not know what to do. Polly could not stay at home, due to her parents wanting her to give up her baby so Veronica offered to speak with her mother to help, however, Cheryl interrupted shortly afterwards offering the same. Panicking, Polly looked to Betty and wondered where she could go and Veronica again offered her a place to stay, and Betty and Veronica brought Polly to The Pembroke where Hermione welcomed them. Betty, however, defended her friend, as unlike Alice, she was trying to help. Betty and Veronica swapping worried looks Over breakfast the next morning, Veronica and Betty approached Polly with the baby shower proposal, which Polly was initially hesitant towards, but eventually warmed up to. However, Polly wanted her mother to attend as well as the Blossoms, which caused Veronica and Betty to swap worried looks. The next afternoon, while Alice had not yet said if she would attend, Veronica did inform Polly that she had been invited. Later, Betty and Veronica had to watch as the shower ended in an argument between Alice and Penelope Blossom. Days later, Betty went to a lunch at The Pembroke Veronica was having for Ethel who revealed that her family was having financial trouble and might lose their house. Distraught, Veronica ran to the bathrooms in tears where she was found on the floor by Betty, who hugged her in comfort. They took flowers to the hospital that evening for Ethel, where they met Mrs. Muggs , who reacted with anger upon learning that Veronica was a Lodge. As they left, Betty put her arm around an upset Veronica and walked her out, worried for her friend. Blossom say that he was the one responsible for her father being arrested and imprisoned. Later in the cafeteria, when Betty proposed throwing Jughead a surprise birthday party, Veronica thought it was a fantastic idea and they began planning, with Veronica suggesting a small gathering with just close friends. The next day, at River Vixen practice, Veronica, upset with the Blossoms, challenged Cheryl to a dance-off to see who of the two was the better dancer and would feature front and center at the Vixens homecoming performance. Betty looked on proudly while Veronica was unanimously declared the winner. Moments later, Cheryl and Chuck crashed the party. Grundy as well as what really happened the night Betty and Veronica got their revenge on Chuck. The party was ended by FP Jones after Jughead and Chuck got into a fight, and Veronica stayed behind with Archie and they ended up making out and Veronica spending the night. Betty thought this was good news, however, Veronica revealed that her father had not only purchased the drive-in from jail, he had hired FP and the Serpents to trash it and decrease the property value. She then put forth the notion that he might have hired FP to do other jobs, like go after Jason Blossom as payback against Clifford Blossom. She wanted the truth and volunteered to aid Betty in her investigation, no matter what was revealed.
