

Chapter 1 : SCADA System Administration at REG-EUCL

The Energy Utility Corporation Limited (EUCL) is a Subsidiary of the Rwanda Energy Group (REG) one of the Successor entities from the former EWSA. EUCL took over EWSA utility operations including the associated generation plants, transmission and distribution network and all adjoining facilities thereto.

Background and Scope Introduction: Headquartered in Washington, DC, USEA is an association of public and private energy-related organizations, corporations, and government agencies. EUPP supports the efforts in USAID-assisted developing countries to increase environmentally sustainable energy production and to improve the operational efficiency and increased financial viability of their utilities and related institutions, with the goal of increasing the access of these countries to safe, reliable, affordable and environmentally sound energy services. Power Africa uses a wide range of U. From policy and regulatory best practices, to pre-feasibility studies and capacity building, to long-term financing, insurance, guarantees, credit enhancements and technical assistance, Power Africa provides coordinated support to help African partners expand their generation capacity and access. The Government of Rwanda is striving to overcome several constraints as they aim to promote economic growth in the country. It is understood that the economic development will not be realized without the contribution of a well thought-out plan that will provide reliable and affordable electricity. The Rwanda Energy Group REG is a holding company responsible for generation, transmission, and distribution of electrical energy in the country. As Rwanda moves to a more developed economy and additional electrical energy projects are identified as needed to meet the increasing customer demand, it will be necessary for the staff of REG, EUCL and EDCL to have the necessary skills to effectively plan and execute new construction projects, as well as monitoring and commissioning of those developed by Independent Power Producers IPPs. In the Rwanda energy sector, however, most project managers are electrical engineers with no formal project management training. USEA has found significant knowledge gaps in areas critical to the successful completion of projects such as poor record keeping, ineffective monitoring and controlling of contracts, a lack of knowledge and experience with dispute resolution and negotiating, and vague wording in contracts regarding the scope and responsible parties. To address these gaps, USEA is facilitating several activities, including this short-term technical assistance program, focused on improving project management skills, which will lead to better contract management and fewer delays of projects. The Consultant will provide the following general project management consulting services to REG: Introduce and demonstrate best practices in project management as applicable to local processes; Introduce and help REG personnel gain advanced understanding and working knowledge of essential documents, templates and tools necessary for all stages of efficient project management, including conception and initiation, definition and planning, launch and execution, monitoring and control, and close-out. Deliverables The following deliverables are required for the assignment: Brief semiweekly updates on the assignment, including a short description of tasks planned and completed, and challenges encountered; Final report to include the following: An overall assessment of the assignment, including descriptions of documents and procedures introduced or improved; Challenges encountered, both by the Consultant, as well as by REG personnel, as observed by the Consultant; Suggestions for overcoming these challenges; Recommendations for additional training and technical assistance as appropriate. Schedule The overall period of this short-term technical assistance program will be between September 1, and September 30, The purpose of this RFP is to solicit proposals from various candidate organizations or individuals, conduct a fair evaluation, and select one 1 project management consultant deemed most suitable to conduct the short-term technical assistance on project management to the Rwanda Energy Group and its subsidiaries. Scope of Work for a description of duties and responsibilities. USEA will arrange and bear the costs of: Economy-class roundtrip airfare to Kigali; Per diem meals and lodging for up to 15 days in Kigali, Rwanda Note: Lodging to be provided according to U. All bidders are strongly encouraged to review these provisions prior to submitting a proposal. Standard Provisions for U.

Chapter 3 : Director Planning & Development at REG-EUCL

The management of Energy Utility Corporation Limited (EUCL) informs the public that it is recruiting competent, qualified and experienced staff to fill the following positions: 1.

Alma Brown group is in large measure due to his careful supervision. Working alongside "Cap" and evincing no less interest than he towards all A. Alma Brown, secretary to the Graduate Manager. The share that Mrs. Brown has contributed to the progress of the A. Election to this office is a mark not only of the esteem and respect of the students, but also of character and ability to a high degree. Five years ago Aldon Tall quietly began working toward the many honors which he now holds. Last spring his election to the office of President of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho marked the culmination of a long list of activities on the campus. This year, the president of the A. The present administration came to Idaho with the policy of student self-government. In line with this policy, the duties of the student body officers have greatly increased. Through this period Mr. Tall has guided the organization conservatively and well. Page 39 Title 1: Constituted as it is, all legislative and executive power is vested in this group. It exercises control over all the various collegiate and intercollegiate activities sponsored by the A. Members of the Board are chosen for a period of one year by the student body at the annual May election. The Executive Board consists of the three officers of the A. In addition there is a faculty adviser and a resident alumnus, appo. This year the Board has been very efficient and has capably handled the matters brought before it. The Department of Athletics, Debate, Dramatics, and Publications are all financed by means of funds paid in by the student body. The apportionment and disbursement of these funds. This is carried out on the budget plan, and once each semester these budgets must be arranged so as to achieve a balance at the end of the year. Under the leadership of the present chairman the Board has endeavored to perfect student cooperation. Dron Cmuford in all phases of college life. Student government at the University of Idaho has been extremely competent and the University administration and Executive Board cooperate at all times to achieve and insure student initiative and responsibility. At the present time the following people are serving on the Executive Board: Crawford, George E. The entire administration of President Kelly at the University of Idaho has been particularly marked by an effort to arrive at close cooperation between the student body and the faculty of the University. One of the very noticeable results has been the Council of Group Presidents, which has been formed this year to meet with the representatives of the administration in order to discuss affairs which may well be best decided after a thorough understanding of student opinion has been gained. The Council is composed of the presidents of all the groups on the campus, including halls, sororities and fraternities. President Kelly, himself, has been meeting with the members regularly as the administrative representative. The organization of this group is effected by the existence of a chairman and a secretary. Edward Poulton has been the chairman during the semester just passed and Marguerite Thomez has been the secretary. A decidedly new feature of cooperation has given promising results. Of necessity, the work of the Council must be of a restricted nature and it must deal largely with current affairs. However, this year the Council has given valuable aid in determining the number and length of vacations for next year. The matter of student representation on the Academic Council was discussed and its value was determined by the Council. The very important matters of exempting Seniors from final examination if their mid-semester grades are sufficiently high was also taken care of. The Council has proved efficient and highly valuable.

2 Objective of the supervision works The purpose of the supervision services is to support Rwanda Energy Group (REG) and his subsidiary board (EDCL and EUCL) in Financial management, project management and.

While passing on the fact of concern of many institutions that the great amount of money which has been generated for federations because of the Six-Day and Yom Kippur War has given them greater power, I was not defending those concerns or those agencies. The worries, of course, are real, but I have had questions for many years about the need for some of our Jewish institutions and agencies to exist any longer except in the minds of their loyal employees and a few supporters. No one is questioning the right of such individuals to do what they wish with their money, but neither does one have it? So some of what I raised in a general way last week about the challenge of choices facing us and Israel today obviously has to do with priorities. The Jewish obligation, if you please, to tell people how much and where they should give as well as a Jewish obligation to see that the money so gathered be spent wisely. Just so the record is clear early: I support all financial endeavors to provide Israel what it needs, through the United Jewish Appeal, Israel Emergency Fund or Israel Bonds. That, without question, is our highest and most urgent priority today. IT IS not just alone from a humanitarian viewpoint, however, that I cringe when I learn of the layoffs that are taking place in many Jewish agencies and institutions, and the synagogue. They are told to tighten their belts and warned that new programs will not be approved. But there is a suspicion that at the same time there is an expansion of Federation powers the Community Relations Committee is one example that will lead inevitably to new programs and additional costs. That is the history of bureaucratic expansion in government and there is no reason to believe that it will be otherwise in Federation. The alternative, of course, is to replace the old with the new. Surely, if we are to have a professionally managed and budgeted CRC. And if not all three, maybe two or one? COIR more money he is naive about what takes place in the world of government, whether it is Washington, Tallahassee or the Greater Miami Kehilla. One reads that it is now the Douglas Gardens Home and Hospital for the Aged and wonders what that means, at least in dollars and cents with Medicare and Medicaid, or to see that while greatly reduced there still remains a Mount Sinai Medical Center line in the budget. For as historian and sociologist Charles Liebman has pointed out in his fascinating book, "The Ambivalent Jew," commenting on Jewish philanthropy "to quasi-Jewish institutions such as hospitals whose only tie to Judaism is their name suggesting their origin as Jewish institutions or the fact that the rich laymen on the board directors are Jewish. And prior to the Yom Kippur War only some And while we boast of the pouring of funds" followin.

About REG-EUCL The Energy Sector in Rwanda is undergoing a process of reform and a comprehensive program of renewal and expansion of electricity infrastructure is underway to ensure growth of the network to meet current and future supply requirements with a high level of reliability.

But now the question you face every summer: What are you going to do? Seriously, take out your phone, open your calendar, and bask in the hundreds of things we compiled to help stack your summer with fun from start to finish. Anyway, get that calendar ready. Get it straight-up, neat, on the rocks, with Coke, whatever. They renovated their bar a little more than a year ago, updating the lighting and the overall look of the place. Good company, good tunes, good whiskey at a great price, duh. During the game, domestic draft beers are half-off, which is a great deal in and of itself, but come on, twenty-five-cent beer! Minor League baseball has always been home to some insane promotions, but this is probably the best beer deal in Northeast Ohio. Two cheap American beers on tap, cheap liquor, a jukebox, and a pool table; what more do you need? Happy Hour, Mix at the Museum This monthly after-work shindig hosted in the gloriously beautiful atrium of the Cleveland Museum of Art includes wine, beer, cocktails and live entertainment. Every first Friday of the month, the CMA spotlights unique art, artists, poets, live performance artists and other artsy type fun with music from bands or DJs. Not everything has to be done outside. So why not stop by the grocery store? Yes, the grocery store. As a result, it offers great views of both the river and the city skyline, and the enormous deck stretches out to the banks of the river. And happy hour is the time to do it. Cocktails and glasses of wine are half-off too, along with deals on edamame and miso soup. This is one of the premier joints for Asian food in Cleveland, and their happy hour makes it the perfect afterwork spot for a bottle of sake and a sushi roll. Bar Snacks at Fahrenheit and Barrio Fahrenheit, in Tremont, is one classyass establishment, a white-tablecloth, anniversary-dinner-type joint. You heard right, folks. Free, crispy, thick-cut slices of bacon are yours for the chewing as you sip on an early evening brew. If you want a truly dirt cheap breakfast, head over to the 49er Diner on Broadway in Slavic Village. Expect some weirdos and some low-lives, but enjoy the automotive-themed decor and the off-the-beaten-path novelty. You have your choice of chicken, pork, beef, steak, chorizo, all cooked and prepared to perfection. If you want some cilantro, salsa and assorted hot sauces, you can help yourself at the console off to the side. Breakfast Special, 49er Diner Cleveland is bursting at its seams with food trucks, and what better time to catch them all than summer? But the result is quite possibly the best fried chicken in the city. Diners get to choose among seven types of breading, from the subtly sweet Honey Crisp to the aggressively spiced Cajun. After what seems like forever, the owner of this year-old secret hands over the goods: The meat, naturally, is screaming hot and dripping with juice. The menu at this wildly decorated take-out shop there is an island-themed mural with boats taped to the watery part is huge, but all we can vouch for is the yardbird. When it comes to fried chicken, being told that there will be a wait is a very good thing. It usually means that the chicken will be fried to order. Used to be every bar had such a flattop, useful for everything from fried eggs and hash to seared beefsteak. Ruby cropdusts the meatblobs with some secret seasoning and presses it deep into the meat with a woodhandled rectangular patty press. The normal-size bun looks absolutely Lilliputian compared to the beef patty, its charred and flared perimeter escaping its bunny borders by a good three inches. And who uses good china in a dive bar? Prime King, the Gorilla The hotdogs are not earth-shattering, but the barbecue is more than worth the trip. These days, you can find sustainable local pork, chicken, beef and other meaty deliciousness alongside specialty products like Cleveland Kraut and other favorites you might recognize from the Flea. Latin nightclub dance music €” salsa, bachata, kizomba, merengue, reggaeton €” blasts onto the dance floor and keeps people moving all night. A Cleveland Salsa Passion instructor is on hand at 9 p. The beginner lessons are free. This is a perfect spot for date night or even for a group of couples. Grab an order of the camarones del pacifico postdance. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday. From the oral history project organizers: Complimentary cupcakes and champagne will be served!! Summer Fun Picnic Basket Includes: JUNE 27, noon Give each place its own daylong excursion, and fill your summer weekends with the rich history of Northeast Ohio. And yet, during the summer months, it plays host to the ever-popular Asphalt Cinema. Admission is free, and concessions will be available for purchase.
