Source code for Google Chrome is available free of charge under open source software license agreements at <https://www.chromium.org/developers/how-to-contribute>: Your relationship with Google 1. This document explains how the agreement is made up, and sets out some of the terms of that agreement. Open source software licenses for Google Chrome source code constitute separate written agreements. To the limited extent that the open source software licenses expressly supersede these Universal Terms, the open source licenses govern your agreement with Google for the use of Google Chrome or specific included components of Google Chrome. Where Additional Terms apply to a Service, these will be accessible for you to read either within, or through your use of, that Service. It is important that you take the time to read them carefully. Accepting the Terms 2. You may not use the Services if you do not accept the Terms. A clicking to accept or agree to the Terms, where this option is made available to you by Google in the user interface for any Service; or B by actually using the Services. In this case, you understand and agree that Google will treat your use of the Services as acceptance of the Terms from that point onwards. Language of the Terms 3. Provision of the Services by Google 4. Sometimes, these companies will be providing the Services to you on behalf of Google itself. You acknowledge and agree that Subsidiaries and Affiliates will be entitled to provide the Services to you. You acknowledge and agree that the form and nature of the Services which Google provides may change from time to time without prior notice to you. You may stop using the Services at any time. You do not need to specifically inform Google when you stop using the Services. Use of the Services by you 5. Privacy and your personal information 6. This policy explains how Google treats your personal information, and protects your privacy, when you use the Services. Content in the Services 7. You may not modify, rent, lease, loan, sell, distribute or create derivative works based on this Content either in whole or in part unless you have been specifically told that you may do so by Google or by the owners of that Content, in a separate agreement. For some of the Services, Google may provide tools to filter out explicit sexual content. These tools include the SafeSearch preference settings see <https://www.google.com/settings/ads/anonymous>: In addition, there are commercially available services and software to limit access to material that you may find objectionable. These guidelines can be viewed online at <https://www.google.com/policies/ads/>: Unless you have agreed otherwise in writing with Google, you agree that you are responsible for protecting and enforcing those rights and that Google has no obligation to do so on your behalf. License from Google 9. This license is for the sole purpose of enabling you to use and enjoy the benefit of the Services as provided by Google, in the manner permitted by the Terms. Content license from you These updates are designed to improve, enhance and further develop the Services and may take the form of bug fixes, enhanced functions, new software modules and completely new versions. You agree to receive such updates and permit Google to deliver these to you as part of your use of the Services. Ending your relationship with Google Copyright and trade mark policies These advertisements may be targeted to the content of information stored on the Services, queries made through the Services or other information. Google may have no control over any web sites or resources which are provided by companies or persons other than Google. Changes to the Terms When these changes are made, Google will make a new copy of the Universal Terms available at <https://www.google.com/policies/terms/>: General legal terms Your use of these other services, software or goods may be subject to separate terms between you and the company or person concerned. If so, the Terms do not affect your legal relationship with these other companies or individuals. The remaining provisions of the Terms will continue to be valid and enforceable. Other than this, no other person or company shall be third party beneficiaries to the Terms. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts located within the county of Santa Clara, California to resolve any legal matter arising from the Terms. Notwithstanding this, you agree that Google shall still be allowed to apply for injunctive remedies or an equivalent type of urgent legal relief in any jurisdiction. Additional Terms for Extensions for Google Chrome Extensions are small software programs, developed by Google or third parties, that can modify and enhance the functionality of Google Chrome. Extensions may have greater privileges to access your browser or your computer than regular webpages, including the ability to read and modify your private data. You agree that such updates will be automatically requested, downloaded, and installed without further notice to you. You agree that Google may remotely disable or remove any such extension from user systems in its sole discretion. Additional Terms for Enterprise Use Sublicensee may not modify or distribute this Adobe Software for use as anything but a browser plug-in for playing back content on a web page. For example, Sublicensee will not modify this Adobe Software in order to allow interoperation with applications that run outside of the browser e. For clarification purposes, the foregoing restriction does not preclude Sublicensee from distributing, and Sublicensee will distribute the Adobe Software as bundled with the Google Software, without charge. Sublicensee shall not, and shall require its distributors not to, delete or in any manner alter the copyright notices, trademarks, logos or related notices, or other proprietary rights notices of Adobe and its licensors, if any appearing on or within the Adobe Software or accompanying materials. Sublicensee Product that has not passed verification may not be distributed. Profiles and Device Central. Sublicensee will be prompted to enter certain profile information about the Sublicensee Products either as part of the Verification process or some other method, and Sublicensee will provide such information, to Adobe. Sublicensee acknowledges that the laws and regulations of the United States restrict the export and re-export of commodities and technical data of United States origin, which may include the Adobe Software. Sublicensee agrees that it will not export or re-export the Adobe Software, without the appropriate United States and foreign governmental clearances, if any. The Adobe Software may be used for the encoding or decoding of MP3 data contained within a swf or flv file, which contains video, picture or other data. Sublicensee shall acknowledge that use of the Adobe Software for non-PC devices, as described in the prohibitions in this section, may require the payment of licensing royalties or other amounts to third parties who may hold intellectual property rights related to the MP3 technology and that Adobe nor Sublicensee has not paid any royalties or other amounts on account of third party intellectual property rights for such use. If Sublicensee requires an MP3 encoder or decoder for such use, Sublicensee is responsible for obtaining the necessary intellectual property license, including any applicable patent rights. All codecs provided with the Adobe Software may only be used and distributed as an integrated part of the Adobe Software and may not be accessed by any other application, including other Google applications. Sublicensee acknowledges and agrees that Adobe is not providing a patent license for an AAC Codec under this Agreement to Sublicensee or its sublicensees. Attribution and Proprietary Notices. Sublicensee will list the Adobe Software in publicly available Sublicensee Product specifications and include appropriate Adobe Software branding specifically excluding the Adobe corporate logo on the Sublicensee Product packaging or marketing materials in a manner consistent with branding of other third party products contained within the Sublicensee Product. Content Protection Terms a Definitions. Sublicensee and customers may only distribute the Adobe Software that meets the Robustness and Compliance Rules as so confirmed by Sublicensee during the verification process described above in the Adobe Terms. Sublicensee shall not i circumvent the Content Protection Functions of either the Adobe Software or any related Adobe Software that is used to encrypt or decrypt digital content for authorised consumption by users of the Adobe Software or ii develop or distribute products that are designed to circumvent the Content Protection Functions of either the Adobe Software or any Adobe Software that is used to encrypt or decrypt digital content for authorised consumption by users of the Adobe Software. Sublicensee agrees that a breach of this Agreement may compromise the Content Protection Functions of the Adobe Software and may cause unique and lasting harm to the interests of Adobe and owners of digital content that rely on such Content Protection Functions, and that monetary damages may be inadequate to compensate fully for such harm. Therefore, Sublicensee further agrees that Adobe may be entitled to seek injunctive relief to prevent or limit the harm caused by any such breach, in addition to monetary damages. Sublicensee must have an agreement with each of its licensees, and if such licensees are allowed to redistribute the Adobe Software, such agreement will include the Adobe Terms.
