

Chapter 1 : Wise Man Quotes (quotes)

Check out Wise Men Can Be Wrong by Nils Wogram & Root 70 on Amazon Music. Stream ad-free or purchase CD's and MP3s now on blog.quintoapp.com

The world needs you. Begin from the present, with all its treasury of goodâ€™ay, and with all its treasury of evil. And, keeping the pathway unbroken from the past to the future, lead on to life, to larger life Anchor yourself fast in the latter faith, or the former will sweep your heart away. The force that guides the stars guides you too. Neither a borrower nor a lender be; For loan oft loses both itself and friend, And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry. This above all â€™ to thine own self be true, And it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man. B temperate, B steadfast, to anger B slow. B pleasant, B patient, B fervent to all, B best if you can, but B humble withal. B grateful, B cautious of those who B tray. Love all, trust a few, Do wrong to none We should count Time by heart-throbs. He most lives Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best. The universe wobbles when you do. You have the right to quit Toxic People. Your friends do not need it and your enemies will not believe it anyway. You may both be wrong. Kirkpatrick One should always play fair when one has the winning cards. Then you get to experience what you gave your power to. Smith Do not fall before you are pushed. And eventually, that becomes enough. I Love You, compiled by H. Without that he is as a pea vine sprawling in search of a trellis I was all asprawl, clinging to Beauty, which is a very restless trellis. Sometimes it means that you are strong enough to let go. Then deliver more than you promise. Otherwise, you may step on a piece of the Forest that was left out by mistake. Only a few trick-riders can stand still and not tumble. SunWolf, January 18th tweet, professorsunwolf. Great Soldiers," Never force talent; let talent force you. But also he needs the great Milky Way above him and the vast sea spaces, though neither stars nor ocean serve his daily needs. First, look well to your health. Eat regularly and simply, and take proper rest. Go to bed early. Be sure to go to bed with clean teeth. More than all else, in order to look well you must wake up the mind and soul. Think pleasant and noble thoughts. Talk with people who know something. Be often in the company of those who know more than you do. Arouse your spiritual nature; sometimes a plain face is really glorified with the love of God and of man which shines through it. Lastly, keep a strong and vigorous body by taking plenty of wholesome outdoor exercise, and do all the good you can. Why not begin to grow handsome today? Their Language and Folklore, The most valuable lesson man has learned from his dog is to kick a few blades of grass over it and move on. You must do the same. Christopher Herold, Mistress to an Age: The trick is, knowing how to tip ourselves over and let the beautiful stuff out. Because of indifference, one dies before one actually dies. In proportion as he simplifies his life, the laws of the universe will appear less complex, and solitude will not be solitude, nor poverty poverty, nor weakness weakness. The ignorant will laugh at me, but the wise will understand. It is by spending oneself that one becomes rich. Do not depend on others. Mind your own business. I dunno, maybe for the dream, maybe for the chase, maybe to meet another hopeless dreamer. The Fellowship of the Ring, There are two kinds of light â€™ the glow that illuminates, and the glare that obscures. What are you industrious about? Blake, 16 November But work a year and sleep an hour, and sleep a night and sing a day, And take a little wine and love, and when you feel religiousâ€™pray. Chase your wildest dreams. Nothing is solved and it just makes you walk funny. Faber Do not sacrifice a large good for a little evil. Fischer â€™ Mind your own business. But love your neighbor as yourself. The purpose of life is to give it away. All that is needed is a little meditateness, a little silence, a little love, a little more humanity Lots of things work in practice for which the laboratory has never found proof. Fischer â€™ Is bread the better for kneading? Knead it then by spiritual exercises; or God must knead it by afflictions. But if you are content to be something, you may by analogy be many things. Make a home for yourself inside your own head. That way it will go with you wherever you journey. Be [insert] looking for someone.

Chapter 2 : Nils Wogram Root 70 "Wise Men Can Be Wrong" on Vimeo

first track of wise men can be wrong. this song was composed by Nacio Herb Brown. you stepped out of a dream. composed by Nacio Herb Brown.

And it is not only young people who make unwise decisions; many older and even elderly people have committed this grave mistake. The individual that trusts his own understanding will make wrong decisions, because of the fallen nature. We must seek God and trust Him explicitly. We acknowledge God in all our ways through prayer. Instead of trusting in our own understanding, we beseech the Lord for wisdom and guidance in every major decision. He has promised to lead His people, but we must seek His guidance and not presume upon it. To fail to do so is a recipe for making unwise decisions. We acknowledge God in all our ways through consulting the Bible. We must learn how to have an effective daily Bible study. We must be faithful to the preaching and teaching ministry of a strong Bible-believing church. Walk in the light 1 John 1: To walk in sin is to walk in darkness, and it hinders spiritual living and thinking 1 Peter 2: The Bible warns that the backslider will be filled with his own ways rather than with the ways of the Lord Prov. If a believer is disobedient or sassy to his parents, stubborn or critical or bitter toward authority, not loving his wife, not showing honor to her husband, gossiping, lying, stealing, loving the evil things of the world, his prayers are hindered and he will not have wisdom to make good decisions. To make important decisions in a backslidden spiritual state is a recipe for disaster. Many believers who were far from the Lord in their hearts contracted a marriage or a job or pursued a field of education or chosen a Bible College or developed a friendship that they later came to regret deeply. Delight in the Lord Psalm It is found by those who know Christ personally and delight in Him. When I do this, He puts the right desires in my heart and then fulfills those desires. Do not make any decision that would cause you to disobey the Bible John 8: We have touched on this under every point, but by way of emphasis we will deal with it more carefully in its own section. Making wise decisions, very simply, is making decisions according to the Bible. There are no exceptions. This is what it means to live by faith. Living by faith is simply to believe God and obey His Word. It is that simple. The Bible says do not associate with evil or with idolatry 1 Corinthians I recall a teenager at one church who got a job working in a movie theater. The result was severe backsliding. I recall another man who had a job at a restaurant-bar and was responsible to supervise worldly parties that included drinking and dancing. He did not grow very much spiritually or learn how to make wise decisions in his life until he quit that job. The Bible says do not neglect the church Hebrews It is the house of God 1 Timothy 3: Thus, it is wrong to make any decision that would cause you to forsake the assembly, such as moving to a place where there is no good church or taking a job that would keep you out of the services. I recall a young man in our church that was saved out of a druggie lifestyle. He showed promise and was growing in the Lord, and then his father asked him to return to his village. In spite of our counsel against it, he went, and from that point he backslid in his Christian life. We have seen this happen many times. In fact, one of the chief reasons why people quit church is that they disobey God and get a job that keeps them out of the services and they then backslide. Consider the following two warnings: Once they get those jobs, it becomes easy for them to justify staying out of services and they generally do. If God gives them a job that requires wearing immodest clothes then it must be O. If God gives them a job that plays rock-n-roll music on the PA then that is O. They think they are strong enough to take that and keep coming to church unaffected. As the Singles Director, I have stressed the fact that God has His perfect job for us and Satan has his perfect job for us. The Bible says do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers 2 Corinthians 6: I recall a man who was one of the first converts in a new church. The Bible says do not associate with false doctrine Romans I recall two young men who were in our church that showed much promise and seemed to be growing in the Lord, but they started attending a Bible study led by a false teacher and ended up leaving our church. What many Christians do is to make their own plans and then ask God to bless them, but that is backwards. Seek good counsel Proverbs It is mentioned 13 times in Proverbs, the book of practical wisdom. Before making a major decision--such as marriage, education, a job, or a move--a person should seek godly counsel. But it just as important to know where to get the right counsel and how to weigh it. Soon after he ascended the throne, he was confronted by his subjects who beseeched him to treat them compassionately. He then consulted his own peers, and they advised him to treat the people as he wished and to ignore their feelings. He followed this foolish advice and lost the majority of his kingdom. We are not seeking a word from man, but a word from God. Thus, we need to seek counsel from believers who have studied the Bible diligently. Wise counselors are spiritually mature and biblically knowledgeable. Wise counselors are doctrinally sound and likeminded. Many people in fundamentalist homes have made bad decisions by seeking counsel from New Evangelicals or Charismatics or Calvinists or even liberals and Roman Catholics or others who are not likeminded theologically. We think of the sad case of Norma McCorvey, who was the plaintiff in the Roe v. Wade case that legalized abortion in America. Young people must especially keep this in mind. God tells the young person to honor his parents, but if they are not people of good character they are not wise counselors. Wise counselors are found in good Bible-believing churches. The first place to find such counsel is my own church, assuming I am in a good Bible-believing church. The church is the pillar and ground of the truth 1 Tim. God has given pastors and teachers for the purpose of training and protecting His people Eph. Wise counselors have wisdom pertaining to your particular situation. Likewise, if you need counsel pertaining to preaching, go to a preacher, or if you need counsel about married life, go to someone who is successfully married, or if you need counsel about a missionary calling, go to an experienced missionary. Charles Spurgeon told how that he was discouraged from preaching by a godly woman. The fact is that a woman does not understand such things, no matter how godly she is. Spurgeon, Lectures to My Students. This is repeated twice in the Proverbs by way of emphasis. One way that God confirms His will is by the agreement of godly counselors. If a young person is seeking wisdom about marriage, for example, and he or she approaches his parents and his pastor and teachers and other mature spiritual authority figures, there should be agreement. What Charles Spurgeon said of a Bible College is even truer of a godly church: To obtain counsel from a variety of people protects the believer from becoming a slave to the will of one person. This is the mistake that was made in the s by the Pentecostal Shepherding Movement. Pastors and teachers and disciplers are important helpers, but the believer is to have only one Master, which is Christ. If I depended on my own puny thinking and experience, my teaching would be very shallow! For example, when I wrote on the emerging church, I read about 60 books on the subject. In the multitude of counselors I find safety from misinterpretation and from mistakes of fact. Oftentimes, I go beyond this and seek counsel from my readers themselves. For example, for the books Dressing for the Lord and Keeping the Kids I obtained feedback from hundreds of people that enabled me to expand the scope and practicality of the books far beyond what I could have written on my own. I follow this principle in Bible study. When I am interpreting a passage, I first determine the meaning and application on my own by means of the basic rules of interpretation e. Invariably I find help in this way and my understanding of the passage is expanded, though it goes without saying that the commentators must be weighed by Scripture and not blindly followed. Seek counsel from near people Prov. Many times people seek counsel from those who are far off rather than those who are near, and though this is not always wrong, it is often done for the wrong reason. A lot of strangers have written to me through the years to ask my opinion about situations in their family or church, and I have always thought this to be strange, since I know nothing about them and have no way of knowing the full picture. For a young person, the first line of counsel should be his or her own parents, particularly if they are believers Eph. God gives leaders to the churches to watch over His people and to help them, like a shepherd with sheep. They think about the church members and pray for them and desire the best for each of them, and God gives them particular wisdom. In our church we urge the young people who are thinking about marriage to talk with their parents and then to discuss the matter with their church leaders. If a boy is interested in a certain girl, we urge him not to pursue the matter until he has talked it over with the leaders. Invariably, those who have ignored this procedure have made a mess of things!

Chapter 3 : Wise Men Can Be Wrong | Nils Wogram â€” Download and listen to the album

Includes unlimited streaming of Wise Men Can Be Wrong via the free Bandcamp app, plus high-quality download in MP3, FLAC and more.

However, Nils Wogram and its long-term group Root 70 are, however, one hundred percent on track, once again. Jazz â€” and who wanted to doubt this â€” has been the most stable form of music in the last years, and yet its personnel are constantly fluctuating. Few bands stay together longer than it takes them to make one record and go on one tour together. Firmly established groups, working for decades with the same band members, are more the exception than the rule. After 15 years of active duty, the band does not need to be introduced anymore: Sooner or later, a special question is inevitable in such a constellation: In their search for answers, Root 70 has arrived at standards. Cram these classics in the sophistication boiler and then in the arrangement centrifuge? The humor and the dance of the pieces are unique. The difference to conventional standards albums is the attitude with which they serve these classics. And the circle to The Big Lebowski now closes. The most complex situations are explained here laughably easy. But more than that, Wogram sets a counterpoint by asking what these standards today still constitute â€” beyond all of the personal interpretations. The special feature is that they simply exist. Root 70 has often resorted to standards when they do sound checks or jam sessions. And this is what Wogram finally wanted to document. For me it was rather about recording simple songs simply. Indeed, others have long since exhausted the level of abstraction in these pieces, so by omitting all the frills, Root 70 succeeds in finding itself. For who still really knows the originals? The versions of Miles, Monk, Bird and Trane have become fixed in our ears, but even these were already transformations. They play the songs as they get them under the fingers. In your own compositions, you can always find a lot yourself, per se. For standards, however, it is much harder to find something of yourself, because you have these incredible role models. As you get older, you can deal with your own sound more confidently. You have nothing to reinvent and can create something original anyway. They do not abuse the songs in order to make fun of them. There were no discussions on how the pieces should be played. What they do, they do it right. Their music does not require an instruction leaflet. It was important to me that the pieces fit well together. Every concession to contemporary pop would have simply been wrong. And if they do not? Even wise men can be wrong.

Chapter 4 : Wise Man Quotes - BrainyQuote

Destination Rachmaninov: Departure Daniil Trifonov, The Philadelphia Orchestra & Yannick Nézet-Séguin Genre: Classical.

However, Nils Wogram and its long-term group Root 70 are, however, one hundred percent on track, once again. Jazz “ and who wanted to doubt this “ has been the most stable form of music in the last years, and yet its personnel are constantly fluctuating. Few bands stay together longer than it takes them to make one record and go on one tour together. Firmly established groups, working for decades with the same band members, are more the exception than the rule. After 15 years of active duty, the band does not need to be introduced anymore: Sooner or later, a special question is inevitable in such a constellation: In their search for answers, Root 70 has arrived at standards. Cram these classics in the sophistication boiler and then in the arrangement centrifuge? The humor and the dance of the pieces are unique. The difference to conventional standards albums is the attitude with which they serve these classics. And the circle to The Big Lebowski now closes. The most complex situations are explained here laughably easy. But more than that, Wogram sets a counterpoint by asking what these standards today still constitute “ beyond all of the personal interpretations. The special feature is that they simply exist. Root 70 has often resorted to standards when they do sound checks or jam sessions. And this is what Wogram finally wanted to document. For me it was rather about recording simple songs simply. Indeed, others have long since exhausted the level of abstraction in these pieces, so by omitting all the frills, Root 70 succeeds in finding itself. For who still really knows the originals? The versions of Miles, Monk, Bird and Trane have become fixed in our ears, but even these were already transformations. They play the songs as they get them under the fingers. In your own compositions, you can always find a lot yourself, per se. For standards, however, it is much harder to find something of yourself, because you have these incredible role models. As you get older, you can deal with your own sound more confidently. You have nothing to reinvent and can create something original anyway. They do not abuse the songs in order to make fun of them. There were no discussions on how the pieces should be played. What they do, they do it right. Their music does not require an instruction leaflet. It was important to me that the pieces fit well together. Every concession to contemporary pop would have simply been wrong. And if they do not? Even wise men can be wrong. Wolf Kampmann Nils Wogram, trombone.

Chapter 5 : Disagree Quotes - BrainyQuote

Listen to your favorite songs from Wise Men Can Be Wrong by Nils Wogram & Root 70 Now. Stream ad-free with Amazon Music Unlimited on mobile, desktop, and tablet. Download our mobile app now.

January 5, Introduction If you ever go for an interview, prepare well for puzzles and guess estimate questions. You need nothing else, no qualification, no reputed degree to solve them. Such questions are meant to test your common sense and logical aptitude. In this article, I have chosen 3 most challenging puzzles which most people get wrong in interviews. None of these puzzles have been crafted by me. But, the solutions provided are my own solutions. These puzzle might possibly have more than one solution. Do share your solutions in the comments section below. Here is marking sheet for these puzzles: Maximum score on each puzzle: In case you know a puzzle: With this score map your self from the following table: Score 1 - Beginner - You need Practice Score 11 - Moderate - You already have the skill set, you can improve through more practice Score 21 - Highly skilled - You are born to be a data scientist Score 27 - Exceptionally skilled - You need to start teaching other data scientists Score 29 - Wow - You are a champion. You need to publish all your approaches in the commend box below. Be true to yourself in scoring. Here we go with the puzzles: Ten people land on a deserted island. There they find lots of coconuts and a monkey. During their first day they gather coconuts and put them all in a community pile. After working all day they decide to sleep and divide them into ten equal piles the next morning. That night one castaway wakes up hungry and decides to take his share early. After dividing up the coconuts he finds he is one coconut short of ten equal piles. He also notices the monkey holding one more coconut. However when he tries to take it the monkey conks him on the head with it and kills him. Later another castaway wakes up hungry and decides to take his share early. The monkey conks the second man on the head and kills him. One by one each of the remaining castaways goes through the same process, until the 10th person to wake up gets the entire pile for himself. What is the smallest number of possible coconuts in the pile, not counting the monkeys? LCM would give the least number which is divisible by all of these number and subtracting one would give us the number of coconuts which were initially there. Once lined up, they must not communicate amongs themselves. Nor may they attempt to look behind them or remove their own hat. The king tells the wise men that they will be able to see all the hats in front of them. They will not be able to see the color of their own hat or the hats behind them, although they will be able to hear the answers from all those behind them. If the answer is incorrect then the wise man will be silently killed. If the answer is correct then the wise man may live but must remain absolutely silent. The king will then move on to the next wise man and repeat the question. The king makes it clear that if anyone breaks the rules then all the wise men will die, then allows the wise men to consult before lining them up. To communicate anything more than their guess of red or blue by coughing or shuffling would be breaking the rules. What is the maximum number of men they can be guaranteed to save? Each subsequent wise man keeps track of the number of red hats known to have been saved from behind B , and counts the number of red hats in front C. Otherwise the wise man would answer red. Otherwise the wise man would answer blue. All the prince are gathered into a room and seated, facing one another, and are shown 2 black hats and 3 white hats. They are blindfolded, and 1 hat is placed on each of their heads, with the remaining hats hidden in a different room. The king tells them that the first prince to deduce the color of his hat without removing it or looking at it will marry his daughter. A wrong guess will mean death. The blindfolds are then removed. You are one of the prince. After some time you realize that the other prince are unable to deduce the color of their hat, or are unwilling to guess. What color is your hat? You know that your competitors are very intelligent and want nothing more than to marry the princess. You also know that the king is a man of his word, and he has said that the test is a fair test of intelligence and bravery. The king would not select two white hats and one black hat. This would mean two prince would see one black hat and one white hat. You would be at a disadvantage if you were the only prince wearing a black hat. If you were wearing the black hat, it would not take long for one of the other princes to deduce he was wearing a white hat. If an intelligent prince saw a white hat and a black hat, he would eventually realize that the king would never select two black hats and one white hat. Any prince seeing two black hats would instantly know he was wearing a white hat. Therefore if a prince can see one black hat, he can work out he is wearing white. Therefore the only fair test is for all three prince to be wearing white hats. After waiting some time just to be sure, you can safely assert you are wearing a white hat. In case you did, we will love to hear your solutions. Write your score and your solutions in the comment section below. Make sure you bring out, what challenge did you face and how did you think around the challenge. Did you find this article useful? Share your views and opinions in the comments section below.

Chapter 6 : Even wise men can be wrong.

"Strong men also cry." And just as strong men can cry, so can wise men err. However, Nils Wogram and its long-term group Root 70 are, however, one hundred percent on track, once again.

Chapter 7 : Wise Men Can Be Wrong by Nils Wogram on Spotify

89 11 Wise Men Can Be Wrong Fallacy Number Seven A FAMOUS New Yorker cartoon shows a well-upholstered lady at breakfast in her Park Avenue apartment, opening the morning paper.

Chapter 8 : How to Make Wise Decisions in God's Will

Wise Men Can Be Wrong | Nils Wogram to stream in hi-fi, or to download in True CD Quality on blog.quintoapp.com

Chapter 9 : 3 Tricky Puzzles which most people get Wrong in Job Interviews

We - and our partners - use cookies to deliver our services and to show you ads based on your interests. By using our website, you agree to the use of cookies as described in our Cookie Policy.